PROVISION FOR THE ELITE.

THE CHOICE—THE SELECTED—THE BEST.

"Why was preference given in seating accommodation to "the elite" at the swearing-in ceremony of the new Governor-General? was what the hon. member for Kahibah—the bluff and honest Alfred—wanted to know from the Premier in "the House" on Wednesday.

Alfred—who, by the way, knows a few things about Parliamentary usage and customs—managed to ring in a speech—quite against the rules (the hon. member must not make a speech in asking a question)—and to express his opinion of "the elite," but that is by the way.

Now, our dictionary says "the elite" are "Those who are selected;" choice, "the best, the flower;" and so naturally, when reading Alfred's question, our thoughts turned to

RENAULT MOTOR CARS.

ACKNOWLEDGED THE WORLD OVER AS THE BEST CARS MADE.

Do you know that RENAULT FRERES are the only firm in the world who do not advertise their cars in any journal or papers, and yet they are able to sell the whole of their output 12 to 18 months before they commence making it?

Do you know that during the past four years the Renault output of cars has been increasing 50 per cent. each year, and yet they do not spend one penny on advertising their cars?

A RENAULT CAR will last five years longer than any other make of car now being sold. RENAULT FRERES claim that they are at least three years ahead of all other manufacturers in the world.

While other firms in Europe are hunting after orders for cars RENAULT FRERES are being pressed to accept orders for thousands. Call on us or write, and we will post you a catalogue of these Famous Cars.

SIZAIRE-NAUDIN CARS.

We now have in stock several of these very fine little cars. They are quiet running, easy riding, and powerful on the hills. They can be driven over rough ground as fast as many cars can be driven over even roads.

These Cars are just the thing for Medical Men who require to travel long distances over bad roads, in quick time.

CALL IN AND SEE THEM, AND HAVE A TRIAL RUN.

BELSIZE CARS.

AN ALL-BRITISH CAR OF EXCELLENT DESIGN.

Was awarded the highest marks in its class in the Scottish Reliability Trials, and secured non-stop certificates for the years 1905-6-7.

In the Manchester Hill-climbing and Petrol Consumption Tests a 20-h.p. BELSIZE won the Silver Cup for the best performance, irrespective of class. It also gained a Silver Medal for being the only car out of twenty-four competitors that obtained maximum marks for petrol consumption.

CALL IN AND SEE THE BELSIZE. THE GOLD MEDAL CAR.

14-h.p. 4-cylinder Cars, £380 to £425; 20-h.p., 4-cylinder Cars, £500 to £575.

REO MOTOR CARS.

WORLD'S NON-STOP RECORD.

A 16-h.p. 2-cylinder Reo Car at Los Angeles, California, on 16th April, completed a world's non-stop motor record of 4996 miles.

The engine ran for 294 hours, averaging over 17 miles per hour, and nearly 18 miles per gallon of motor spirit, 18 miles on American gallon—nearly 22 on English gallon.

The car was run under official observation, the engine being examined at the commencement of the trial. On the completion of the trial the engine was examined, and found to be in better running order than at the start.

WONDERFULLY RELIABLE, SIMPLE, AND EFFICIENT CARS.

We have 40 REO CARS running about in New South Wales, doing everyday service. Write to us, and we will forward you the names of owners of these cars in your district, to whom you can refer.

THE GENERAL MOTOR CO.,

ACROSS AUSTRALIA ON A TALBOT.

This Pioneer run across the Australian Continent on a BRITISH-BUILT TALBOT CAR is an achievement to be proud of. Messrs. H. H. Dutton and H. M. Aunger left Adelaide on the 30th June, and arrived at Port Darwin on the 20th August; total distance, 2064 miles. The trip was a daring proposition from the first. Many acquainted with the difficulties of the overland route prophesied failure, but there is no doubt that they under-rated the capabilities of the British-built TALBOT Car, which carried them through the long journey. The trip will undoubtedly rank as the most important event in Automobilism in Australia, and interest will centre in it throughout the world, especially as most other Continents have been crossed by motor. The achievement is remarkable when it is considered that at least 1800 miles of the journey was through roadless country, beset with many obstacles, such as sand-drifts, wash-outs, thick entanglements of scrub, and rough, rocky surfaces, which made the task all the more difficult.

THE MINERVA RECORD.

5625 OUT OF 7653 VOTES.

A few weeks ago "L'Auto," the great French sporting paper, organised a prize competition as to what was the finest achievement in Automobile history, which resulted in Minervas receiving the above votes for their splendid performances in the Circuit des Ardennes and Coupe de Liedekerke Races of 1907.

In the former event MINERVA CARS secured

1st, 2nd, 3rd, AND 6th PLACES

over a distance of 375 miles, in 374 minutes, the first three finishing within 79 seconds of each other.

In the latter event they finished FIRST and SECOND, within 37 seconds of each other.

Their running as a team was more regular and more consistent than has ever been made by any other team of cars.

BY APPOINTMENT TO H.I.M. THE GERMAN EMPEROR.

If you are contemplating the purchase of a Motor Car do not fail to either call and inspect, or write for illustrated Catalogues of the World-famous Daimler Cars. 1908 Models, lately arrived, have Cardan Shaft and Live Axle, and are considerably lighter in weight than previous types. Although Daimler Cars are used by Royalty, and have taken the lead in England in Hill-climbing and Reliability Contests for several seasons, they are relatively the cheapest per horse-power of any high-class car. 30 TO 58 H.P. MODELS OBTAINABLE.

ALLDAYS MOTOR CARS.

The Agents have a full stock of 1908 Models of 10-h.p. 2-cylinder, and 14-h.p. 4-cylinder Alldays Cars. These cars are notable for their reliability and hill-climbing powers and cheapness of upkeep. Being extremely efficient in rough and hilly country, they are eminently suited for rough country work. Write or call for particulars.

F.N. MOTOR CARS.

These Cars are most remarkable for their wonderful silence and sweetness of running; in fact, they easily surpass anything the agents have ever seen in this respect. A trial run will convince you.

AUSTIN AND ENFIELD MOTOR CARS.

The Agents will shortly be landing some 18-24 Austin and 18-22 h.p. Enfield Cars—the former a very high-grade car, the latter cheap, but reliable.

is a combination of all these cars, with their best points used and their worst details left out. You only have to see them to be convinced that they are undoubtedly the most up-to-date car yet seen in Australia. The PRICE IS MOST REASONABLE, being little more than half asked by firms for their cars, which a glance will show you are not nearly so strong, so well finished, or so good. We have sold our two first shipments immediately they were out of the boats, and purchasers of cars would do well to inspect the cars that are sold, and give an order, as the demand for these cars surpasses any sales yet recorded.

CHAPTER XX.—Continued.

He looked up at a touch from Morty, and to his astonishment he saw Flavia standing at the end of the table. There was a hasty scrambling to the feet, for the men had not drunk deep, and by all in the house, except her brother, the girl was treated with respect—the truth being that, after a fashion, they were one and all in love with her.

"I was thinking," Asgill said, foreseeing trouble, "that you were in bed and asleep." Her hair was negligently tied back, and her dress half-fastened at the throat.

"I can't sleep," she answered, and then she stood a moment drumming with her slender fingers on the table. And the men noticed that she was unusually pale. "I can't sleep," she repeated, a tremor in her voice. "I keep thinking of him. I want someone—to go to him."

"Now?"

"Now."

"But," Asgill said slowly, "I'm thinking that to do that were to give him hopes. It were to spoil all. Once in 24 hours—such was agreed, and he was told. And it is not four hours since you were there. If there is one thing needful—not the least doubt of it—it is to leave him thinking that we're meaning it."

He spoke gently and reasonably. But the girl laboured, it was plain, under a weight of agitation that did not suffer her to reason, much less to answer him reasonably. She was as one who wakes in the dark night, with the terror of an evil dream upon him, and cannot for a time shake it off. "But if he dies?" she cried in a woeful tone. "Of hunger? Oh, my God, of hunger! What have we done then? I tell you," she continued, struggling with overwhelming emotion, "I cannot bear it! I cannot bear it!" She looked from one to the other as appealing to each in turn to share her horror, and to act. "It is infamous, it is wicked!" she continued in a shriller tone and with a note of defiance in her voice; "and who will answer for it? Who will answer for it if he dies? I! I, not you. I, who tricked him, who lied to him, who lured him there."

For a moment there was a stricken silence in the room. Then, "And what had he done to you?" Asgill answered with spirit—for he now saw that if he did not meet her on her own plane she was capable of any act, however ruinous. "Or, if not to you, to Ireland? To your King, to your country, to your hopes?" He flung into his voice all the indignation of which he was master. "A trick, you say? Was it not by a trick he ruined all? The fairest prospect, the brightest day that ever dawned for Ireland. The day of freedom, of liberty, of—"

She twisted her fingers feverishly together. "Yes," she said, "yes!" Yes, but I can't bear it. I can't! I can't! It is no use talking," she continued with a violent shudder. "You are here!—look!" She pointed to the table strewn with the remains of the meal, with flasks and glasses and tall silver-edged horns. "But he is—starving. Starving," she repeated, as if the physical pain touched herself.

"You shall go to him to-morrow. Go, yourself," he answered in a soothing tone.

"I!" she cried hysterically. "Never!"

"Oh, but——" Asgill began, perplexed but not surprised by her attitude. "But here's your brother," he continued, relieved. "He will tell you—he'll tell you, I'm sure, that nothing can be so harmful as to change now. Your sister," he went on, addressing The McMurrough, who had just descended the stairs, "she's wishing someone will go to the Colonel, and see if he's down a peg. But I'm telling her——"

"It's folly entirely, you should be telling her," James McMurrough replied, curtly and roughly. Intercourse with Payton had not left him in the best of tempers. "To-morrow at sunset, and not an hour earlier, he'll be visited. And then it'll be you, Flavvy, that'll speak to him. What more is it you're wanting?"

"I speak to him!" she cried in distress. "I couldn't."

"But it'll be you'll have to!" he replied roughly. "Wasn't it so arranged?"

"I couldn't," she replied in the same tone of trouble. "Someone else."

"But it's not someone else will do," James retorted.

"But why should I be the one—to go?" she wailed. She had Colonel John's face before her, haggard, sunken, famished, as, peering into the gloomy firelit room, she had seen it that afternoon, ay, and as she had seen it later against the darkness of her bedroom. Seen there, seen in the wakeful solitude of unrest, it had imbued her with a terror of what might happen, with a horror of the whole dreadful sordid business, with a horror of herself; in the end with so great a horror that it had drawn her from her bed and driven her downstairs to do what she could for him.

"Why should I," she repeated, "be the one to go?"

"For a very good reason," her brother retorted with a sneer. And he looked at Asgill and laughed.

That look, which she saw, and the laugh that went with it, startled her as a flash of light startles a traveller groping through darkness. "Why?" she repeated in a different tone. "Why?"

Neither her tone nor Asgill's warning glance put James McMurrough on his guard, for he was in one of his brutal humours. "Why?" he replied. "Because he's a silly fool, as I'm thinking some others are, and has a fancy for you, Flavvy—faith, you're not blind!"—he continued, forgetting that he had only learned it from Asgill a few days before, and that it was news to the younger men—"and know it, I'll be sworn, as well as I do! And, any way, I've a notion that if you let him see that there is no one in the house wishes him worse than you, or would see him starve, the d—d fool, with a lighter heart—I'm thinking it will be for bringing him down, if anything will!"

She did not answer. And outwardly she was not much moved. But inwardly, inwardly, the horror of herself and her part in the matter which she had felt as she lay upstairs in the darkness, thinking of the starving man, whelmed up and choked her. They were using her for this! They were using her because the man—loved her! Because hard words, cruel treatment, brutality from her would be ten times more hard, more cruel, more brutal than from others! Because such treatment at her hands would be more likely to break his spirit and crush his heart! To what viler use, to what lower end could a woman be used, or human feeling be prostituted?

Nor was this all. On the tide of this loathing of herself rose another, a newer and a stranger feeling. The man loved her. She did not doubt the statement. Its truth went home to her, though, occupied as she had been with other views of him, she had never suspected the fact. And because it placed him in a different light, because it placed him in a light in which she had never viewed him before, because it recalled a hundred things, acts, words on his part which she had barely noted at the time, but which now took on another aspect, it showed him too as one whom she had never seen. Had he been free at this moment, prosperous, triumphant, the knowledge that he lover her, that he, her enemy, loved her, might only have revolted her—she might have hated him the more for it. But now that he lay a prisoner, famished, starving, the fact that he loved her pierced her heart, transfixed her with the most poignant anguish, choked her with a rising flood of pity and self-reproach.

"So there you have it, Flavvy!" James cried complacently. "And sure, you'll not be making a fool of yourself at this time of day!"

She stood as one stunned; looking at him with strange eyes, thinking, not answering. Asgill, and Asgill only, saw a burning blush dye for an instant the whiteness of her face. He, and he only, discovered, with the subtle insight of one who loved, a part of what she was thinking. He wished James McMurrough in the depth of hell. But it was too late, or he feared so.

Great was his relief, therefore, when she spoke. "Then you'll not—be going now?" she said.

"Now?" James retorted. "Haven't I told you you'll go to-morrow?"

"If I must," she said slowly, "I will—if I must."

"Then what's the good of talking, I'm thinking?" The McMurrough answered. And he was going on—being in a bullying mood—to say more in the same strain. But the opportunity was taken from him. One of the O'Beirnes, who happened to avert his eyes from the girl, saw Payton standing at the foot of the stairs. His exclamation apprised the others that something was amiss, and they turned.

"I left my snuffbox on the table," Payton said, with a sly grin. How much he had heard, they could not tell. "Ha! there it is! Thank you. Sorry! Sorry, I am sure! Hope I don't trespass. Will you present me to your sister, Mr. McMurrough?"

James McMurrough had to do so—looking foolish; while Luke Asgill stood by with rage in his heart—cursing the evil chance which had brought Flavia downstairs.

"I assure you," Payton said, bowing low before her, but not so low that the insolence of his smile was hidden from all, "I think myself happy. My friend Asgill's picture of you, warmly as he painted it, fell below the reality!"

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE CHILE OF TO-DAY.

Some consular reports that reach us give a very interesting account of the present position of Chile. One of these was composed specially for the benefit of Mr. Elihu Root on the occasion of his visit two years ago. The other is apparently the first issue of an annual publication, and is specially designed to promote reciprocal trade between Chile and foreign countries. Both compilations are excellently put together, and the numerous illustrations are themselves an index to the resources of the republic. The population of Chile is about three and a half millions, and it is pretty evenly distributed between the country and the towns. The long stretch of coast line gives great variety of climate. Near the northern limit are the celebrated nitrate fields. The Andes dominate the landscape, and feed the torrential rivers that cut themselves enormously sunken channels. Although Chile does not look great on the map, as a matter of fact its total area is greater than that of Germany, with Holland, Denmark, and Belgium thrown in. The coast discovered in 1520 was slowly conquered by the Spaniards later in the century—one of their best generals bore the significant name of O'Higgins. Only a few descendants of the three native races displaced remain. The present population is for the most part of Spanish descent; foreign immigration is slight, but natural increase seems to be fairly good. The mortality is excessive, due to the great loss of children among the poorer classes, whose ideas of scientific hygiene are of the slenderest description. As usual, there is a slight excess of female adults. Education is backward, only 28 per cent. of the population being returned as able to both read and write. It is plain that Chile wants a strain of foreign immigration, and there is plenty of room, for it is estimated that 20,000,000 acres are available for agriculture. The urban population is a little less than half the total, and it is divided up among 73 cities and 525 towns and villages. The average number of persons to each town house is six. These towns show many fine substantial buildings, but have nothing very distinctive about their architecture. Santiago, founded in 1541, has about the population of Sydney. There are up-to-date electric tramways. Sixty ports dot the coastline, and there is a fair amount of railway communication. Cereals, particularly wheat and barley, do well, and the vineyards compare with the best in France. Of late mineral industries have made great strides. Coal, water-power, iron, and copper abound. The compilers desire to impress upon the outside world the fact that Chile is not a country of revolutions—in 77 years there have been only two. Its Presidents have been honest men, and interest on foreign loans is promptly paid. An interesting sketch is given of Don Diego Portales, the maker of modern Chile. The government is popular and stable, and law, based on the French code, is simple. The press is absolutely free, and journalism reaches a high level—indeed, Chile is beginning to have a literature. All Chilians are fond of music, and pianos are as frequent as with us. Good Italian opera can be heard at Santiago. Although education has hardly yet reached the masses, this cannot now be counted a reproach to the republic. Primary and secondary State schools are free, and so also is the University of Chile. Recently large new nitrate fields have been discovered, and a total of 1,600,000,000 tons of nitrate are said to be in sight—an earnest of colossal development. These publications are a model of good advertisement, and they show the country in a very progressive mood. The present population works out to one to 47 acres, and the Government is doing all it can to promote immigration. The development of the nitrate beds has taken 50,000 labourers from agriculture, which thus suffers a good deal from lack of labour. To meet this difficulty and promote quietude in general, very liberal offers are made the colonists. Assisted passages are obtainable, free grants of land (about 50,000,000 acres of "Crown land" are available), and free passes over the Chilian railways.

BIG GAME AT SEA.

Mr. Charles Frederick Holder's "Big Game at Sea" is a most fascinating volume. Among the "big" things of the United States fish are decidedly included. Fifty years ago graining the big ray, or devil-fish, was the sport of sports along the Carolinas, and the big ray is now taken nearly every season on the gulf coast of Florida, though only a dozen men, it seems, can of late years claim to have accomplished the feat. Just as remarkable in its way is the development of rod-fishing. The Tuna Club lands tunas of over a hundred pounds weight with a sixteen-ounce rod. A new link between America and Japan is the yellow-fin tuna, which first appeared in American waters in 1905, and has since afforded marvellous sport. The author's experience of fishing is one to envy, and he adds to that a brilliant literary style. He opens with a graphic account of "trailing the sea-bat" on the Florida reef. Fishing in Florida he describes as sitting in a Turkish bath holding a string. But the nights are wonderful, and it is then you go in search of the sea-bat, that leaps with its ton of weight eight feet in the air and falls with a splash like an explosion. It is truthfully recorded that one towed a schooner up the channel. You catch it with a two-pronged harpoon, but if it springs on your boat it crushes you like paper. One the author caught was thirteen feet from tip to tip, ten feet from its mouth to its tail, which measured another seven feet. These giant rays have mouths in which a man can lie comfortably. In at least five instances they are known to have run away with vessels at anchor. The ray had got entangled in the chain, and rushed off, anchor, ship, and all. They are further said to haul up the piles of wharfs into which they collide. It is believed that specimens thirty feet across have been seen, and eighteen or twenty feet is a fair average. Diving for turtles is another Florida reef amusement, but the odds are on the side of the turtle. The catching of octopuses gives exciting sport. You can get them 70 feet long, and their snake-like arms, black staring saucer eyes, and horrible mouth are things to dream about. Notre Dame Bay, Newfoundland, is famous for its giant squids. A 15 foot octopus is enough to begin with. After recounting exploits under these heads the author gives an imaginative "Life of a Man-eater," which is a remarkable essay in shark biography. The development of sea angling, promoted by the Tuna Club, is recorded at length, and makes remarkable reading. Even sharks are caught with rod and reel—up to twelve or fifteen feet long. Shooting flying fish gives good sport of a novel kind. In Southern California mammoth bass are to be had, over three hundred pound weight being not unusual. Altogether Mr. Holden presents quite the most remarkable collection of fish stories one has seen for a long while. (From Dymock.)

A MEMORY OF QUEEN VICTORIA.

Sir Theodore Martin writes some delightful little personal reminiscences of "Queen Victoria as I knew Her." He knew much that was not generally accessible, for he was chosen by her Majesty to write the biography of the Prince Consort. The same confidential relations continued after that book was completed. In this little volume it is of the woman he speaks rather than of the queen. No one, he says, could be much in communication with Victoria without being struck by her power of saying concisely what she had to say in the plainest and clearest language. The swiftness of her thought was apparent in her beautiful, firm, rapid writing. Its clearness was equally shown in her happy choice of the simplest words. In the course of editing the "Leaves from a Journal," Mr. Helps had many struggles with her Majesty about what he thought her too homely style, which she defended because she could not bear it be thought that what she wrote was written for style and effect. She was characteristically intolerant of affectation and verbosity—a fact that influenced her judgment of both men and books. Strong common-sense, indeed, was her dominant note. The friendship with Sir Theodore Martin was life-long, and he writes about it, in old age, very simply, and with a certain pathos. His devotion was quite personal and sincere, and worthy of the great Queen to whom it was a fitting tribute. (From Dymock.)

SOME AUSTRALIAN LITERATURE.

Edward Dyson's "The Missing Link" (New South Wales Bookstall Co.) is a collection of short stories, most of which have appeared in periodicals; the stories being threaded together on the amusing personality of one "Nickie the Kid," otherwise Mr. Nicholas Crips. The familiars of Mr. Crips were a limited circle, and all "beats," that is to say, gentlemen sitting on the rail dividing honest toil from open crime. Episode the first tells how Nickie successfully sold ginger nuts dissolved in water as a universal "healing mixture." A little later he goes to a masked ball (in his proper costume of sturdy beggar) and takes up a ripping collection. Subsequently he becomes part and parcel of a museum of marvels, and masquerades as the missing link. The motive is abandoned before it gets too tiring.

"Birds of Passage," by Francis Hopkins (Deaton and Spencer), is dedicated to "The Hon. Austin Chapman, a true Australian democrat," and the author has two more volumes in preparation. Station, farm, and mine contribute material to a readable collection of stories.

"A Record Mystery," by Rue Sage, is announced as "a detective story, founded on absolute fact,"—not always a recommendation to fiction. The time is the early sixties, and the scene is placed in the western district of Victoria. The preface tells us that "the narrative is replete with startling dramatic situations, both pathetic and humorous, whilst realistic contingencies follow in rapid succession." Moreover "the unique-like characters are made to betray themselves through the medium of colloquial dialogue, and "the story, while professing a double plot, is prolific in numerous minor ones." Mr. D. H. Souter and other artists furnish illustrations.

MASTERPIECES IN COLOUR.

Two new volumes of this excellent series reach us through George Robertson. The last issues deal with Millais and Carlo Dolci. All the eight reproductions from Millais are "household friends" of everybody, among the subjects being the celebrated "Boyhood of Raleigh," "Ophelia," and "The North-west Passage." Born in 1829, and destined by nature for art, Millais had an almost unchequered career. The letter-press tells once more, but in brief, the story of the "Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood." He lived through that moment of criticism to become President of the Academy, and to achieve the sort of popularity that a genial English gentleman, a lover of sport and children, might expect. Carlo Dolci is not among the greatest masters, and his work clogs with excess of sweetness. He was born about 1616, and his father was a Florentine tailor. He was a model boy, too good for the wicked world he lived in. He developed instincts for art at the age of nine, and at eleven he had done such good work that he was presented to the duke. He began to associate closely with the Benedictines. Painting almost exclusively religious subjects, he had much vogue and a prosperous life until he passed away in 1686. He had brought his gifts to a city from which the inspiration of two centuries had departed, and his conscientiousness was the only check on his output. The reproductions in these two volumes maintain the very high standard already set, although not intrinsically of so much interest as some of the others. (Jack.)

BUDDHISM IN JAPAN.

Mr. A. Lloyd is the victim of a great misfortune. He is a lecturer in the Imperial University, Tokyo, and as a result of many years' work had produced an elaborate study of "Buddhism in Japan." A fire in a printing office in Yokohama destroyed it all. But he wanted to have something ready on the occasion of the Pan-Anglican Congress, and he hurriedly put together the present volume (Macmillan). The first chapter is a sort of synopsis of the lost book. The principal thesis is that, while in India Buddhists were satisfied with purely Indian ways of thought, in Japan they fused Greek and Hebrew ideas with their own. While he does not advocate a fusion of modern Buddhism and Christianity, he thinks that much may be accomplished if the missionary will state the last as far as possible in terms of the first. In a later chapter he gives a succinct account of the evangelisation of China and Japan by Buddhists in the middle of the second century A.D. and onwards. The connection between Buddhism and Christianity is much deeper than the author imagines.

RECENT FICTION.

Edgar Wallace's "Angel Esquire" (Bell) is a capital story, fresh in detail and exceedingly crisply told. An old gentleman who had made an enormous fortune out of a gambling house in Egypt, and who had also a passion for puzzles, left his wealth to be competed for among his associates and the charming daughter of his principal victim. This brings together a medley of characters from out-and-out burglars of the most approved description to "Angel Esquire," a gentleman detective, and his friend Jimmy—a delightful baronet who has sown too many wild oats. The wealth is all in a huge safe at the top of a granite column in a specially constructed safe deposit, and the lucky winner has to guess the key-word and circumvent the burglars and a solicitor, for whom the temptation proves too much. The incidents are very cleverly manipulated, and Mr. Wallace strongly interests us in his characters, who are deftly sketched in.

Fergus Hume's "Mystery of a Motor Cab" (Bell) is reminiscent of that other mystery associated with this cheap and effective mode of transit in days when it depended exclusively on the horse. Arthur Gerson is the victim of an extraordinary will, which puts himself and his sister at the mercy of an unscrupulously respectable lawyer, Mendle. This person is obliged by circumstances to strangle Mr. Arthur in the cab in Cheapside. Why he does so the patient reader will discover. Paddy O'Toole, the little street Arab, who witnesses the deed of crime, having fortunately been engaged in the innocent occupation of free rides, is the subject of complex manoeuvres, but ultimately he yields the clue to the real murderer, who very poetically arranges a well-timed suicide with the motor cab in question. This thrilling story is like many that Mr. Hume has written, and no doubt he will write many more like it.

"The Tavistocks" is a rather well-written novel, in which middle-class society is treated in a bright comedy vein. Mrs. Tavistock is a young wife, with a flighty sister whose husband has been appointed to some Governorship that removes him from his proper sphere of influence. Mrs. Tavistock's own husband enjoyed her company for seventeen days, and was then obliged to go abroad for three years. He had some dread that his child wife might have spoiled in the interval, but she is good at heart, and though she had bitter experience and great misunderstandings with Peter, whom she left for a time, in the end the course of married love ran smooth. Miss Griffin, already known as the author of "Lady Sarah's Deed of Gift," begins to promise well. (Werner Laurie).

Alice and Claude Askew, who are becoming quite prolific, produce another readable story in "The Orchard Close (Bell)—a story with a strong Indian flavouring. "Stories for You and Me," by Mother Mary Salome, (Burns and Oats), is a collection of fables with morals for young children, by whom it ought to be appreciated. "Rose Macleod," by Alice Brown (Constable) is a rather clever character study with an American setting. Miss Braddon's inexhaustible vein yields "During Her Majesty's Pleasure" (Bell), and Harold Bindloss in "The Liberationist" (Ward Lock), gives us a romance of the negro and West Africa that holds the attention well.

SHORTER NOTICES.

Dr. Russell Smith, in "The Story of Iron and Steel," writes an excellent little sketch of the rise of the modern industry, with special reference to American conditions. Speaking of the "new steels," he remarks that it is a mere historical accident that we have come to think of iron hardened exclusively with carbon. Iron is extremely sensitive to the presence of traces of other elements. Sulphur in mere traces makes steel crack and tear in rolling. On the other hand a trace of manganese prevents the formation of crystals, and makes the steel ductile while hot. The glass-like surface of nickel steel makes projectiles glance off, unless they have a sharp, hard point. Even more important are the alloys of iron with chromium and tungsten, which have very high melting points, and are extremely hard. Tools of these alloys maintain their temper even when red-hot, and this has worked a revolution in the use of automatic machine tools. Speaking of iron consumption the author mentions that in 1865 18,000,000 tons satisfied the world; now the annual consumption is over 100,000,000 tons. (From George Robertson.)

James Roscoe Day, Chancellor of Syracuse University, discusses the big financial problems of the United States in "The Raid on Prosperity." The professor tells us: "I have believed that if, as a people, we were as large as our opportunity, the civilised world would revolve around us as an axis, because we would comprise the blood and force of all great peoples." Further on he remarks: "The thought that there is a class in this country down-trodden and oppressed by the rich is an impertinence and an insult. It is an anarchistic importation." He writes very good American, and he interprets the activity of trusts and corporations in the light of the cheerful optimism that flourishes at Syracuse, U.S.A. (George Robertson.)

Dr. Henry Maudsley writes an interesting little book with the title of "Heredity and Genius," which also includes an essay on Shakespeare and an address on medicine, present and prospective. The author criticises the doctrine of the non-inheritance of acquired characters, and seems to believe in an innate disposition to variation—an assumption that explains nothing. Similarly he finds the statistical methods of Karl Pearson unsatisfying. He doubts the application of Mendelism to human heredity. The essay on Shakespeare is the result of study during a voyage to Australia and back. A good many of his remarks under this head are true, but few or none of them are in any wise new. The address on medicine is rather trite. (George Robertson.)

From the Clarendon Press comes a new section of "The Oxford English Dictionary" (Reserve-Ribaldously), edited by Dr. Craigie. The section contains 2763 words against Johnson's 317, and 15,983 quotations against Johnson's 842. One wonders what the "great lexicographer" would think of this splendid tribute to the English language, which fortunately is now within measurable distance of completion.

NOTES.

The proposed team match to be played between the Leichhardt Brotherhood Club and the Leichhardt Institute has been postponed in favour of the Marrickville Club, which will be played at the Athletic Hall, Weatherhill-street, on Tuesday night. Other events will be notified later on.

Mr. Jordan, the world's champion, has been on the warpath, playing all without a loss.

H. Morrall was victorious in the final round of the Lancashire championship tourney, fought out at Liverpool, his opponent being Ike Schofield, of Kamsden. Morrall had no difficulty in defeating Scheffel, as he won four games in succession, and as the heat was decided by the best of six games this finished the contest. Morrall takes the first prize (£5), and will hold the Lancashire Association championship trophy, the Waller Cup, for the ensuing 12 months. Mr. Morrall is also the winner of the gold medal presented by Mr. Ryan to the Liverpool Club for the member making the best average in the Lancashire Club matches.

THE RELIGIOUS STATISTICS OF THE FLEET.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of yesterday you have a telegram from Melbourne which states: "Mr. Snowball said that Cardinal Moran's statement that there were 5600 Roman Catholics in the American fleet was untrue. Inquiries showed there were not more than 1000, which was about their due proportion, as they constituted about 14 per cent. of the population." I find in the Melbourne "Argus" (August 31), the Rev. Mr. Fleming, Baptist chaplain to the fleet, is reported to have said: "The large majority of men in the fleet were Protestant, the percentage of Roman Catholics being 33 1-3 per cent. Statements which had been made to the contrary were incorrect." I fancy the public are more likely to take the Baptist chaplain of the fleet as an authority on the subject than they are Mr. Snowball. According to Chaplain Fleming there are over 5000 Catholics in the fleet.

I am, etc.,

BROKEN HILL.

Mr. G. Marriott, corner Chloride and William streets, Broken Hill, N.S.W., writes:—"This last three years I have always kept a bottle of Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery in the house. My boy used to suffer very much with croup. We have often had to go for a doctor in the middle of the night, thinking he would choke before morning. Also my little girl suffered with croup and bronchitis very badly, but since I have tried Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery I have never had a doctor to them. My little girl's bronchitis is cured, and if ever I find the slightest sign of croup on either of them I give them a dose of New Discovery, and it stops it at once."

Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery, for Coughs and Colds, is an unequalled preparation for the cure of all Chest Complaints and Lung Troubles. Obtainable everywhere. Price 1/6 and 3/.—Advt.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The record of the recently-closed season at Covent Garden has been characterised by huge disbursements to star singers, justified commercially by correspondingly enormous receipts, but artistic enterprise in experimental productions has not been shown. The opposite is the case in Paris, where the Government subsidy renders practicable a more advanced policy. This year once again we find one of the most scholarly of the French critics, Camille Bellaigue, describing in the "Revue des Deux Mondes" novel productions both at the Theatre de l'Opera and at the Theatre de l'Opera Comique. An imposing revival of Rameau's "Hippolyte et Aricie" seems to have failed owing to the tedious character of the libretto. The French critic declares that the remark of Rameau's nephew in reference to his uncle's entire repertoire applies to it: "There are fights, triumphs, sword-thrusts, glories, rumblings, and breathless victories." That is to say, in place of a tragedy, an allegorical-mythological heroic pastoral, at once magnificent and faded, sumptuous and cold. The music seems to have been unable to struggle out of all this. Nevertheless, much of it was beautiful, and the beauty was noble in its character, possessing a quality of reserve and the art of brevity in the musical diction. In absolute contrast with this classic subject, the Opera authorities next put a Russian music-drama, entitled "Boris Godounow," founded on Pushkin's romance, and composed by Moussorgsky. So impressed is the French critic by this work that he refers to the musical history of Russia to prove that it must be an effort of spontaneous genius, not of inherited development. "Did these melodies fall from the sky? Did they issue from the forest? Yes, from the forests, and from the heavens, without doubt, since they are the voice of the former, and the pure light of the latter." Dwelling insistently upon the fact that the new work is without precedent and without parallel, that it owes nothing to Wagner, and has not been perceptibly influenced by other schools, the writer gives an account of the plot. Boris, the hero, regent of the Russian Empire, orders the legitimate heir, little Dimitri, to be strangled, and himself ascends the throne. He reigns then, strangely gloomy and wild, bending under the double load of his imperial power and his heartfelt remorse. He succumbs at last under the burden, and Gregory, a young monk who has fled from his order, an imposter, succeeds him, thus substituting himself for the murdered Tsarevitch. The sombre figure of the baffled regent, the wonderful revolutionary choral numbers, representing in their grief "the sob of all Moscow," and the vivid quality of the whole work, made this production under the baton of Felix Blumenfeld, from the Petersburg Imperial Opera House, the most memorable of the year.

Mme. Ada Crossley's return will be the next big musical event of the year, and it is so nearly at hand that already the arrival of the favourite contralto at Fremantle is announced. It was at this place that she made her last appearance upon Australian soil in the middle of January, 1904, but her farewell to Sydney was at her charity matinee at the Town Hall on December 15, 1903, in the touching song "God Be With You," which, composed by an Australian (Mrs. Menzies-Elmblad), has acquired an almost traditional significance owing to its frequent use in this country on similar occasions. Mme. Crossley, who was then supported by Mr. W. A. Peterkin (basso), Mr. Jacques Jacob (violinist), and Mr. Percy Grainger (pianist), is again touring under the J. C. Williamson management, and the support may reasonably be supposed stronger than before. The solo pianist is the same, the basso is replaced by Mr. Hamilton Earle, a baritone of more assured position, and the violinist, Mr. Sametini, can boast the same kind of career as his predecessor. There is, however, another artist—by no means "the fifth wheel of the coach"—in the new party, Mr. John Harrison, a tenor originally discovered, trained, and launched in London by Mme. Amy Sherwin. This singer, should our audiences follow English opinion, will rival the star, contralto in the public favour. Voluminous press-cuttings describe the send-off at the station, the cheerings, and the flowers, whilst to the interviewer for the London "Daily Chronicle" Mme. Crossley stated that her party could give 12 concerts without repeating a single item, and that her programmes would include the best music of all schools, as the Australians were keen critics. "I am going out prepared for all eventualities. I am taking 60 new frocks—they are gems—and half as many hats. And there is one trunk which contains nothing but music." The tour will form a genuine home-coming for the famous singer, and the more so because she will be accompanied by her husband, Dr. Francis Muecke.

Mr. Victor Champion, the new conductor, who is now beginning to divert his attention from the music of "Miss Hook of Holland" to that of "The Belle of Mayfair," belongs to a Dorsetshire family named Lonnen, which, under various names, has figured on the stage for four generations. His father was well-known as "William Champion;" his brother, the late Edward J. Lonnen, was the popular comedian from the London Gaiety Theatre, who toured here in 1892-3, with Mr. Robert Courtneidge, Misses Marion Hood, Alice Lethbridge, Alice Leamar, Katie Barry, Maria Jones, and other favourites of that day. Mr. Champion was born at Liverpool, studied piano and composition under the late Sir Charles Halle, and at 23 years of age was chosen to conduct the first performance in England of Gounod's comic opera, "The Mock Doctor," at the London Globe Theatre. He was then for six years with Mr. George Edwardes, conducting "The Geisha" (26 months) at Daly's Theatre, and then "The Greek Slave" and "San Toy." In 1904 Mr. Champion was directing "The Girl from Kay's," recently transferred from the Apollo to the Comedy Theatre, with Miss Carrie Moore as the soubrette, and this engagement resulted in his continuing with Mr. George Dance's companies for several years. Just before joining Messrs. Meynell and Gunn, the newcomer was directing the music of "Peter Pan" (Miss Pauline Chase) at the Duke of York's Theatre. He finds the Australian choristers quicker at study, and with a higher vocal average, than those at the London and provincial theatres, and he was apparently rather surprised at the thorough competence of his Australian orchestra. Mr. Champion likes the country, and is staying on to compose incidental music for "Cinderella," which he will conduct in Melbourne at Christmas.

Miss Margaret Anglin's season will be continued in Melbourne this evening with the production of Clyde Fitch's comedy, "The Truth." The brilliant American actress has so far repeated her Sydney repertoire, but she is now rehearsing "The Taming of the Shrew." Her first appearance on any stage as Katharina will be regarded in New York as an event of unusual interest. Mr. Henry Kolker will be the Petruchio, and Mr. Titheradge will probably appear as Baptista, the father of Katharina. Mr. J. C. Williamson has decided to transfer Mr. Myles Clifton from the "Prince of Pilsen" Company to play the part of Grumio, servant to Petruchio. It seems that this most modern of musical farce comedians began his career on classic ground with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vezin, with whom he played Grumio "in most approved good style, look you," and also won acceptance as Launcelot Gobbo, and in other comic Shakespearian characters.

Signor Hazon's health seems to have become vastly improved, enabling him to start teaching in Milan, good news which will be welcomed all over musical Australia. Miss Goulder-Clarke, who made her debut under his baton with the Sydney Amateur Orchestral Society, met the Italian conductor at the house of her present teacher, Mme. Amy Sherwin, during his recent visit to London, and writes that he looks quite strong again. The lyric soprano is working very hard, and has been going to the opera a great deal. Mme. Amy Sherwin herself writes that she has high hopes of the Perth (W.A.) tenor, Mr. James Hay, his voice being the best she has had in hand since John Harrison. The Tasmanian diva is now forming a ladies' choir on the lines which succeeded so well in Sydney. Mr. Arnold Gange, the young basso, has just concluded a particularly busy season of engagements at aristocratic "at homes."

"HERALD" FOURTEENTH TOURNEY.

The "Sydney Morning Herald" fourteenth international problem tourney.—Conditions: (1) Competitors may send in as many original problems in diagrams, accompanied by full solutions, as they please. "White to play and mate in two moves." (2) Each problem to have a nom-de-guerre or motto. The composer's name and address to be enclosed in a separate sealed envelope, with the like motto. Seals will not be broken until the awards are made. (3) Each problem to have but one author, not to have competed in any other tourney, or been published before. (4) Problems to be addressed, "The Editor, the 'Sydney Morning Herald,' Sydney, Australia," and reach this office by December 1 next. The prize we offer for the problem that the judge (Mr. F. J. Young, of Hobart, Tas.) deems best is five guineas. Should he so recommend, two special prizes will also be awarded.

NOTES.

B.C.M. for August is an excellent issue, fully up to the high standard the leading chess monthly has consistently set for itself.

Unconscious Imitation.—"In the July number of the 'American Chess Bulletin' the disqualification of the first prize winner in the late tourney is announced (says B.C.M.), so that Mr. Heathcote now carries off chief honours. In addition to the dual in the former first prize winner, of which mention has already been made, an old problem by J. Kotrc, published in 'Zlata Praha' in 1883, a fellow Bohemian, was brought to the notice of the judges, which robbed it of all claim to originality." It is a tribute to the keenness with which tourneys are followed and prize-winners criticised, that so many cases of unconscious imitation are brought to light.

The German "Handbuch."—Arrangements have been made to bring out a new edition of this elaborate treatise. Alapin is to edit, and be assisted by Marshall, Teichmann, Maroczy, von Bardeleben, and Hopfer.

Janowski v Tarrasch.—The French champion has challenged the Nuremburg master to a match in September. Tarrasch probably feels his hands are pretty full for the time being.

THE CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP OF AUSTRALIA.

It is in the best interests of the game that the organisations controlling chess throughout Australia should co-operate in drawing up a standard set of rules and conditions for the proper management of championship of Australia contests. The time limit, the number of games to be played, the normal stake, are all matters of general interest. In so doing important matters have to be borne in mind. As regards the stake, for example, the happy mean has to be sought between making it so small that every aspirant can bombard the champion for the time being, and making it so large that it will of itself be a deterrent to challenges. It is far more satisfactory that independent organisations should decide on the time limit than that it should be left to the backers of the rivals. It is above all necessary that it should be plainly understood on what terms a champion holds his laurels and when he must defend them. It would be an excellent thing if a match could be arranged between Mr. Spencer Crakanthorp and Mr. Viner, who has, we understand, been challenged by the N.S.W. champion.

(a) Although Black has not chosen the best defence, his game is still good enough with White's weak pawns.

(b) Mieses evolves now a pretty combination to save the game, but it turned out good enough to win, Black having played too hastily.

(c) RR4 would not have saved the game; but the question is whether he should not have given up the Exchange with 18. PKR4.

(d) Now he had nothing better than 20. . . . QQ, followed by KtxR.

(e) Instead of the saving this is the losing move, as Mieses immediately demonstrated.—"Field."

NOTES.

(a) Naturally it is much easier for the player who has the move to accept an offered Queen's Gambit without disadvantage than it is for the player who has not the move. In any case, however, Herr Rubinstein's play cannot be the correct aggressive play.

(b) This is the same mistake as was made by M. Janowsky in a Tarrasch-Janowsky game of the Vienna tourney of last year. Time is lost; and the Queen is unfavourably posted.

FISHING AT TUGGERAH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of the 10th inst, under the above heading "Fair Play" states that the Erina Shire Council have asked for the Tuggerah Lagoon to be closed against net fishing. I presume he means Tuggerah Lakes, but to clear away any doubt in the minds of any of your readers I wish to state that the shire council has not asked for the closing of Tuggerah Lakes against the use of nets. The council, I feel sure, recognises the importance of these lakes in this direction, and is fully alive to the industry carried on there. What the council has asked for is the closing of Wamberal Lake against netting, and this action was taken on account of one or two fishermen sweeping this lake periodically before holidays, with the result that their haul, while of little or no commercial value, spoils what sport there may have been in store for visitors from Sydney and other parts. Trusting you will publish this information, which will relieve the mind of "Fair Play" as far as Tuggerah Lake is concerned,

I am, etc.,
WYONG.

PERSISTENT CONSTIPATION

is generally aggravated by violent purgatives, because they weaken the organs acted upon. The gentle, reliable, and pleasant laxative, California Syrup of Figs, has a totally different result. It is at once a tonic and a curative. It cleanses the sluggish system of every impurity, and at the same time strengthens the natural action of the liver, bowels, and kidneys, thus gradually but surely overcoming habitual constipation. It is so mild and agreeable in its action and effects that it is known as "Nature's pleasant laxative." Its annual sale of millions of bottles is due as much to personal recommendation as to the warm approval of the medical profession. Of chemists everywhere, in 3d and 1s 1½d.—Advt.

KUTNOW'S POWDER
ERADICATES
CONSTIPATION.

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you aware of the terrible risks you incur by this irregularity? It is the worst of all ailments, and attacks both young and old. It poisons the blood, pollutes the breath, makes the skin yellow, and the eyes dull. The liver becomes sluggish, and then follow biliousness and stomach disorders. You cannot do your work properly with a disordered stomach. Kutnow's Powder corrects all derangements of the stomach; it makes your liver act; it cleanses your kidneys and removes all excessive uric acid; it acts on the bowels efficiently without any pain, and permanently removes the trouble of constipation.

Authoritative Statement by a BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL.

"The Practitioner," March, 1904, says: "This preparation (Kutnow's Powder) possesses a pleasant taste. . . . . It forms a very pleasant form of laxative medicine, acting, if taken in hot water before breakfast on an empty stomach, in the space of about one hour. In these days of constipation—due, as is said, to civilisation and over-refinement of food—it is useful to know of an aperient remedy which is not nauseous to take. Kutnow's Powder will be found most useful by sufferers from haemorrhoids, as it is gentle in its effects, while relieving the loaded portal system by its hydragogue action. The advantage of such a course of saline aperient medicine is often strikingly apparent in the increased sense of well-being which follows the flushing of the excretory channels and the ensuing clearance of noxious waste products."

READ AND REFLECT.

(Late Professor of Clinical Medical Diseases, Marion-Sims College of Medicine, and College of Physicians and Surgeons),

Wrote: "Kutnow's Powder stimulates the activity of the bowels and kidneys. It cleanses the bowels, acts as a diluent, and flushes out the kidneys in a most satisfactory way. Thorough elimination is salvation, and there is no better eliminator than Kutnow's Powder."

Dr. J. BOND SULLIVAN

Writes: "Knock, Ennis, Co. Clare, Ireland.—I have recommended Kutnow's Powder to several lady patients, who approve of it greatly. An aged clergyman to whom I recommended Kutnow's Powder tells me he finds it both effective and agreeable."

Miss V. BARNETT

Writes: "St. Catherine's, Dublin, 2nd November, '07.—Many thanks for the bottle of Kutnow's Powder. It has proved so good and palatable that we ordered another bottle of it at once. Kutnow's Powder is by far the most excellent preparation we have yet tried, and we shall always keep a bottle of it in the house."

JOHN CRONOLLY, Esq.,

Writes: "Chestnut Cottage, Camberley, 24th November, 1907.—Dear Sirs,—I find that occasionally a dose or two of Kutnow's Powder keeps the liver in order. Indeed, I have derived much benefit from it."

Guard Against Fraud.

When you have tested and approved the remedy you will naturally require more. The Genuine Kutnow's Powder can be had of all conscientious Chemists throughout the world. When you ask for Kutnow's Powder see that you get it. Every package and bottle must bear the fac-simile signature, "S. Kutnow and Co., Ltd.," and the registered trade mark, "Hirschensprung, or Deer Leap." KUTNOW'S is a tried and proved remedy of great medicinal, curative, and invigorating value. Substitutes are simply drastic purgatives, and not only useless but injurious. If the Chemist suggests a substitute, a something so-called "just as good," never deal with such a man, but pass your order on to a reliable Chemist, and you will then Get Genuine Kutnow's.

THE AUGUST REVIEWS.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Airships and Germany are the main topics of the chronique in the "Fortnightly." Count Zeppelin's achievements at a time when he has passed his seventieth birthday naturally touch the writer's imagination. He draws attention to the advocacy of Herr Rudolf Martin, who insists that to the German Emperor's maxim, "our future lies upon the water," must be added "our future lies in the air." The empire of the air for Germany was a bitter sarcasm in the mouth of Jean Paul; to-day those who are exulting in the Zeppelins look upon it as a sober truth. There are many who already demand a "two-Power standard" for German airships.

In the same review the Persian crisis is discussed by Angus Hamilton. The Constitution of January, 1907, placed written checks on the prerogatives of the Shah for the first time in Persian history. Even his right to the Crown jewels passed to the State. Parliament was given supreme control where the will of the ruler had been law; free speech and free press threatened to make Persia an Asiatic democracy. The present Shah succeeded to the throne a few days after this startling entry into modernism, and it may be said that he never wavered in his intent to return to autocracy as soon as opportunity offered. The subsequent course of events recalls the worries of the first Charles with Parliament. The Persian Constitutionalists thought £100,000 was an ample civil list, but the Shah found it did not go far in harems and households, palaces and parks. He was enabled to realise the poverty of millionaires. Then when he asked for more he was told to dismiss his reactionary associates, and "Parliament" surpassed its models in the invention of gross invective. Really, the unfortunate Shah, who had no advisers worth speaking of, was forced to make his coup d'etat. He arrested his Cabinet, but the British Legation from perhaps a mistaken sense of duty secured its release. Peace was temporarily re-established, but the Shah's army was unfed, and Persia was affording a grotesque example of the futility of democracy in the East. Rebellions came, and with them complications with Turkey and Russia. The only thing that the revolutionists have in common is their hostility to the Shah, but the political clubs had also organised a kind of general strike. The Shah's reply was the dramatic bombardment of the Parliament buildings.

Persia also forms the principal topic of Dr. Dillon's review in the "Contemporary." He coincides in general with the view taken above, though he paints the situation in more lurid colours. He is, however, inclined to regard Germany as the probable "deus ex machina."

THE QUEBEC TERCENTENARY.

In the "Fortnightly" the tercentenary is discussed from two points of view. Edward Salmon writes of the romance of the past, and James Milne of the call of the present. Mr. Milne tells us that at first the French Canadians were a trifle cold towards the celebrations, which they feared would be a parade of British Imperialism. But when they knew that the keynote was not to be a triumphing in the past, but the up-building of a new land in a new world, they became enthusiastic enough. But has the episode brought the two races measurably closer? A high French Canadian authority hardly thought so, more particularly as intermarriages are almost unknown. A British Canadian was more optimistic, though he saw the necessity of appealing to the French element by careful respect for its language, its laws, and its religion—Quebec is more Catholic than Rome. And of course the Church does not want the French Canadians to progress too fast. An English-Canadian view is put by Arthur Hawkes in the "Nineteenth Century." The celebration, he points out, was not planned as a Quebec affair. All Canada shared in it. But it is as useless to think of making Englishmen out of the French-Canadians as it is to imagine that the Irish temper can be kept in a Saxon mould. Nor on the other hand are they likely to be absorbed or to retrogress, for the population is phenomenally prolific.

SOME LITERARY ARTICLES.

Professor Churton Collins in the "Fortnightly" acknowledges the literary indebtedness of England to France. He reminds us that from the thirteenth century to the Renaissance the literature of France was more to us than that of Greece and Rome. From Layamon to Chaucer French influence was supreme. In Henry II.'s time the troubadours and the trouveres who were making poetry in southern and northern France streamed into England. The remarkable thing indeed is that the national characteristics survived in our literature as the Anglo-Saxon vocabulary survived the superposition of the Norman-French. After discussing the metrical romance and the prose of Sir John Maundeville, Professor Collins points out the French note in even Elizabethan verse when classical and Italian influences were predominant. Many Elizabethan lyrics have been shown to be direct imitations of French originals. The special influence of Montaigne on Shakespeare, Bacon, Cowley, Swift, and Pope is worth mention, and we owe almost as much to Rabelais. A French prototype has even been found for Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. At the Restoration French influence, interpreted by Dryden, again became supreme, and it lasted until the revolution of 1789 gave a new and different impulse, an impulse indicated on the one hand by Voltaire and Rousseau, and on the other by the rise of Romanticism.

Francis Gribble in the same Review writes on Rousseau in Venice. A curious episode in his career was this little diplomatic appointment. He had met with little success in Paris, and was living precariously on music lessons, when a lady recommended him as secretary to the Ambassador at Venice. The confessions tell us what Rousseau thought of the Ambassador, and a little pamphlet recently rescued from oblivion tells us what the Ambassador thought of Rousseau. The thoughts were not complimentary. "I kicked him out," writes the Ambassador, "as a bad valet, on account of the impertinences which he permitted himself."

Sir Edward Sullivan in the "Nineteenth Century" carefully scrutinises Shakespeare's knowledge of the water-ways of North Italy. Shakespeare has been accused of bad geography, because he has been supposed to hint at travel from Verona to Milan by sea. The writer shows that in such cases river waterways are intended, and as to these waterways he has collected some very interesting material, including a quaint map published in 1564. He further defends the "sea-coast of Bohemia," which has barbed many shafts against the poet—the point is, of course, that the Bohemia of the "Winter's Tale" was not the Bohemia of the seventeenth century. The evidence adds something to the suggestion that Shakespeare had a personal knowledge of North Italy.

DARWINISM TO-DAY.

In the "Contemporary" Alfred Russel Wallace writes on the present position of Darwinism. He passes in review the criticism of minor German writers that Darwinism is an "unsuccessful hypothesis," points out the fallacious use of really scientific criticism made by popular anti-science writers, and goes on to point out the manifold shortcomings in the views of the neo-Lamarckians, the Mutationists, and the Mendelians. The Lamarckian system, which demands the inheritance of acquired characters, wholly breaks down; the de Vries theory of sudden mutations which make the starting point of fresh species is founded on almost no evidence, and in particular it has been impossible to show such mutations occurring in natural conditions; while Mendelism, which tries to give a quantitative account of inheritance, he also holds to be still on trial. He asks us to read the works of these persons and then his own "Darwinism" again, and form our own conclusions. And that certainly is a very sensible course to take.

SCIENCE NOTES.

(W.G.P.)

THE ANCESTRY OF THE FOX.

The fox, in common with the rest of the dog tribe, represents the least specialised of the carnivora, or, what is the same thing, it remains closest to the immediate ancestry of the order. The primitive carnivora of the Tertiary period were the descendants of extinct mammal-like reptiles which had their home in South Africa, and formed the connecting link between the reptiles and mammals. We should therefore not be surprised if the fox retained traces of reptilian ancestry which have disappeared completely in the higher carnivora. K. Toldt, of Vienna, has just shown that this is the case. He proves that the fox had ancestors clothed with horny scales like those of the anteaters (pangolins), at present the only mammals clothed in overlapping scales. In several other existing groups traces of scales remain; for instance, the tail of the rat and certain areas in porcupines and other rodents are scaly. In all cases where hairs grow between the scales (as they generally do) such hairs have a definite arrangement in isolated bundles of three or four at regular intervals determined by the size and shape of the scales. In a number of species that have no scales now this arrangement persists. Toldt carefully examined the skins of young foxes, and not only found that the hairs were arranged in this way in groups of fourteen hairs each, but also discovered that the skin itself exhibits a structure like that of the scaly anteater after the scales have been pulled off. Microscopically the skin presents the appearance of a roof covered with overlapping tiles, hairs growing between each tile. In cross section it is seen to be thrown up in a series of ridges. This makes it probable that if a sufficient number of skins is examined a few rudimentary scales will be found. The presence of hair is of course very characteristic of mammalia, as it is found even between the plates of the external bony armour of the armadillos, which themselves represent the extinct glyptodonts—huge mammals covered with bony plates one inch thick.

BLACK MAGIC.

James Hooper writes in the "Albany" an interesting account of Invultation, the most malevolent and widespread among the usages of black magic. It is very ancient, for the making of images for sorcery was almost a recognised profession in Chaldea, and in China for ages waxen images have been moulded for the same purpose. It is alleged by Rabbinical scholars that to make teraphs Laban (of the Old Testament) took the first born of some noble house, about 14 years old, twisted the head off the neck, embalmed it, and placed it in a secret recess, whence it would pronounce oracles. Early Roman laws are directed against those who do persons to death by waxen images. Dr. Wallis Budge tells us that the magician could transmit to the figure the soul of any being it represented. He mentions a case in 1200 B.C., where a cattle inspector engaged in a conspiracy with certain court ladies, who got for him a manual of magic from the Royal Library at Thebes. The plot was revealed, and the conspirators were compelled to commit suicide. There are frequent references to all the forms of the practice in the classic poets, and it lasted well into medieval times. It is remarkable that the first Prayer Book of Edward VI. retains the rubric for exorcism, and, indeed, belief in possession by devils is still a part of official Anglicanism, to say nothing of less educated religious belief. Invultation is as widespread as it is ancient. Highlanders and Ainus, Malays and American Indians, practise it. A clay corpse made for the purpose after the manner of the Highlanders (who place a clay figure in a creek, believing that as it wastes away so will the victim) is still to be seen in the Pitt-Rivers Museum, Oxford. It was found by a member of the University in a Highland brook. Statutes against the practice were passed in the second year of James I. In 1574 a Florentine was sent to the galleys for sticking pins into the wax heart of an image of Charles IX. of France. In rural England the charm has perhaps never ceased to be practised; indeed, it is said that Queen Caroline (wife of George IV.) often made little wax images of her husband, which she roasted before a slow fire. A manual of the art was published in Paris in 1898, and declares that it has lost none of its efficacy. In Devon witches still put sheep's hearts stuck with pins up chimneys, and other varieties of sympathetic magic flourish even more exceedingly.

THE EDUCATION OF BIRDS.

Many writers are coming to believe that instinct plays a less part than was formerly supposed, and that its place is taken by imitation of the parent. In the case of birds but for the mother the young ones would never learn to fly, or sing, or build a nest. This view, however, is severely criticised by others. Birds of course are very imitative, but actual experiments, in which the chance of imitation is removed, seem to show that in such cases the bird can fall back on instinct. Perhaps the clearest cases of instinct arise in nest building. There are on record scores of cases in which birds have selected impossible sites for nests—an evidence of defective instinct rather than bad education. In others it is so strong that birds will build again and again if their nest is destroyed. Nest-building is an instinctive act, but doubtless both intelligence and experience come in to aid it. It is said that fear of natural enemies is purely instinctive and there is much evidence in support of this view. As regards song, interesting experiments have been made, in which birds have been hatched in or removed to the nests of other species—but they always sing their own song.

CHILIAN MINERAL INDUSTRIES.

Nitrate of soda is a deposit peculiar to Chile, and is found in immense deposits, sometimes 6ft thick. These are usually covered with earth or guano. They are not continuous, and their richness varies a good deal, yielding from 20 to 65 per cent. of pure nitrate. The provinces that produce the nitrate are for the more part sterile. As manure the nitrate is used as it is bought, and though not adapted to all soils, with many it gives extraordinary results. The industry has grown enormously, but if the world's annual consumption reaches 5,000,000 tons the now known deposits will still last for 350 years. There would still remain enormous deposits of low grade, which, however, it seems, can be successfully worked. A probable Chilian development is the manufacture of nitric acid on a large scale for export.

The country is particularly rich also in other minerals. There are, for instance, nearly ten thousand copper, silver, and gold mines recorded, only a tenth of which are now in actual operation. From 1820 to 1902 there was an output of about two million tons of copper. There is ample water supply in a form which moreover makes cheap power available. Methods of working, however, are rather archaic, not more than fifty mines being provided even with steam hoisting machinery. Compressed air and power drills are practically unknown. Silver was formerly so abundant that it was in common use for domestic articles, but latterly the fall in the price of silver has closed up many mines, though the country still holds fourth place among the world's silver producers. Occasionally masses of pure silver up to 200lb weight are met with. Gold is usually found along with copper or silver in veins, though there is also much gold-bearing sand. In the early Spanish days gold dust was the currency of the country. Besides nitrates there occur large deposits of borax, which are now extensively worked. The value of one deposit alone is estimated at £74,000,000. Salt occurs in inexhaustible masses of practically pure sodium chloride; but at present it is hardly worked at all. Iodine, as a by-product of the nitrate crystallisation pans, is becoming important. There are many cobalt mines, and vanadium and molybdenum, now in great demand for steel alloys, occur in payable quantities. Large quantities of almost pure graphite have been discovered. No iron is worked, but there is abundance of it.

IN THE GARDEN.

FLOWERS, ETC.

Feed the Roses.—Many roses fail to give satisfaction, and the cause of failure may in numerous cases be traced to the absence of adequate support. The quickest, surest, and easiest remedy at this season of the year is a copious application of liquid manure. Roses that have been long established in the same ground, and especially those trained up trellises and pillars, have probably long since extracted most of the nutriment from the soil, and are consequently in a state of semi-starvation; they exist, but do not flourish. Solid manures applied now are of little direct use in renovating the plants. A dressing three inches thick placed over the roots serves a useful purpose, no doubt, in arresting the evaporation of moisture from the soil, but it does not act quickly enough for invigorating the plants for the flowering season. Sprinkling of guano, bone-dust, or other artificial manures, also do a measure of good to enfeebled roses, but even these are too slow in their action on roots that may more likely than not be two feet below the surface of the soil. For conveying food to these, and in a form that can be absorbed immediately, nothing equals liquid manure, and it should be poured into the soil at once, saturating the roots of all roses that are destitute of vigour, with no sparing hand. Break up the soil lightly with the fork, not close to the stems alone, but for a radius round them at the least equal to the spread of the shoots or branches, and over this space keep pouring on the liquid until it no longer drains away freely. It will then find the roots, which will absorb it greedily, and in a very short time its effects will be seen in the deepening green of the leaves, and the increased strength of the stems that will support still finer blooms. This be it remembered is for roses in the open ground—great bushes they may be, old and neglected, yet cherished because they have been there so long. Roses in pots require more cautious treatment, and the way to give those liquid manure is to apply it weak and often.

Grass for Lawns.—Where bare spots appear, now is a good time to get them right, to make the grass look bright and healthy. Rake the bare places carefully as a first step towards restoration and improvement. Then water the ground freely, and when the water has settled, sift over the weak spots some good loamy earth if the place is small, or spread the soil over it with a broad shovel. Then sow the grass seed required. Sow thickly, in order to make sure of a catch, and rake it in. Roll if necessary, and after sundown, if the weather is dry, water again, and if it can be done, sprinkle loose short stuff as a mulch to prevent the soil baking, and to induce the seeds to sprout. The most desirable dressing in such cases is bone-dust, which stimulates the rooting, and that is what is required. In the warmer districts, buffalo grass answers admirably for lawn purposes. It is propagated from roots, or tufts of the grass set in the soil as close as convenient, or the supply of sets will allow. Like all grass of value the buffalo does best when the soil is loose and deep. It does well on steep slopes and borders, where stones are the foundation when covered with good soil. It spreads rapidly, and is easily kept in order by scythe, mower, or sheep shears, where the breadth is small.

Annuals.—Even now there are many annuals that may still be sown with success. If the quick-growing dwarf sorts are put in they will provide an abundance of fresh and fragrant late summer flowers, and many of them will bloom well into the autumn. Large batches and clumps produce the best effect in a border, but many sorts, such as the blue Nemophila, make beautiful edgings, the colours being pure and soft, and contrasting well with their surroundings. It is a great point to thin annuals severely, so as to give each plant an opportunity of branching from the base, and of becoming stout and strong. When crowded, as they too often are, the growth is weak, and the flowers fleeting. If grown on a good and well-prepared soil, and made strong by thinning, many annuals flower freely until the summer and autumn are quite over.

Epiphyllums.—Perhaps the most useful manner in which to cultivate these showy subjects is to grow them in hanging baskets. It is true more water will be required, but they fully compensate the grower for a little extra labour in this respect by the beautiful display they make when in bloom. Wire baskets are the most suitable in which to grow them, packing small pieces of growth all round the basket between every alternate wire, about 3 inches apart diagonally, larger pieces being used for planting on the surface of the soil in the centre of the basket. Virgin cork or moss may be used in order to retain the soil in position and prevent loss when watering the plants, but until the cuttings are rooted very little of this is required.

The Greenhouse, etc.—This is a trying time in glass structures, as the weather is often so changeable, giving air, shading, and watering, all requiring particular attention, as we often get sudden outbursts of bright sunshine, succeeded by cutting winds, so that it is hard to ventilate freely, so as to keep the atmosphere at the right temperature. We must shade, or the flowers and plants will soon lose their freshness and beauty. Air must also be admitted whenever it can be safely done, or the plants will make growths weak and sickly, and will not produce the requisite quantity of bloom. Syringing must be carefully attended to; it is a useful instrument at this season. Dracaenas should have every assistance by placing them in an airy, light situation, but should be free from a current of air. Gloxinias, gesneras, etc., should be started, to succeed any previously started. Dipladenias, cissus, stephanotis, etc, will now want attention in training. See that they are clear from insects. Ferns that have not been shifted should not be neglected. Place them in a moist and cooler position. Large specimen plants may be generally assisted by weak tepid liquid manure. Repot and bring begonias to the front; they will soon begin to make a fine display. Caladiums, if kept close and warm, will soon make a grand show, and brighten the house for months. In the conservatory, whether it be in extent of yards or perches, the rules for free admission of air, but without draught, will now commence to apply with full force. Be careful of not over-watering the plants, but use plenty of moisture on the pathways and about the house. Should aphides or thrips appear, use potash or soda spray mixtures.

Bush-house.—Many plants may now be brought from the greenhouse and other glass structures to their summer quarters. In doing so, examine them and see that they are free from insects. It is well to use a depth of from 2 to 4 inches of coal ashes to stand the pots on, or the earth worm may be very troublesome. All plants not repotted at this time should be surfaced with new soil. If the covering of the house has become thin, it may be well to replenish it, but on no account make it too thick.

VEGETABLE GARDEN.

Tomato seed may still be sown, but generally plants will be ready for planting out, and it should be done during the month. In planting, give plenty of room, and support the vines as they grow. The varieties now offered for sale are very numerous, and most of them are well worth growing. They require a good rich soil. Weed and thin out onions, but don't transplant unless the weather is showery; when it is, that may be done freely. In transplanting care should be taken that the roots are not bent backwards, but set straight in the holes. Plant French beans in rows or drills, allowing plenty of room for the runners, and stake early. Dwarf kinds should also be sown in drills. It is a good plan to soak the seed first, but if that is done get the seed in without any delay after soaking. Keep all weeds down, or they will give much trouble and loss.

It may be thought that weeds keep the ground moist by acting as a screen against the sun, but anyone who has tested it knows that at a depth of two inches or so the ground under weeds is much drier than an open space which has been kept clear by that useful instrument the hoe. It is astonishing the amount and depth of moisture a crop of weeds will take from the ground. Where the hoe is used freely the surface soil becomes broken up into fine particles, which lie close together, and act practically as a mulch. Though the soil may be dust-dry as far as the hoe penetrates, yet just below it will be found to be warm and moist, and will keep so even through a long spell of drought. It has been remarked that the best time for hoeing is when there are no weeds, and certainly a turn then makes a great difference in the time the weeds will come again, as a large number of seedlings that have just germinated, and which can scarcely be seen, are destroyed at this time.

ORCHARD, ETC.

Newly-planted fruit trees should be carefully watched during this and next month, when they will be making new growth, and any shoots being formed where they are not wanted must be removed, and all branches likely to be unusually long, stopped. By attention to this, and a little disbudding here and there, trees of good shape may be formed the first season, but much depends upon summer pruning and regulating.

The strawberry blight, very prevalent in some districts, is a true parasite; just one of those miserable little mould or fungous plants that live upon vegetable substances. This fungus is of a family which attacks the leaves of raspberries, blackberries, the rose, and other plants, as well as the strawberry. When once this particular strawberry fungus has got into the leaf, it holds on until the leaf is utterly destroyed. But sulphur, in nearly all its forms, is an enemy to fungous growth while it nourishes plants, and sulphur mixtures, either in the from of spray or as powder or dust which can be sprinkled or scattered over the plants, are the most effective agencies known to check the fungus and help on the crop. The use of this is recommended as being safe, simple, and effective, and as a means of making strawberry growing what it should be—one of the most desirable adjuncts in the Australian garden.

POULTRY.

Questions relating to fancy or commercial poultry-keeping, diseases, etc., should be addressed to "Ancona," Herald Office.

Hurstville.—With such abundance of rain, the outcome of which will be plenty of grass, you should be able to do well with geese. Write to the Under-Secretary for Agriculture for a pamphlet entitled "About Geese;" you will get more information in it than space would allow to give here.

W.S.G.—The Buff Orpingtons, with white in flight feathers, would be disqualified from getting a prize. These foul feathers are no sign of a cross; breeding from the best sound coloured birds there are many cases of both white and black feathers. In breeding for exhibition purposes, you will have many disappointments, the few successes should, however, repay you.

Subscriber.—You would have seen in last Saturday's issue information on the cold-storage of eggs, and whom to communicate with. The business column of the same paper contained advertisements from firms catering for this business. Pack in ordinary 36-dozen cases, with white cardboard fillers. See page 8, column 8, in last Saturday's "Herald."

Goulburn.—The results you mention are due to your mixed flock of fowls, with no knowledge of their age. Hens, three years old and over, will lay very few eggs, certainly not enough to pay their feed bill. Well-conducted poultry-yards sell off all hens over two and a half years old. Of course, there may be exceptions, an excellent layer may be kept to three or four years of age; not for the quantity of eggs she will lay; but to secure stock from her, some of which should be as good or better layers than she was.

Despite the good averages at all the laying competitions during the last month, none of them reached the record score of 128 per pen put up at the Hawkesbury College in August at the fourth competition held there. In the present college test, for two-year-old hens, Mr. P. Lowe's White Leghorns won the monthly prize with 128 eggs, Griffiths Bros. second with 125.

The "Fiji Times," of August 15, has the following paragraph:—"The last three shipments of poultry from New Zealand have been infected with fowl cholera, and great losses have resulted. One shipper got down 60 fowls, and 45 were dead when landed—the balance dying on the wharf. The disease would seem to have originated with fowls bought in open market, but it is very contagious, and other fowls brought into contact with diseased ones are quickly affected." The New Zealand papers are up against the statement, protesting that no shipments of fowls left New Zealand the present year for Fiji, and that they must have been from Australia. As against the latter insinuation, Mr. J. M'Intosh, of Rockdale, who has shipped several lots of poultry to Fiji lately, forwards a postcard, dated Suva, August 18, which reads as follows:—"Fowls arrived in good condition. The boat was two days late; they struck bad weather. The way you pack your fowls has a lot to do with their condition, etc."

The Taiyuan, which left on Tuesday for the Philippines, China, and Japan, took 430 cases of frozen poultry to Manila. A large number were turkeys, which were prepared and frozen at the country freezing works, Gunnedah, and Blayney; the balance were prepared in the city. The capital of the Philippines regularly sends poultry orders to Sydney, but in only occasional instances can they be executed, local demand being nearly all the year round beyond the supply. It is said very exceptional prices were paid to secure the above shipment, which approximated to 5000 head.

Although large quantities of eggs are placed in cold storage, there is but a small percentage of poultry men who store their own, the great bulk preserved by this system being by wholesale houses, leading grocers, and pastry cooks. Despite this, the entire poultry fraternity benefit, the large quantities taken off the market keeps the surplus down, and, as a consequence, the price up. It is said over 800 cases of 36 dozens each have been taken off the market since the first of the present month. This fact is responsible for the current rate of tenpence per dozen throughout the week, a price nearly double that at the same period prior to the cold storage system.

The poultry markets since fleet time have been so short of supplies as to considerably raise the values; 8s 6d and 9s per couple were common quotations for what the auctioneers term choice cockerels, while old hens of small size, which at one time were considered well sold at half a crown the couple, fetched throughout the week 4s 6d; heavier weights 5s 6d, and 5s 9d. Well-grown Muscovy drakes realised up to 10s per couple. But for the high price of all fowl feed, poultrymen would now be having a good time.

In a letter to the Auckland (N.Z.) City Council, the district health officer, Dr. Purdy, said there was undoubtedly some connection between the keeping of poultry and the outbreaks of diphtheria, and suggested that when diphtheria broke out, poultry-keeping should be abolished within the city area. The Finance Committee recommended that in view of the letter from the district health officer, the provision of the bylaws dealing with poultry-yards should be strictly enforced. The council agreed to the recommendation.

For a considerable time before fleet week Sydney poultrymen were, through the instrumentality of cold storage, making preparations for a largely increased trade. This came about, but to a much smaller extent than anticipated. It appears the like optimistic opinions were formed in London as to the effect of the Franco-British Exhibition on the business. The "Poultry Trade Gazette" says:—So far as poultry goes, the Franco-British Exhibition has turned out a frost. It was the general opinion that London would be full, and that anything in the shape of poultry would be snapped up. Only one of these anticipations has been realised. In these days of cold-storage the large purveying firms wisely make provision beforehand for all contingencies, and do not often have to disturb the market by late buying. It reminds one very much of Jubilee year, when the trade bought American fowls in anticipation of a demand that never came off, and large sums of money were lost. The case will not be so bad this year; the goods will be sold, but the profit will not come up to the expectations of the trade.

In England of late years a great trade has grown up for what is known as day-old chickens; so much so that there are now poultry farms whose biggest incomes for the year is from this source. These people keep pure-bred fowls, hatch all their eggs, and keep advertising in the poultry journals, offering such, usually at sixpence each. They are consigned in dozen or other quantities in specially-prepared light, warm boxes, and although only a day or two old travel safely one or two hundred miles by rail. The system has been tried here, but, owing to our greater distances, and other conditions, has not been a success. The demand, however, exists, and those catering for this chicken trade hatch under hens, and send her and the brood into the poultry auction sales, where the excellent price of from 8d to 1s each and 2s 6d for the hen are the rates realised. Ducklings are also hatched in great numbers, frequently over one thousand being disposed of at Friday's sales, prices of late reaching up to 1s each. These figures will, of course, not continue, but as long as sixpence each is received, those in the business are well remunerated.

All poultry-keepers who have a garden and grow vegetables should utilise the surplus for their fowls, as they help to keep the birds in health, and also economise in the expense of feeding. In the summer months fowls at liberty do not require as much feeding as in the winter, on account of them being able to find a large amount of natural food for themselves in the spring and summer in the shape of worms, grubs, seeds, and insects. In many cases where the winter rations are continued through the summer disease often follows, owing to the birds becoming overheated, and too fat internally. Green food of all kinds is invaluable for keeping poultry in health, therefore all cooked vegetables left from the table, and all outside leaves of cabbages, lettuces, cauliflowers, etc., should be cooked and mixed with the bran and pollard for the morning feed. Uncooked cabbage should also be thrown in the run, as the birds are fond of them, and are to be recommended on account of their cooling and health-giving properties. The poultry-keeper with a garden should therefore let nothing in the way of green food go to loss, with the twofold object of keeping the fowls in health and of reducing the food bill.

A YEAR OF TORTURE.

Intense Itching Eczema Drove Him Nearly to Despair—Chief Surgeon of a London Hospital Called it Worst Case He Had Ever Seen.—Cuticura Alone Stopped His Unbearable Agony.

"About four years ago, in London, I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scurfy skin on my ankles and feet. The same, in a few days, was the case with my arms and scalp. I could hardly keep from scratching, which made it worse. Then large red patches appeared, with inflammation and soreness. After ten days thousands of small red pimples formed. On becoming dry these caused intense itching. I was advised to go to a hospital for diseases of the skin. I did so, and was an out-patient for a month or more, the chief surgeon saying: 'I never saw such a bad case of eczema.' But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. On coming to the United States I heard so many accounts of cures by Cuticura Remedies that I resolved to give them a trial. This was after suffering agonies for twelve months. I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticura Ointment, and after using three sets of the Cuticura Remedies I was completely cured. LAW REPORT.

BANCO COURT.

ACTION AGAINST THE CROWN.

Turner v Williams.

Mr. Peden, instructed by Mr. William E. Potts, of Narrabri (by his agent, Mr. A. W. E. Weaver), appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Piddington, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett), for the defendant. This was an action brought by Mark Turner against James Leslie Williams, nominal defendant, on behalf of the Government, to obtain compensation for being deprived of his homestead selection of 1150 acres in the land district of Narrabri, notwithstanding that he had a registered protection order under section 23 of the Land Act, 1895, and the holding sold to one Edward Richard Balfe. Damages were laid at £500. The defendant pleaded not guilty, and that on August 15, 1904, when the plaintiff registered the protection order for the holding, he was in insolvent circumstances within the meaning of the 23rd section. There was also a plea of abandonment of the selection by the plaintiff.

Mr. Peden in explaining the case to the jury said that the homestead selection was situated near Narrabri. It was taken up by the plaintiff in January, 1901, under the Crown Lands Act of 1895. Under that Act the Governor was empowered to set apart a tract of country for homestead selections, and the area was cut up into blocks. In fixing the area of the blocks the question to be determined was whether the land was of such a character that a man engaged in agricultural and other pursuits connected with the land would be able to make a living for himself and family. A homestead selection differed from a conditional purchase in two main respects. One was that it was subject to the condition of perpetual residence, and the other that it was subject to perpetual rent. The Legislature provided for the protection of the homestead, and the question at issue in the case turned upon that point. If a man lived upon his homestead selection and was not at the time in insolvent circumstances, he could go to the local land agent and by filing a document obtain an order protecting his homestead, so that if adversity overtook him subsequently and he was sued by a creditor or creditors his homestead selection could not be touched. That provision was contained in section 23 of the Act of 1895, which provided, among other things, that after the order of protection was registered the holding could not be the subject of a writ of execution, nor could it be vested in an official assignee in bankruptcy or assigned for the benefit of creditors. But the protection was not operative if, at the time the homestead selector obtained it, he was in insolvent circumstances, or was not resident on his holding. Plaintiff having taken up his homestead selection in January, 1901, as his bona-fide home, expended a considerable amount of money and labour upon it in fencing and erecting a residence, and various buildings required for the purposes of a dairy farm. He also ploughed 40 acres of the land, and bought some horses and cows. On August 15, 1904, he obtained a protection order for his homestead selection, and it was registered in the Lands Department. Some months afterwards he was sued on a promissory note, which, though made in his own name, was in fact made in retirement of a promissory note given by his mother to her landlord for rent, amounting to about £32. Judgment was subsequently entered and signed against him, and some time in 1905 the sheriff in execution of the judgment sold the plaintiff's interest in the land to one Balfe, to whom he gave what purported to be a transfer of the homestead selection. The question was whether the department had a right to register that transfer under the circumstances stated, plaintiff contending that it had not.

After the plaintiff had given his evidence, the Chief Justice asked Mr. Peden whether, on the evidence, he could succeed. It was not necessary under the Act to prove, in order to set aside the registration giving a homestead lessee protection, that he was actually insolvent, but that he was in insolvent circumstances at the time of registration, and unable to pay his current debts as they fell due. The registration was not to have effect if he was in insolvent circumstances at the date of registration.

Ronald M'Gann, a homestead selector, whose property adjoined that formerly held by the plaintiff, said that in his opinion the value of the homestead selection in August, 1904, was 8s per acre.

This closed the case for the plaintiff, and Mr. Piddington moved for a nonsuit on the ground that the evidence disclosed no cause of action against the Government.

His Honor said he was of the same opinion, but he formally refused to nonsuit, as he thought it would be safer, and probably a saving of expense, to take the verdict of the jury, whether, as a matter of fact, the plaintiff was on the 15th August, 1904, in insolvent circumstances, and whether on the 22nd October, 1905, he had ceased to reside on the homestead as his usual home.

Evidence for the defence was then proceeded with.

Mr. Peden having no objection to this course,

His Honor directed the jury that, in his opinion, the plaintiff, at the time he registered his protection order, was in insolvent circumstances, and unable to pay his current liabilities.

The jury answered the two questions previously put to them by his Honor in the affirmative, and found a verdict for the defendant.

A CASE UNDER THE RABBIT ACT.

THE DEFINITION OF "OCCUPIER."

H. E. Palmer v John Chrisp.

Mr. Russell, instructed by Mr. C. E. A. M'Nevin, of Germanton (by his agents, Messrs. Mackenzie and Mackenzie), appeared for Henry Edmond Palmer, stock inspector, in support of an appeal from the decision of Mr. J. W. Fletcher, P.M., of Albury. Mr. Canaway, instructed by Messrs. Quinlan and Lee, appeared for John Chrisp, boundary rider, in opposition to the appeal. It appeared that Chrisp was charged, on the information of Palmer, that, between February 1, 1908, and February 22, 1908, the defendant being the occupier of certain lands known as Lamb Brothers' and Elmslie's paddocks, situated within the Petty Sessions district of Albury and the pastures protection district of Hume, a duly proclaimed rabbit-infected district, failed fully and continuously to perform his duty as such occupier from time to time to suppress and destroy by all lawful means, and at his own cost, and in accordance with the requirements of the Hume Pastures Protection Act of 1902, all rabbits from time to time on the land. Defendant pleaded not guilty, and after hearing evidence the magistrate dismissed the information on the ground that the defendant had not been proved to be the occupier of the land. Mr. Russell, however, now contended that Chrisp was really in the position of resident manager, and was therefore the occupier within the meaning of the Act.

Mr. Russell said that the facts he relied upon as showing that defendant was the occupier of the land were that he took possession of the land, that he was in charge of it, and had the key of the only paddock in connection with which there was a key; that there was no one over him, and that he employed men to poison rabbits, and that persons who wanted rabbits poisoned went and made representations to him. He was also residing on the land, and attended to the fencing, and to the sheep that were placed under his charge.

His Honor said he was not satisfied on the evidence that defendant was either the resident manager or occupier of the land, and that being so, he dismissed the appeal.

NO. 1 JURY COURT.

THE BELLAMBI COACH ACCIDENT.

Bennett v Bellambi Coal Company, Limited.

The plaintiff, Mary Jane Bennett, administratrix of the estate and effects of Thompson Bennett, deceased, who died intestate, sued the defendant company to recover compensation for his death. It appeared that deceased was the driver of the coach when the accident happened, and the injuries sustained by him were of such a serious character that he subsequently died. Plaintiff, who was his wife, sued for compensation on behalf of herself; also Jean Ann Bennett, the mother, and Rita Florence, Robert William Russell, James Thompson, Olive Elma, and Jean Ann Bennett, the children of the deceased. Damages were laid at £3000. In this case also the defendant company admitted its liability, and the question, therefore, was only as to the amount of compensation to be awarded. As in the other cases, Mr. Reid, K.C., and Mr. L. Armstrong, instructed by Mr. A. A. Lysaght, of Wollongong (by his agent, Mr. B. A. M'Bride), appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Broomfield and Mr. D. G. Ferguson, instructed by Messrs. J. Stuart Thom Brothers and Co., for the defendant company.

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with damages £1000, made up of £400 for the plaintiff herself, and £120 for each of the five children.

NO. 2 JURY COURT.

ACTION FOR WRONGFUL ARREST.

O'Sullivan v Gates.

Same v M'Donald.

Ellen O'Sullivan, spinster, residing at 457 Dowling-street, Moore Park, brought an action against Constable James P. Gates, claiming £500 as damages for assault and wrongful arrest. The plaintiff proceeded similarly against Senior-constable Duncan M'Donald. The actions were consolidated and heard as one. Mr. J. L. Campbell and Mr. N. M'Laurin, instructed by Messrs. Iceton, Faithfull, and Maddock, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. J. Garland and Mr. Pickburn, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, Mr. J. V. Tillett, appeared for the defendants.

The case for the plaintiff was that while walking along Oxford-street on May 29 she was arrested by the defendants, and was not released until, having been taken to her home, she established her identity. The defendants denied having arrested plaintiff. She resembled a woman who was wanted by the police, but they did not trouble her beyond asking for evidence of identification.

His Honor, in summing up, said there was a conflict of evidence as to whether the defendant Gates placed his hand upon the plaintiff's shoulder. If he did the action constituted an assault at law. But the more important part of the case was the allegation of imprisonment, and the question the jury had to determine was whether the defendants, or either of them, compelled plaintiff to go with them along the street. According to plaintiff's version the defendant Gates said to her, "I know you. I am a detective; and you have got to come along with me." If the jury believed that in consequence of that plaintiff went along the street with the officers, there could not be very much doubt that it amounted to imprisonment. Defendants denied that the words referred to had been used, and, further, they contended that even if they had imprisoned plaintiff in this way they were, nevertheless, not responsible when they honestly and reasonably believed that the plaintiff was the woman Williams, for whose arrest a warrant had been issued. The point to be determined was, "Did the defendants, or either of them, honestly and reasonably believe that the plaintiff was identical with Mrs. Williams?" The plaintiff was asked for her name, and after she had given it she was asked if there was anybody about who knew her. On identification she was released at once. M'Donald had never seen Mrs. Williams, but had seen a photo. of her. Gates had seen Mrs. Williams about nine years ago, and as soon as he saw plaintiff he followed her down the street, and became confirmed in his opinion.

The jury found in favour of the defendant M'Donald, but in favour of the plaintiff as against the defendant Gates, and awarded her £10 damages.

IN EQUITY.

(Before his Honor Mr. Justice A. H. Simpson, Chief Judge in Equity.)

SUIT AGAINST MUNICIPALITY.

The Association of North Sydney Debenture-holders, Limited, is a company owning an estate of about 1006 acres, all within the municipality of Willoughby. For six years the municipality of Willoughby has levied special lighting rates upon the company for this land. No part of the land gets any benefit of the municipality's lighting, but the arrears of the rate amounted in 1907-8 to £156 12s 11d. That was the case set forth by the company in the statement of its claim in a suit brought against the municipality. The company alleged that as the land did not benefit in any way it was not liable for the special lighting rates, and that the charging of those rates on the land made a blot on the company's title, and prevented the company from making a good title to the land without first paying the rates, and reduced its value in the market. The company submitted that it was entitled to have the rates against it expunged.

Mr. Maughan, instructed by Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co., appeared for the company. An appearance had been entered for the municipality by its solicitors, Messrs. Ash and Maclean, disputing plaintiffs' claim. But it was not represented at the hearing, and Mr. Maughan produced its solicitors' consent to the decree.

His Honor by consent made a decree in the terms of the company's prayer, declaring that the company was not liable for any special lighting rates already levied on the land mentioned; and that there was no existing charge upon the land of any such special lighting rates or arrears of them. He ordered the municipality to expunge from its official books and records all entries purporting to levy the said rates upon the said land. He made no order as to costs.

DIVORCE COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Simpson.)

DENT v DENT (HUMPHRY CO-RESPONDENT).

Further consideration was given to the petition of Henry Isaac Dent, a carter, for the dissolution of his marriage with Martha May Dent (formerly Doherty), on the ground of adultery with William Humphry, a labouring man, who was joined as co-respondent. Mr. Gannon (F. Gannon and Sons) appeared for the petitioner.

A decree nisi was granted.

GILES v GILES.

Alfred John Giles, a labourer, petitioned for the dissolution of his marriage with Mary Giles (formerly Egan), on the ground of adultery. Mr. M. A. H. Fitzhardinge appeared for the petitioner; respondent was not represented.

Petitioner stated that the marriage was celebrated at Glen Innes in September, 1886. He was at the time a widower, with six children. From 1886 to April, 1906, he lived with his wife about 14 miles from Glen Innes, and during that time seven children were born. In April, 1906, his wife left home, and when he tried to persuade her to return she refused, saying "she would have nothing more to do with his dirty kids." At a later period he saw her in a hospital nursing an infant, which she admitted was hers, but she refused to say who the father was.

A decree nisi was granted.

HURST v HURST.

Mr. Holman, instructed by Mr. R. W. Fraser, appeared in support of the petition of Annie Maria Hurst (formerly Nicholas) for the dissolution of her marriage with William James Hurst, commission agent, on the ground of adultery. Respondent was not represented.

Petitioner stated that she was married at St. Paul's Church, Murrumburrah, on January 16, 1894. Four children had been born of the marriage. Her husband appeared to lose all affection for her and the children, and subsequently admitted misconduct.

A decree nisi was granted with costs against the respondent, petitioner to have the custody of the children.

CUTTER v CUTTER.

Further consideration was given to the petition of Ethel May Cutter for the dissolution of her marriage with Richard John Cutter, wool sorter, on the ground of desertion.

CLOTHIER v CLOTHIER.

Mr. P. K. White appeared in support of the petition of Amelia Sophia Clothier for the dissolution of her marriage with Charles Edward Clothier, a carter, on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. The marriage was celebrated at St. Paul's, Redfern, on December 30, 1900.

Petitioner stated that within a fortnight of the marriage respondent struck her for "sticking up" for her people, and gave her a black eye. From that time onward respondent treated her with systematic cruelty, and failed to provide for her maintenance.

His Honor said he was satisfied that petitioner was driven away from her home, and that respondent, by his conduct, intended to drive her away, and that it would have been unsafe for her to return.

A decree nisi was granted, with costs against the respondent.

PITT v PITT.

Mr. Edwards appeared in support of the petition of Bertha Sidney Pitt (formerly Heilmann) for the dissolution of her marriage with Lionel Sidney Pitt, auctioneer, on the ground of desertion.

Petitioner stated that at the time of the marriage she was 17 years of age, and had known the respondent for four or five months. They failed to live happily together. In September, 1903, she instituted a suit against her husband for restitution of conjugal rights, but the suit was dismissed. Prior to this her husband had filed a petition for divorce, but the petition was withdrawn. She had made several attempts to induce her husband to live with her, but he had absolutely refused. Since 1905 she had lived either with her mother or in lodgings. For a time she was on the stage.

Part heard.

PROBATE COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

A CONTESTED WILL.

Williams v Dermody.

Mr. Betts, instructed by Messrs. Garland and Seaborn, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Edwards, instructed by Mr. P. E. Tighe, for the defendant. This was a suit brought by William Williams, executor of the will of Denis Morland, late of Newport, boatbuilder, for the purpose of obtaining probate of the will. The defendant, Louisa Mary Dermody, had lodged a caveat.

His Honor, after hearing further argument, said he was not satisfied that the requirements of the Wills Act had been complied with. If he had been able to reconcile it with his view of the evidence so as to say that the will had been properly executed, he should have been glad to do so, because he had very little doubt that the document did contain the disposition of his property as intended by the testator. But he was unable to dispense with the formalities with which the Legislature had, in section 7, surrounded the execution of wills; and he was not satisfied that the signature of the testator was made by or acknowledged by him in the presence of the two witnesses before either signed the attestation clause. That being so, he could not declare the will to have been validly proved before him. He, however, upon the application of Mr. Betts, further adjourned the suit till Monday, in order to consider the validity of the codicil, and its bearing on the will.

The following probates and letters of administration were granted during the past week:—

ALLEGED ASSAULT.

Munts v Cranston.

George Edward Munts sued Samuel Cranston for £100 damages, alleging that defendant assaulted, beat, and imprisoned him.

Defendant pleaded not guilty, and for a second plea said that plaintiff assaulted him so that he had to defend himself.

Mr. P. O. Williams appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Watt, instructed by Mr. G. Mackellar, for the defendant.

BOTANIC SPECIMENS.

Bauerlen v Williams.

In this case William Bauerlen, an elderly botanical collector, sued James Leslie Williams, Under-Secretary of the Department of Justice, as nominal defendant, on behalf of the Government of the State, for detaining certain letters and books of memoranda belonging to him. He conducted his own case; Mr. Pickburn, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, appeared for the defendant.

Plaintiff claimed on two counts: (1) That the defendant, by his servants, detained the letters and memoranda; on this count he claimed their return or their value, and £50 for detention. (2) That the defendant, by his servants, converted them to his own use; on this count he claimed £310, and £50 for detention. Defendant denied the detention, and pleaded not guilty to the conversion.

Plaintiff said he had been a collector of botanical specimens for the Government Technological Museum. The memoranda and letters were the work of many years. Whilst Mr. Maiden was curator of the museum he got along very well; but when Mr. Baker appeared there things went wrong for him. He found it difficult to get his specimens fixed up, and they were often left about till they went different colours. Finally, one afternoon he saw his books and letters on his table at 4.30. But next morning they were not there, and no one knew where they had gone.

At this point, the Judge asked Mr. Bauerlen if he had any evidence against the Government—that is, to show that the Government was in possession of the books and letters. He might have a grievance against Mr. Baker, but his Honor did not want to hear that. The defendant objected that if that were so he might be robbed and maimed without a chance of redress. "You would have no remedy unless you could prove who did it," said the Judge.

Verdict was given for the defendant. The Crown did not ask for costs.

NO. 2 COURT.

(Before his Honor Judge Backhouse.)

EXPENSES OUT WEST.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd., sued Frederick Gibson Manning for moneys which were alleged to have been paid by them for him at his request, as follow:—December 27, 1907, paid to the New South Wales Government Railways, for deposit on 38 sheep vans, £38; January 14, 1908, paid to T. Jarman, the amount of fare to Nyngan, £1 10s; February 7, 1908, paid to railways, return ticket Flemington to Brewarrina, £3 12s 1d; return ticket Flemington to Nyngan, £2 15s 8d; May 12, amount paid for lucerne supplied to the defendant by E. Rich and Co., Ltd., £12 15s 9d—total, £58 13s 9d.

By consent, a verdict was entered for the plaintiffs for £45 17s 9d.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Scholes.)

QUARTER SESSIONS APPEALS.

Mr. Herbert Harris appeared in support of the convictions.

Percival Spencer, John Spencer, and Robert Morris appealed against a sentence of two months' imprisonment with hard labour passed on them by Mr. Donaldson, S.M., at the Water Police Court, Sydney, on July 15, the offence alleged against them being that they played a game of chance known as "heading 'em."

His Honor said that as it was acknowledged by the police that they did not know Morris, he should be given the benefit of the doubt, on the ground that the identification was doubtful. He would, therefore, uphold his appeal. As to the two Spencers, he was quite satisfied as to their identification, and their appeal would be dismissed.

Mr. Moss applied that the penalty might be reduced, but his Honor declined to grant it.

Kum Poy, Ah Sic, Ah Chow, Ah Jung, Jam Poy, Ah Kee, Ah She, Lee Sing, Ah Sing, Ah Yum, Ah Gow, Hay Kee, Willie Sing, Ah Tiy, Jo Hong, and Pun Guy appealed against a conviction by Mr. C. N. Payten, S.M., at the Central Police Court, on charges, Kum Poy, of being the keeper of a common gaming-house, and the others of being found in it, on June 13 last, at a time when the house was entered by a constable, by virtue of a special warrant. Kum Poy was fined £25, in default three months, and the others £2 each, or 14 days in gaol. Mr. J. A. Brown, instructed by Mr. E. R. Abigail, appeared for the appellants. It was contended that there was no evidence that this was a common gaming-house, as alleged.

His Honor, after hearing Mr. Brown, sustained the convictions. He said that when the police went to the place with the warrant they found the external and internal doors bolted and barred, no doubt for the purpose of preventing ingress by the police. The police, however, got in, and found that gambling was going on. Evidence was given that gambling had been known to go on there on previous occasions. He had come to the conclusion that the place was used as a common gaming house, that it was kept by Kum Poy, and that the other defendants were there for the purpose of gambling. He also found that gambling was actually going on at the time, and that the defendants were there without lawful excuse, playing an unlawful game. What might have been an innocent game if used for gambling might become an unlawful one. The magistrate was right, and the convictions must be sustained.

A fine of £2 imposed on Kum Poy in addition to the £25 was remitted, and security was given that those fines which had not already been paid should be paid within 14 days.

A Man Who Wanted

To sell OATS for human food got cross because people bought

GRAPE-NUTS,

So he told them in the papers to avoid the famous predigested food, for it didn't give the stomach exercise, and from the lack of hard work it would gradually get weaker.

Surely this is a "queer" one, this oats man. "Make the stomach work," he says. By the same token, why not drop in a few beans or black walnuts with hulls on?

The trouble is that people eat too much, and of indigestible food. So the poor old stomach works as hard as it can, and considerable overtime, until it lies down like a tired horse.

Then it needs food easy to digest. Give it a chance to recover. It is good, hard sense to go a bit easy with the stomach, and, even in health, before it gives out, use wisely-selected food, easy to digest. That's

HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

THE FAMOUS REMEDY FOR COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, PNEUMONIA, PLEURISY, ASTHMA, & CONSUMPTION.

Those who have taken this medicine are amazed at its wonderful influence. Sufferers from any form of Bronchitis, Cough, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Hoarseness, Pain or Soreness in the Chest, experience delightful and rapid relief, and to those who are subject to Colds on the Chest it is invaluable, as it effects a Complete Cure. It is most comforting in allaying irritation in the throat, and giving strength to the voice, and it neither allows a Cough nor Asthma to become chronic nor Consumption to develop. Consumption is not known where "Coughs" have been properly treated with this medicine. No house should be without it, as, taken at the beginning, a dose is generally sufficient, and a Complete Cure is certain.

BRONCHITIS AND PNEUMONIA
CURED BY
HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

AFTER OTHER TREATMENT HAD FAILED.

Mr. W. G. Hearne.—Dear Sir,—From a strict sense of duty I feel that I should publish the following statement, so that others may know what to do when the awful fact is evident that a life is in danger of being lost:—In September, 1906, my little girl, aged at that time 3 years, contracted measles, and in the following October was attacked by Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Congestion of the Lungs. She was attended by a legally qualified doctor of high standing, but his treatment was not successful in arresting the progress of the illness. On Saturday, the 21st October, 1906, he said that her life was in danger—that there was very little hope for her. For eight days and nights she had been prostrated by cough, pain, and fever, and was lying like a statue, unconscious. At this stage I was persuaded by a friend to obtain Hearne's Bronchitis Cure, with its auxiliary medicine for the Fever and Congestion of the Lungs, as directed in the Catalogue of Medicines which accompanies each bottle of the Bronchitis Cure. I gave the medicine as directed, and there was an improvement from the first dose of Hearne's Bronchitis Cure. The improvement continued after each dose of the medicine. In a week she was perfectly free from the Pneumonia, Congestion, Cough, Pain, and Fever, and was well, except that she was still weak. In a fortnight she was quite recovered, and is now in splendid health, and stronger than ever. Any person asking for information about this grand medicine can be supplied by me, or by any of my neighbours who have witnessed its wonderful effects. It absolutely snatched my child from an early grave. Yours gratefully,

D. GARDINER.

Police Station, Geelong East, Feb. 5, 1908.

BRONCHITIS.

A SUFFERER 73 YEARS OF AGE.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF—EFFECT WONDERFUL.

Mr. Hearne.—Sir,—I was very ill with Influenza and Bronchitis. A friend of mine persuaded me to try your Bronchitis Cure. The first dose gave me immediate relief, and after taking the second bottle I am thoroughly cured. Its effect on me has been most wonderful. I am 73 years of age, and I trust that you will make use of this statement by publishing it for the benefit of humanity generally. Yours most respectfully,

THOMAS R. TREZISE, Reedy Creek, Victoria.

CONSUMPTION.

TOO ILL TO LEAVE HIS BED—A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. W. G. Hearne.—Dear Sir,—I am writing to tell you about the wonderful cure your medicine has effected in my case. About three years ago I began to cough. At first the cough was not severe, but it gradually got worse, and I became very weak and troubled with night sweats, pain in my chest, and great quantities of phlegm. On several occasions there was blood in the expectorated matter. I had been treated by a doctor, who pronounced my case to be consumption, and various other treatments had been tried, but without benefit. It was at this stage that I heard of your Bronchitis Cure, and sent to you for a course of the medicine. When it arrived I was too ill to leave my bed, but I commenced taking it at once, and gradually improved. I am glad to say that the two lots of medicine you sent have effected a complete cure, for which accept my very best thanks.—Yours gratefully,

J. BLAIR, Westminster Bridge-road, S.E., London.

CURED BY
HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

AFTER OTHER TREATMENT HAD FAILED.

I, Prudence M'Kee, of Carr-street, South Geelong, in view of the importance of a person making it quite clear what treatment was successful in curing a serious and complicated case when the medicine, directions, and treatment of a legally-qualified doctor had failed, state as follows:—

My son, Henry M'Kee, then aged 8 years, had been attended by a legally-qualified doctor, who pronounced him to be suffering from Pneumonia, Pleurisy, and a stoppage of the passing of Urine. Under the doctor's treatment the child gradually got worse, and the doctor pronounced the case hopeless. He told me that the child could not live. At this stage I obtained from Mr. W. G. Hearne, chemist, of Geelong, a bottle of Hearne's Bronchitis Cure, and gave it to the child according to the directions which accompany each bottle of it. The child improved after the second dose of Hearne's Bronchitis Cure. He continued to improve each day from each dose of Hearne's Medicine alone, and within three days he was free from the Cough, Pneumonia, and the Pleurisy, and the Urine was passing satisfactorily. He was out of bed at the end of a week, completely recovered, and he is now in perfect health.

PRUDENCE M'KEE.

Carr-street, South Geelong, 6th February, 1908.

BRONCHITIS AND PLEURISY.

AFTER OTHER TREATMENT HAD FAILED.

Mr. Hearne, Chemist, Geelong.—Dear Sir,—Some months ago, in Sydney, I suffered from a severe attack of Influenza, and was confined to my room for about a week, at the end of which time, feeling somewhat better, I got up and tried to transact my business as usual. But I got up too soon, for the very next day I had a relapse, and suffered tortures from what the doctor told me was pleurisy and bronchitis. The pain from the former in my chest and shoulders was frightful, and for four long weeks I was confined to my bed under the care of a well-known Sydney doctor, and all the time his medicine gave me but temporary relief. The landlady of the hotel (the Cleveland) where I resided told me of a medicine—Hearne's Bronchitis Cure—from Victoria, which had cured her of a bad attack of Bronchitis and pains in the chest, and begged of me to try it. I did so, and, in thanks and gratitude to you, tell you that, after the second bottle, my cough had ceased, but, what is more astonishing, the pains from pleurisy entirely left me, and in about a week I was able to attend to my duties as usual. Yours faithfully,

J. BRAHAM, Melbourne "Punch" Office, Melbourne.

ASTHMA—A 17 YEARS' CASE.

PREVIOUS TREATMENT FAILED.—CURED BY THREE BOTTLES.

Mr. Alex. J. Anderson, of Oak Park, Charleville, Queensland, wrote:—"After suffering from Asthma for seventeen years, and having been under a great many different treatments without benefit, I was induced to try Hearne's Medicine for Asthma. After taking three bottles of this medicine I quite got rid of the Asthma, and since then, which was the beginning of 1883—fifteen years ago—I have not had the slightest return of it. The medicine quite cured me, and I have much pleasure in recommending it."

Speaking in February, 1908, he states:—"I am keeping very well. Never have the slightest return of the asthma."

"Hearne's Medicine cured me of asthma, from which I had been suffering for twenty-five years, during which time I had used almost every patent medicine on the market—including asthma inhalations—without getting a cure. It was eight years ago that the cure was effected by Hearne's Medicine, and I now feel stronger than I have felt for years—in fact, I feel splendid."

C. WISEMAN, Meredith, Victoria.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS! The great success of HEARNE'S Bronchitis Cure has induced a number of unprincipled persons to make imitations, each calling his medicine "Bronchitis Cure," with the object of deceiving the unsuspecting, and so getting a sale for an imitation which has none of the beneficial effects that HEARNE'S Bronchitis Cure has. Consequently it has become necessary to draw your attention to this fact, and to request you in your own interests to be particular to ask for HEARNE'S, and see that you get it.

HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE, Small Size, 2/6; Large Size, 4/6. Sold by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors, and by the Proprietor, W. G. HEARNE, Chemist, Geelong, Victoria. Forwarded to any address, when not obtainable locally.

NEW SOUTH WALES BRANCH OFFICE: Greer's-Chambers, 522 George-street, Sydney.

NOTICE.—Hearne's Bronchitis Cure No. 1A does NOT contain any Morphia or any Opium whatever. It is equally beneficial for the youngest child and the most aged person.

Next Year's Budget—Cloudy Prospect—Gymnastics on Ironclads—Self Portraiture—A Scotch Uffizi—Browning's Lament.

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 7.

Financial authorities accustomed to take thought of the morrow are already deeply concerned for the Budget of next year. It is recognised that Mr. Asquith had the good fortune to retire on the flood tide of national finance. Approaching his Budget last spring he found himself in possession of a considerable surplus, with trade still booming. There was strong temptation to win popularity by disposing of the money in reduction of taxation. Mr. Asquith chose the better way. With an unexpectedness that added value to the gift he took off half the sugar duty. But the larger part of his surplus was assigned to the reduction of the National Debt, an arrangement that gave profound satisfaction to all sound financiers. His successor finds himself in quite different circumstances. As he forlornly said just before the House rose for the autumn holiday, everything is diminishing except demands for expenditure.

Next year the situation will be much worse. There is, of course, the full burden of the Old-age Pensions Act to be met, involving an expenditure of at least eight millions. In addition it is reckoned that there must necessarily be an increasing expenditure on the Navy of between two and three million sterling. Where are these to come from? Mr. Lloyd-George has proved himself a man fertile in resource. But in respect of taxation the limit of expansion seems to have been reached. In his Budget speech Mr. Asquith dropped a hint in which will probably be found a way out of the apparent impasse. As he showed during his brief term of office at the Treasury, provision for reduction of the National Debt has been lavishly made. He had, indeed, achieved the apparently impossible task of reducing the debt to the level at which it stood before the war in South Africa and its colossal expenditure. To this heroic task there must be some limit. The Ministry might justly claim that during their first two years of office they have done enough for posterity, and may turn with kindly thought to the suffering taxpayer of to-day. This points to the reduction next year of the Sinking Fund to the average at which it was maintained before the exigencies of Mr. Balfour's Government compelled total suspension of the process. Without abandoning the sound policy of making liberal provision for reduction of the debt, this would set free a sum of money that would go a long way towards meeting the extraordinary claims that will face the Chancellor of the Exchequer next spring.

A difficulty besetting commanders of ironclads is that of finding exercise for the men. In the old days, with rigging to run up and sails to be adjusted, the crew were automatically kept in healthy trim. At present, beyond washing the decks and polishing the guns, there is but little falling within the ordinary day's work calculated to keep a strong man in good condition. A change has recently been wrought in this matter by adding to the ironclad's crew a master of gymnastics. The Swedish system has been selected and authorised by the Admiralty for daily use. It is a rather severe ordeal, especially when, as is the case on his Majesty's ships, it is extended over twenty minutes. It is reckoned that at the end of that time every muscle of the human body has been thoroughly exercised. The men are mustered on the quarterdeck in squads of forty or fifty, and seem to enjoy the performance as heartily as boys in the playground.

In summer time, in the late afternoon, another helpful exercise is provided in the way of swimming. The gymnastic exercise is imperative, every member of the crew taking his turn in it. The sea bath is optional, and may, of course, be enjoyed only by swimmers. It is pretty to see the men in their bathing drawers clustered along the bulwarks for'ard. At the sound of the bugle they dive together, some from the main deck, all from pretty good heights. For a quarter of an hour or 20 minutes the sea around the great ship is lively with bobbing heads. With the officers ju-jitsu is a favourite exercise, and is daily practised with a master of the art. A mattress is spread on the quarterdeck, and two men strive for mastery with desperate determination.

The portrait of himself, Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema's sole contribution to this year's Academy, is not for sale. It is designed as a gift for a private collection. It cannot be regarded as one of the master's greatest triumphs. To the lay mind, the painting of one's own portrait seems the most difficult of artistic feats. Yet it is common enough. The Uffizi Gallery at Florence has a notable room in which are hung the portraits of nearly all contemporary painters done by themselves. It is the only work a painter of repute undertakes without fee. An invitation from the directors to add his portrait to the Uffizi collection is regarded as an honour which carries with it its own reward. The passion for self-portraiture extends beyond what is regarded as the highest range of the painter's art. As anyone favoured by their private correspondence knows, artists in black-and-white habitually drag in a sketch of themselves by way of illustrating a remark. Thackeray was particularly apt at this work. I have many letters from Du Maurier in which he draws himself in divers fantastic forms. Phil May carried the habit into his published works. In many of his "Punch" pictures he introduced himself—at least on one occasion in the character of the tipsy father of a family who declines the earnest entreaty of his wife to "come 'ome."

If Aberdeen has come into its own, it ought by this time to be the possessor of a miniature Uffizi Gallery. Hereby hangs a tale. Visitors at the Royal Academy on private view day towards the close of the last century will remember the presence of a gentleman enjoying the rare privilege, now common to visitors at the Franco-British Exhibition, of being taken round in a bath chair. He was wheeled slowly through the range of rooms, displaying intelligent interest in every picture. He was not an artist, a critic, or even a liberal buyer. As a matter of fact he was something in the line of monumental stone-masonry, and hailed from distant Aberdeen. He had somehow managed to scrape acquaintance with most English artists, and he utilised his chance acquaintance in original and ingenious manner. He announced his intention of endowing his native town with a picture gallery founded on the plan of that which enriches Florence. Such an enterprise would seem to involve a considerable expenditure of money, and Mr. Macdonald, of Kepplestone, always declared that he was not a rich man. He offered to eminent artists the modest sum of £15, asked for only a small canvas, and pleaded that he was solely animated by public spirit. Persistently pursuing desirable contributors, he succeeded beyond expectation, and before his death had brought together a collection of artists' portraits painted by themselves which, though not on a par with the Uffizi Gallery, was very well for Aberdeen.

A letter written by Robert Browning, dated January 3, 1884, has just come to light. It touches a sad note. Whilst expressing gratification at the success of the second edition of his works recently issued, he writes:—"Why did not people pay a little more attention to me 50 years ago? But I more wonder at the attention I get now than at the indifference I met with then. . . . . So with my play brought out 42 years ago—and now the newspapers say, played successfully at Washington, the principal actor being called for five times. I should have liked to tell this to my father and mother in the old days. Now it seems to matter so little to anybody, and less still to myself." The play referred to must be "A Blot on the 'Scutcheon," brought out at Drury Lane in 1843, with Phelps and Helen Faucit in the leading parts. One does not habitually think of Browning as a dramatist. But his earliest trend in literature was rather to playwriting than to verse. In his twenty-fifth year he produced a tragedy called "Strafford," played at Covent Garden by Macready and Helen Faucit.

BY SEA AND AIR.

MODERN MIRACLES.

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The British Cruiser.

LONDON, Aug. 7.

Old Ocean has lost irrevocably one source of its ancient power to stir the imagination. The once illimitable void of sea is a charted track from east to west, from north to south, and the thrill of its secret—the fascination born of mystery, begotten of the unknown—are for ever gone. In their place, however, is the forward sweep of knowledge, and with it a newer and no less potent spell. The highways of ocean have regions still wherein the imaginative vision may find room to soar. And other highways other fascinations. The inexplicable air, the mysterious belt of nothingness through which our planet swings in its appointed orbit, has for long held out arms of allurement to the venturesome. To-day its secret is being gradually yielded. Out in mid-air, upon a hazard much less secure than that of a Vasco di Gama breaking the silence of an unknown sea, navigators thread a course through space, while messages are flashed in wave-beats of ether from the central sea. During this week there have been various striking manifestations of the gradual conquest of apparently insuperable forces of sea and air. Europe is ringing with the fame of them.

The first is the wonderful dash across the Atlantic of the new battleship-cruiser Indomitable. The record of this great ship and her achievement is the latest fairy-tale of naval science. The Indomitable is the fastest and most powerful cruiser afloat. She is 530 feet in length, with a beam of 78½ feet. She carries eight 12-inch guns. Each of them is 45 feet in length, and capable of firing an 850lb shell twice a minute, and of maiming an enemy's ship five miles distant. The guns are mounted in pairs, in four turrets, and all eight may be so swung as to fire broadside, on either side, while six may be fired at one time, ahead or astern. Conceive the terrific possibilities of such an instrument of war! She has 10 turbine engines, which propel her by means of four shafts and four screws. The total horse-power is 41,000. The displacement is 17,250 tons. The enormous weight she bears has just been hurled through the sea at an incredible speed. She was bringing the Prince of Wales home from Quebec. The climax of the Canadian celebrations was to be a demonstration of the speed possibilities of the great cruiser—the "mystery ship," as she was styled during her building on the Clyde, from the fact that details of her construction were known only to men sworn to secrecy. Dropping down the St. Lawrence River early on Wednesday morning last, she fought through a thick fog in the Straits of Belle Isle during Thursday night, and swept into the open sea on Friday morning. Impeded for a time by an accumulation of icebergs, she at last won through, and at full speed headed for England. She anchored at Cowes, Isle of Wight, on Monday evening, having covered the 1684 knots of open sea in 67 hours—an average speed of 26.13, thus beating the best land-to-land record of the greyhound of the Cunarders, the Lusitania, whose average was 25.01. By the King's command, however, the Indomitable's speed has been fixed, for official record, at 24.08 knots, her average rate from the southernmost point of Belle Isle to Land's End. This is the greatest speed over a distance yet attained by any warship, and the 26.5 knot rate at which the Indomitable travelled during four hours of her course is better than the best speed of either the Lusitania or the Mauretania. It transpires, moreover, that only half the available boiler pressure was used during the voyage, and that two turbines were disconnected. The engineer's staff say that with full pressure in use the ship could have done 30 knots with comparative ease. All on board were keenly anxious to make the voyage a record one, and at one stage a call for volunteers below was responded to by the Prince of Wales, as keen a sailor as ever. He worked a half-hour shift at one of the furnaces, feeding it with coal, and extracting "slag" and "clinkers" while his suite did unaccustomed duty in heaving coal from the bunkers.

The significance of the Indomitable's feat is in her varied possibilities. Carrying only two guns less, she is 6 knots faster than the Dreadnought. The Cunarders, built entirely for speed, and without reference to "Admiralty restrictions," are no swifter. Those restrictions, in effect, harness speed to big-gun equipment, fighting gear, and coal endurance as against coal consumption. The Indomitable fulfils the conditions. Her gun-power is appalling. She came from the New World to the Old, and had coal to spare in her bunkers, and withal, though impeded by miles and miles of fog-bound sea and floating icebergs, she made the journey at an average speed of 24.08 knots per hour. England will have directly four Indomitables and eight Dreadnoughts—one swift, strong squadron, two squadrons of crushing power. The Indomitables will be the racers of the fleet. They can overtake the retreating foe. They can attack him at their own point of concentration. The Dreadnoughts will do the rest.

"Wireless" and the Admiralty.

Concurrently with the news of the Indomitable's achievement comes word of another marvel of science, before which the most inert imagination might be expected to stir into astonished life. A message from Quebec announced tersely last week that the Indomitable was fitted with wireless telegraphic apparatus, and would maintain communication with Canada or Britain throughout the voyage. By a coincidence this miracle occurs in a week wherein we celebrate the jubilee of the first Atlantic cable. That was the miracle of fifty years ago. But what an undreamt of marvel is this? Wave beats of the impalpable ether so controlled and so subservient to the will of man that they throb messages for him through thousands of miles. From mid-Atlantic spaces he "speaks" the Empire at its heart, or at its distant outpost. A message was actually received at Scilly from the Indomitable when the great cruiser was 1600 miles out at sea. The development of wireless telegraphy for Admiralty purposes has been very rapid, and very secret. It was known that every ship and every destroyer in the British navy is fitted with an installation. It was not known that so vast an area could be covered, or that each ship was already a medium of communication with every other ship over thousands of miles of ocean. The result places England in a position more impregnable than ever. In attack, every one of her fighting units may be in inter-communication. The foe attacking her coasts has not now to merely pierce a line of unsuspecting defence. His approach, and his position at any given moment, may be flashed to the home fleet across the breadth of a sea. The use of codes, of "tuning"—a device whereby receivers are able to distinguish the messages of friends from those of foes—and other details are understood to be in the highest stage of development possible to date. That is the second of the week's fairy-tales of science.

North Sea Manœuvres.—Submarines.

The third is concerned with the North Sea manoeuvres, recently concluded. During those manoeuvres, we are told, a fleet of submarines made a non-stop run of 500 miles, and also traversed some other thousands of miles by way of test of their distance possibilities. This achievement simply revolutionises the hitherto accepted idea of the submarine. Its use need no longer be limited to the defence of coast and harbour. It is lifted to rank among the most effective fighting arms of the service. The fact of its capacity to travel at a high rate of speed, without stop, over 500 miles, and the further fact, also demonstrable by the experience of the recent manoeuvres, that it may be transported enormous distances, and then let loose against an enemy, make it one of the most formidable weapons of offence the navy possesses. The enemy may no longer shelter in harbour and roadstead, beneath the guns of his land defence. The submarine has become the irresistible goad that will force him out to open fight.

The Zeppelin Airship.

The fourth marvel of the week has ended in flame and disaster. Count Zeppelin's airship has vanished into, and become part of, the element which for hours it proudly controlled. Such disaster may be beyond human prevention for years to come, and airships and aeroplanes will probably fall upon dissolution many times before the ultimate goal will be won. But a man who can remain in air twelve hours, what time he sports with the winds, and drives his car across their adverse currents, is already on the road to victory. It cannot be doubted, with the feats of Zeppelin, Farman, Santos-Dumont, and the rest, in one's mind, that the ship of the air will have a development towards perfection no less remarkable than that of the ship of the sea. A prize of £100,000, the purchase of his ship by the nation, and a halo of fame, were the rewards available to Count Zeppelin for a flight sustained without accident for 24 hours. He ascended with eleven companions on Tuesday morning, presumably for a rehearsal of the prize flight, as he carried with him no representative of the German War Office, and the presence of such was part of the stipulation of the contract. From Friedrichshafen, on the bank of Lake Constance, he soared into air, and headed for the Rhine. The historic river at once became the focus-point of thousands of Germans. From town to town along its banks the news spread, and the great ship sailed majestically, 600ft overhead, amid immense enthusiasm. At Carlsruhe the Diet was sitting, but immediately adjourned on hearing that Zeppelin was coming, and its members hurried to the river bank. At Strassburg the whole population turned out, and as the ship swept past the towers of the famous cathedral cannon were fired, and the greatest enthusiasm accompanied the flight. At Mayence, eleven hours, and 276 miles from the starting point, a defect of the mechanism brought the ship to a standstill, and she slowly descended and lay on the surface of the Rhine. Five hours were spent in repairing her, and then, in the darkness of night, the great machine rose again, amid shouts of encouragement and the singing of "Deutschland ueber alles" by the crowds lining both banks of the river. Circling the bridge at Mayence, she turned homeward for the long voyage back to Lake Constance, and sailed all through the night. At 8 in the morning, having made a grand run back to Stuttgart, another descent was deemed desirable. Then came the denouement. A storm broke over the Rhine Valley. A gale of wind tore the ship from its moorings, a motor exploded, the balloon burst into flame, rose in the air, and was hurled onward and wrecked by the gale. A tragic termination certainly, and a cruel blow to the intrepid inventor, who had spent a fortune in his efforts to perfect the machine. He will doubtless resume in due course his battle with the elements. It is a curious fact that all the successful airships of recent times have been wrecked when apparently triumphant by some unexpected manifestation of nature. The Nulli Secundus was smashed by a storm as she lay in the grounds of the Crystal Palace after a splendid flight through London. The French airship Patrie, which had cost the Government £30,000, was lying quietly at anchor when she was caught by a sudden gale, swept across the Channel, over England and Ireland, and thence to the Atlantic. She has never been heard of since. Similarly, Count Zeppelin's great ship has been destroyed at a blow. It is almost as though on each successive occasion the powers of the air gathered themselves together for a last attack upon the invader of their virgin element. But even with catastrophe thick upon it, the Zeppelin flight through hundreds of miles of air is a marvellous achievement, and well worthy of a place among the wonder-works of this memorable week.

SAVING CHILDREN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The defence question being brought prominently before us again with the visit of the American fleet, we naturally begin to ask ourselves how much older we shall be before we even face the world with defence equal to that indicated by the visiting fleet. There are many things we cannot start doing right away, but I would like to point out one that should not be delayed. I refer to the population part of the problem. The general cry is for immigration, which is the quick and probably the economical way, but I would like to suggest as an additional method (the idea is not new by any means) that the State willingly adopt all infants "not wanted" elsewhere, and care for them in a manner calculated to bring about the best results. No "Dotheboys' Hall" principle about it, but plain intelligence such as a stockbreeder bestows on his animals.

We feel so well satisfied with our civilisation when we compare it with cannibalism, but I just wonder to which account the "recording angel" jots down the most murders.

We have become so accustomed to the gruesome "brown paper parcel" that it hardly arrests our attention. Of course these paper parcels are as a drop in the sea compared with those more scientific murders of which only the "recording angel" can keep an account.

If we could look on a number of these parcels as possible soldiers a few years hence, when our danger may be greater than to-day, we should regret them more.

We are prone to take too short a view of big business undertakings, and to expect returns too soon.

The child would be a burden on the State for 16 years; so may the old age pensioner be. Both are equally worthy, but from a business point of view the infant is far the better investment.

I suggest a State receiving-house, with a comfortable basket at the door, and a bell to announce the new arrivals. Moralists may have a word to say on the subject, but when they, like novelists, can induce everyone to "marry and live happily ever after" we shall see no more of the "brown paper parcel." Till then let us have the basket and bell for choice. I am, etc.,

A NURSE.

Sept. 9.

A WONDERFUL CURE FOR INDIGESTION.

REDFERN TESTIMONY.

"Each morning I woke with the consciousness that something was not right," remarked Mr. William Johnston, of No. 127 Eveleigh-street, Redfern. "I felt as if I was in for a spell of sickness, and, sure enough, those misgivings foretold what afterwards happened. You see, the heat was pretty considerable where I was, up at Mole, seventy miles from Warren, 115 deg. in the shade for a week at a stretch.

"There were a good few of us working at an artesian bore, which ejected soda water—without, I need scarcely remark, any whisky in it—and too much soda straight is not good. My blood was in a terrible state, sores breaking out in all directions, and the flies were so troublesome that we had to go away and sit in the dark to get a little peace. The remedies I tried to put myself in order with were of no avail. When I sat down to a meal I would get half way through when an attack of retching always occurred. I became as weak as a kitten, and, the work being laborious, I could not keep going. Matters were about at their worst, when the overseer went over to Bourke, and returned with some Clements Tonic for the men, and I give you my word after I had taken but one bottle I felt a different being entirely. The headaches that I had beforehand were enough to destroy one's happiness; but, besides, I had most of those wretched symptoms which usually accompany indigestion. To begin with, by chest felt quite clogged up. I felt as if I had been beaten with a stick—sore and aching. Again, under the blades of my shoulders there were sharp, pricking, sensations as if a needle were at work. When getting out of bed of a morning I would have to hold on to it to steady myself, the dizziness being so great. My weight was disappearing in a most alarming manner, and I dread to think of what would have happened had not Clements Tonic made its timely appearance, through the kindness of our overseer?"

"He had probably used it himself on some previous occasion?" hazarded the writer.

"He said so, and swore by it. There is no medicine in the world to equal Clements Tonic, he used to say, and, my word, he was right; for it fixed us up splendidly. Its purifying effects on my blood cannot be too highly spoken of. I began to eat more freely and regularly under Clements Tonic's influence, and the retching after meals became a thing of the past. And if Clements Tonic cannot cure indigestion quicker than anything else, I'm a Dutchman. Whenever I meet a person suffering in any particular like I did myself, I just tell them what I know Clements Tonic can do, as in my case. Publish this any way you please."

QUEBEC TERCENTENARY.

THE RECENT CELEBRATIONS.

The celebrations in connection with the tercentenary of Quebec were really entered upon on July 23. The previous day the Prince of Wales had arrived in the Indomitable, and had been accorded an enthusiastic welcome by the ancient capital of Canada.

CHAMPLAIN DAY.

The Thursday was Champlain Day, the ceremonial being in honour of the founder of the city. Shortly before 3 o'clock the Don de Dieu, a facsimile of the vessel in which Champlain crossed the Atlantic, rounded Point St. Joseph, and sailed to the landing-place at Finlay Market Wharf. Champlain, who was represented by Sheriff Langelier, and the members of the crew were garbed in the costume of 300 years ago. After visiting the Abitation de Quebec, a reproduction of the first building constructed by Champlain there, an historical procession was formed, and Mr. Langelier and his men were escorted to the foot of the statue of the founder of Quebec on Dufferin-terrace. This historical procession consisted of 16 groups illustrative of certain periods of Canadian history and of French epochs pertaining to Canada, the characters being clad in the costumes of their times. Two stands had been erected on each side of the monument for the convenience of the official visitors and other distinguished guests. The Place d'Armes, which the statue faces, was a blaze of bunting.

The Prince arrived at 4 o'clock, and was received and welcomed by the Mayor, who also presented his Highness with an address. After replying to it, the Prince turned to the representatives of the United States and France, and said:—"The King, whose earnest desire is always to promote the best and closest relations between the nations, has specially desired me, as his representative, to convey to you, Mr. Vice-President of the United States, and to you, M. l'Amiral, and your colleagues, not only a hearty welcome, but also a warm expression of thanks both to you and to your Governments for your presence on this auspicious occasion. Your attendance is not merely an indication of your interest in the proceedings attending the celebration of the Tercentenary; it is an outward and visible sign of the friendship, concord, and goodwill between ourselves and the great countries you represent with so much distinction. We think to-day of the United States as having set an example of energy and courage in conquering and cultivating forests and boundless prairies which now yield harvests of illimitable wealth. We think of France as the giver of the man whose greatest deed we are here to celebrate, one of the first of those heroes who found his way from the Old World to the New, and left an imperishable name. We recognise that the presence of representatives of France and the United States among us testifies to the growth of the spirit of friendliness between the nations. On that spirit the progress of humanity largely depends; in it, I hope and believe, true progress will express itself more and more during the years to come. The high ideal of universal peace and brotherhood may be far from realisation, but every act that promotes harmony among the nations points the way towards its attainment. This celebration is such an act, for it appeals to Canada, to the British Empire, and to the whole civilised world. I therefore rejoice to be here to take my part with you, during these memorable days, in paying homage to Champlain and in doing honour to Quebec."

REVIEW BY THE PRINCE.

The military review on the Plains of Abraham on the Friday was unquestionably the most imposing and inspiring display of the kind ever witnessed in Canada. The scene was the site of one of the most famous battles of the world. The monument which marks the spot where Wolfe fell and the mound on which Montcalm received his death-wound were full in sight. Behind that one saw the Citadel. Directly in front was the grand stand, built to accommodate some thousands of spectators, while the broad plain stretched across to the cliffs beneath which run the waters of the St. Lawrence. Beyond the great river were the mountains, dimly blue in the distance and topped by bright clouds piled along the horizon. The monuments of history planted amid splendid scenery lay under the most favourable conditions of land and sky. Around the plain were multitudes of people occupying every point of vantage, and thrilled with enthusiasm at the great national celebration and the illustration of Canada's growing place in the world.

The Prince of Wales, escorted by a detachment of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, left the Citadel and proceeded to the review ground over the full length of the plains, stopping on his way at Wolfe's monument. Here were drawn up the British Army and Navy veterans from Boston, Massachusetts, and from Quebec. Dismounting, the Prince deposited at the base of the monument a wreath to the memory of the hero of 1759. Then he continued his journey, and on arrival at the parade ground at once began the inspection, attended by the Governor-General and Lord Roberts, who carried his Field-Marshal's baton, and surrounded by a brilliant staff.

THE BATTLEFIELDS FUND.

Then followed the short ceremonial which marked the culmination of the splendid inspiration of Lord Grey for the nationalisation of the battlefields. The Prince, addressing his Excellency, said:—

"It affords me the greatest pleasure to hand over to your Excellency, as the representative of the Crown in Canada, the sum of 450,000dol. (£90,000), which, through the patriotism of British citizens in all parts of Canada and the Empire, and the generosity of French and American sympathisers, has been entrusted to me, in order that the historic battlefields of Quebec, on which two contending races won equal and imperishable glory, may be acquired for the people of the Dominion and preserved, under the special supervision of the Sovereign, as a permanent shrine of union and peace. I place in your hands, as the representative of the Sovereign, the charge of this sacred ground, which it is my pleasure to be able to present to you on the 300th birthday of Quebec as a gift to the people of Canada and of the Crown."

THE MARCH PAST.

The Prince then took up a position at the saluting post with the Governor-General, Lord Roberts, and General Otter, for the march past, which immediately began. First came a fine detachment of French sailors, preceded by the band of the Leon Gambetta, who were received with great enthusiasm. At once followed the band of the New Hampshire with 300 United States sailors. With a midshipman bearing the Stars and Stripes, they made a most effective appearance, and were welcomed with equally hearty applause.

Then began what perhaps most thrilled the spectators among the events of the day—a sight illustrating Great Britain's naval power which is too seldom seen in Canada. Company after company, headed by their admirals and officers, 2500 British sailors filed past the Prince and the spectators. The special compliments paid by Lord Roberts to two Canadian regiments, the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, of Kingston, and the Queen's Own Rifles, of Toronto, by his heading them in the march past, evoked unbounded enthusiasm. The time employed in passing the saluting post was nearly two hours. The review closed with a gallop by the Candian Field Artillery across the full length of the Plains.

NAVAL REVIEW.

On Saturday, the Prince reviewed the assembled warships of Great Britain, France, and the United States. A Royal salute from the Citadel announced the departure of his Royal Highness for the King's Wharf. Crowds of people again thronged the streets, and cheered vociferously. A launch quickly conveyed the Prince and his party to the Arrogant, the vessel selected to pass down the lines, which immediately hoisted the Royal Standard. The warships were all dressed for the occasion, and presented a magnificent sight. As the Arrogant left her anchorage the vessels of the three nations thundered forth a Royal salute of 21 guns in honour of the Heir Apparent. The Prince's vessel moved slowly up river, followed by the Dominion cruisers Lady Grey, Druid, and Frontenac. As the Arrogant came abreast of each British vessel the strains of the National Anthem were heard, and the sailors and marines sent up cheer after cheer. The Arrogant turned opposite Wolfe's Cove and came down the line between the vessels assembled. The greetings of the New Hampshire were not less cordial than those of the British vessels. Again the National Anthem was heard, and the American tars cheered lustily for England's future King. The last vessels to be reached were the Leon Gambetta and the Amiral Aube. It seemed as if the representatives of the great Republic were determined to outdo, if possible, the greetings of the other vessels to the Prince. The French sailors evidently appreciate the cordiality of their reception in Quebec, and they showed it by the enthusiastic manner in which they cheered the Prince.

THE PAGEANT.

In the afternoon his Royal Highness repaired to the enclosure on the Plains, in front of which the pageant performances have taken place.

It was a glorious afternoon, and the scene, as witnessed from the grand stand, will live long in the memory of those who were privileged to see it. Scene after scene from the early pages of Canadian history, from Champlain's time to 1759, was unfolded to the eye. It is questionable whether any spectacle in the world could equal it; certainly none could excel it. It is impossible to do justice to the rapid succession of brilliant historic scenes. The culmination of the performance was reached when up came from Wolfe's Cove, marching side by side, the armies of Wolfe and Montcalm, headed by the representatives of the two generals whose names will ever be indelibly associated with the history of Canada.

THE CHURCHES.

The Vicar-General (Archdeacon Gunther) preached at the Cathedral on Sunday. On Monday he took part in the service of intercession, and also presided at a meeting of the Church Society. On Tuesday he presided over a meeting of ladies in the Chapter House, in connection with the Church Society, and on Wednesday addressed church workers at Sherwood. On Thursday he presided over a conference on the church and the masses, presided over a meeting of the rites committee, and attended St. Paul's College council meeting.

A mission church has been erected at Long Bay, and will be opened by the Rev. H. Wallace Mort, rural dean.

The monthly meeting of the Church Society committee was held in the Chapter House on Monday last. The Vicar-General was in the chair. There was a good attendance of members, including the hon. secretaries, Rev. S. S. Tovey, and Mr. W. L. Docker, and the organising secretary. The increased Trinity offerings and the women's special effort have enabled the committee to continue the grants this year at the same rate as last year. It was agreed to transfer the church building, formerly used at the Cataract Dam (Appin parish), to Clarence, on the western line, for use amongst the men engaged on the deviation work on the Zig-zag.

The question of bringing together the Church and the masses was the subject of a conference of Church of England clergymen at the Chapter House on Thursday. The Vicar-General, who presided, admitted that the Church had not always shown practical sympathy with the aspirations of the people, and the spirit of brotherhood was too often wanting; hence there was an estrangement and alienation. The clergy must get to know and trust the people. They should promote clubs, guilds, and societies, to be managed by the men, the clergy to be simply helpers. Good literature about the Churches' work should be circulated, especially that dealing with the formation of English character. But God's remedy in the Gospel was the most efficacious remedy. There must be personal dealing and personal influence exercised. There must be outdoor and special services for men, at which there should be bright and attractive singing, with short addresses. They needed a general mission of help such as was recently held in South Africa, when eminent clergymen went out from England to assist. Addresses were delivered by Rev. E. C. Beck, of St. John's, Darlinghurst, Rev. E. Colvin, of Dulwich Hill, and Rev. E. Statham, of Eastwood, all of whom have had experience in the East End of London, and also by Canon Hough, Revs. D'Arcy Irvine, Prince, Moberly, Langley, and Priest, of Melbourne. Many of the speakers expressed themselves in favour of a mission for men. It was also felt that the classes, as well as the masses, should be appealed to.

The new Church of England, St. John's, Woolwich, the foundation stone of which his Excellency Sir Harry Rawson laid on the 30th of May last, has been completed, and on Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the Vicar-General (Ven. Archdeacon Gunther) is to dedicate it.

In the School of Arts, Hornsby, on Thursday evening, a social gathering of the parishioners of Wahroonga and Hornsby was held, for the purpose of welcoming back to the parish the rector (Rev. Langford Smith), after his recent illness. During the evening the rector was presented with a cheque for £60 as an expression of the kindly feeling of the parishioners towards himself and Mrs. Smith, and for the purpose of enabling them to take a holiday trip.

A visit will shortly be received from Colonel Hammond, who was formerly an officer in the Salvation Army, in this State, and has since been in Africa and London, and acted as resident secretary for India. He represents the General on a special mission.

Stanmore Baptist Junior Christian Endeavour celebrated its anniversary on Monday last, a good programme of solos, choruses, action songs, and recitations being carried out. The secretary reported that toys, books, garments, and groceries had been distributed among the poor and needy, and the treasurer's statement showed that £2 had been donated to foreign missions, £7 to home missions, most of the money being the result of self-denial pennies.

An important meeting of the Methodist Board of Missions was held on Wednesday afternoon, when it was decided to call a special meeting for the 22nd to finalise arrangements for commencing the new mission to India. The Rev. W. Williams, president of the General Conference, and Rev. Dr. Fitchett will, it is anticipated, be present. The board is making arrangements for a special appeal for the £1500 required towards the new missionary vessels for New Guinea and the Solomons. The need, as was pointed out in this column, is an urgent one.

Rev. S. V. Cock was ordained in Stanmore Methodist Church on Wednesday evening. The president of the conference (Rev. B. Danks) conducted the service, and Rev. J. Penman and several ex-presidents united in the imposition of hands. The church was crowded, as considerable interest was shown in the ordination.

News has been received from New Britain that after 11 days' severe illness the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sprott, Methodist missionaries at Musa, died there. General sympathy is expressed for her parents. Mrs. W. W. Danks, wife of the well-known New Britain missionary, arrived at Sydney last Monday. For some time past she has suffered severely from the ravages of the climate. News from the Solomons shows that the health of Rev. R. C. Nicholson has suffered on account of over-exposure, and that he is likely to return to Australia. Rev. J. F. Goldie, chairman of the Solomon Islands, has returned after rendering valuable service as a missionary deputation in several States.

The annual meetings of the Congregational Union have been fixed for October 19 to 24. On the Tuesday evening, the chairman, Rev. M. L. Johnson, B.A., will deliver his address. The morning sessions are devoted to the consideration of papers on "Fellowship," by Rev. Cunliffe Jones, "Congregationalism and Home Missions" by the home mission superintendent, and "Sunday School Work." The afternoon session will be devoted to business. The new Congregational church at Randwick will be opened on the afternoon of Saturday, October 24, the last day of the Congregational Union meetings. Plans and specifications have been prepared of the new Congregational school church at Cessnock. It is expected that building operations will commence with the next fortnight. The church is designed to seat about 150.

The Rev. Stanley Morrison closes his ministry at the Congregational Church, Katoomba, to-morrow, and will begin his ministry at Brown-street, Newcastle, to-morrow week. Last week a meeting was held at Kurri, presided over by the Rev. L. B. Fletcher, when a movement was initiated to enlarge the church building. The total cost of the extension will be about £140, and it is expected that the money will be raised before the work is commenced next month.

During the week a convention has been held in the large hall of the Y.M.C.A. under the auspices of the Sydney Convention Band. This band consists of a number of clergymen and laymen of various Protestant denominations, who are banded together to seek for themselves and to promote among others spiritual life—to give practical effect to the command of Scripture, "Be ye holy." The chairman is Canon Jones (at present absent in England), and the secretary the Rev. H. G. J. Howe. Meetings were held each afternoon and evening, when addresses were given by Rev. Dr. Porter (who presided throughout), the Revs. Canon Bellingham, G. O. Cocks, D. H. Dillon, Nelson Howard, D. J. Knox, M'Quade (chaplain, H.M.S. Powerful), D. Morgan, J. H. Mullens, W. R. Poole, W. M. Smith, and John Southey. Friday was missionary day, when Messrs. Barber and Allen (missionaries on furlough from China and Bolivia respectively) spoke. The Convention Band feel that a great need exists at the present day for Christians to take a more definite stand on the matter of scriptural holiness; to repudiate the worldliness and formality so rife in organised Christianity; and to practise as well as preach the precepts of Christ. This practically was the keynote of the convention just held. The unity of the Church was amply seen in the platform of the convention.

The Rev. Percy Hope, B.A., has visited the Annandale, Petersham, and Parramatta charges in the interests of the Presbyterian professorship endowment fund with considerable success. At the end of August the funds stood at about £9000, of which £7231 had been paid.

On Tuesday next the seventeenth annual convention of the New South Wales Christian Endeavour Union will begin at the Bathurst-street Baptist Church. The whole of the arrangements have been completed by a strong committee, with Mr. G. W. Pettit as secretary, and judging by the enthusiasm shown the committee's expectation of the "best yet" will be realised. The opening meeting is the council meeting, when the reports will be presented and the officers elected. The president is elected a year ahead, and the Rev. W. W. Roger will hold that office next year. A series of Bible readings will be given by Rev. W. D. M'Laren, M.A., on the afternoons of Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, on "How to Read the Bible, Devotionally, Intelligently, and Topically." Junior work will be discussed on Wednesday afternoon, under the presidency of Mrs. W. Ardill, and in the evening there will be a public meeting in the Pitt-street Congregational Church, at which the president (Rev. R. B. S. Hammond) will deliver his annual address. Missions, home and foreign, will occupy attention on Thursday afternoon, and addresses will be given by Miss Inglis (India), Mrs. Lyons (China), Mr. H. Whyte, and Mr. Easy. An Endeavourers' conference will be held at the Y.M.C.A. Hall in the evening, and subjects concerning the better working of the societies and local unions will be considered. On Friday afternoon addresses on "The Endeavourer's Daily Life" will be given, and in the evening the united consecration service will be held in the Town Hall. The sermon will be preached by Rev. G. T. Walden, M.A. The junior rally will take place in the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon, at which the juniors will render action songs and exercises. A good citizenship meeting will conclude the convention, the City Temple, Campbell-street, being the meeting-place, at 7.30, followed by an open-air demonstration in George-street at 8.30. The temperance and gambling questions will be the subjects of the addresses. The convention choir, under Mr. J. J. Virgo, will assist at the evening meetings of the convention.

Cardinal Gibbons, on his journey to London to take part in the Eucharistic Congress in September, arrived in Rome, accompanied by a large party of American prelates, including Archbishop Farley, of New York, who is carrying £40,000 to the Pope as a jubilee offering. This is the largest sum ever presented to the Pontiff by a single Archbishop. Cardinal Gibbons is credited with a project to obtain from the Pope the creation of at least another American Cardinal.

THE AFFLICTED CHILDREN.

A GREAT DAY OUT.

Clifton Gardens was the scene yesterday of an interesting gathering—the entertainment of the children of the New South Wales Institution for the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind, by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Simpson, who for so long have shown a deep interest and sympathy for these youngsters. Under the charge of the Superintendent (Mr. S. Watson), and the teaching staff of the institution, some 130 children were conveyed to the rendezvous by special steamer, and spent an enjoyable day. Prior to landing, a trip was made round the various bays, and on leaving the children were conveyed up the Parramatta River.

Mrs. Morris Simpson was assisted in amusing the youngsters by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, including Lady Harris and other members of the committee of the institution, and succeeded so well that it is safe to say the day will be a red-letter one in the memories of the children. Every class of amusement was provided—swings, etc—and there was great paddling in the shallow waters of the bay. All were entertained at luncheon, and later with afternoon tea. Finally each child was the happy recipient of a handsome toy, boxes of sweetmeats, and other confections. One little girl, deaf, dumb, and blind, and only seven years of age, had a happy, smiling face, showing that she was able to understand what was meant. This child has only been in the institution for six months, yet, under the excellent system of tuition adopted there, she can already spell 200 words. Her sense of feeling enables her to correctly tell the object with which she toys—a pair of eye-glasses, for instance, were at once recognised, and conveyed by the child to the face of their owner. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Simpson and their daughters, all of whom were indefatigable in their efforts, were successful in giving the children the first big outing they have enjoyed for the last 13 years. The presents included tennis, cricket, and croquet sets, and footballs for the institution.

LUNCH ON THE PERICLES.

THE NEEDS OF THE PORT.

At the invitation of Dalgety and Co., Ltd., and Captain Alexander Simpson, a large number of gentlemen gathered at luncheon yesterday on board the twin-screw steamer Pericles, lying at Miller's Point. The function was held to mark the first departure of the vessel from Sydney for London, which takes place to-day.

Mr. J. M. Paxton, chairman of the shipping sectional committee of the Chamber of Commerce, proposed the health of George Thompson, Ltd., and success to the Pericles. He traced the history of the firm back to when they built their boat in 1828, the Childe Harold, a vessel of 116 tons. Late in the forties or early in the fifties the firm sent their first sailing ship to Sydney, and in 1881 their first steamer, the Aberdeen. She was 3684 tons gross, and was the first steamer to be fitted with triple expansion engines. Their latest boat, the Pericles, was 10,925 tons gross, and had quadruple-expansion engines. The owners should be congratulated on their magnificent steamer, and he hoped they would be rewarded by the merchants and traders of Australia. However, while the shipowners had been doing everything to help the merchants the port authorities had not done very much. Although the steamers had been considerably improved, very little had been done to increase the floor space of the wharfs, so that cargo could be handled as expeditiously as it should be. It was necessary if these large steamers were to be despatched quickly that they should have proper wharfage facilities which at present were not available. A great deal of time would also be saved if the Customs authorities would pass entries for goods on a steamer the day before she arrived, taking the declaration of the agent, instead of waiting for the declaration of the captain. If this were done the cargo could be moved directly the ship arrived, instead of it being kept lying about the wharf as at present while the papers were being fixed up.

M. T. Knox, of Dalgety and Co., Ltd., in responding, said that he was glad to see that the efforts of the owners were appreciated. Referring to the plea of Mr. Paxton for more wharf space, he was sure that proper facilities would be afforded them in good time. All that was wanted was a little consideration on both sides.

Captain Green proposed the health of Captain Simpson and the officers of the Pericles. Captain Simpson, in a happy speech, responded, and paid a high tribute to the builders of the steamer. He could not wish for a better vessel.

RHEUMATISM.

is caused by the Uric Acid, instead of being carried off as a waste product in the natural way, entering the blood, which takes it to different parts of the body. Should it touch a weak spot the Uric Acid is deposited, and entering the joints or muscles sets up the pain so well known by sufferers from Rheumatism. In order to effect a cure this Uric Acid must be removed and expelled.

There are three forms of Rheumatism known to medical science, viz.:—

1st. Acute Rheumatism, which attacks the membrane that lines the joints. It frequently attacks the heart, and there are a greater number of deaths from this source than is generally known.

2nd. Chronic Rheumatism. This form is not so painful as the first-mentioned, but is more persistent and more difficult to remove.

3rd. Muscular Rheumatism, or, as the name denotes, Rheumatism of the Muscles. It takes the form of severe Neuralgia, and though at the onset a dull pain, it increases in severity until every movement causes agony, and sleep is out of the question. The attacks sometimes last a few days, or may extend to several weeks, according to the severity of the attack or the treatment used.

Laxo-Tonic Pills act directly on the Uric Acid, completely dissolving it and thus enabling it to be carried out of the system in solution. Take one Laxo-Tonic Pill every night, and in some cases the dose may be increased to two with advantage.

To keep Horses in good condition.

MR. THOMAS WALKER, Melbourne, writes:—

"I have tried Sunlight Oil Cake and I consider it a capital food for working horses, and, in my opinion, no one should be without it."

MR. C. CARTWRIGHT, Bathurst, writes:—

"I bought some horses, aged and very low in condition. By judicious treatment and the use of your Sunlight Oil Cake, they gained renewed vigor, and Sunlight Oil Cake kept them in fine condition."

MR. ARNOLD FERRY, Adelaide and Calcutta, writes:—

"I have used Sunlight Oil Cake on land and water, finding it especially good for putting condition on poor horses. It keeps them well in every way, especially when travelling by sea, where I have used it constantly on my trip to India."

MR. FRANCIS CAMPBELL, Petersham, writes:—

"I can strongly advise anyone who studies his own interest in feeding Sunlight Oil Cake to horses. They improve quickly in appearance and become very fond of it."

MR. J. B. BAXTER writes:—

"I have a horse which gets 1lb. of Sunlight Oil Cake a day, one-third of which is given him each feed with chaff. He is sleek and fat, and admitted to be the best conditioned horse about."

SUNLIGHT OIL CAKE has a higher feeding unit value than bran, pollard, or maize, and it has more than double the feeding unit value of chaff.

SUNLIGHT OIL CAKE is a food concentrated to such a point that a little will be more satisfying than a larger quantity of common fodder.

As SUNLIGHT OIL CAKE increases its bulk by about six times when moisture is added, it is a safer plan to give it to horses in a mash with a handful of salt added, and mixed with other foods. A little at first crumbled in the hand and mixed with the dry chaff will get the animal accustomed to it.

WHAT SCIENCE MAY DO.

THE ARTESIAN WATER PROBLEM.

In referring to the urgent problem of settlement and development, in which he has always shown a shrewd, practical interest, the late Governor-General, in his farewell speech, emphasised the value of our second-class lands, and, no doubt, his remarks, and the experiments being conducted in dry farming, will cause many people to look in that direction for relief. While recognising the possibilities of the future, it must not be forgotten that the solution of our land hunger will not be found in the development of inferior land, at least for many years. We have in this State a vast area of fertile land as yet untouched by the plough which is capable of supporting an immense population, and it is to the development of this that all our attention should be given. The necessity for increased population is so urgent that the element of risk must be eliminated as far as possible. Settlers, both local and from other countries, must be placed upon safe lands, where they can be confidently expected to remain and prosper.

In the natural course of time the margin of cultivation will necessarily extend, but we shall be repeating an expensive mistake of the past if we endeavour to interfere rashly with that course. The incidents of our past land history have resulted in this being done to a far too great an extent already, and consequently we have our railways running for miles through practically undeveloped country, which means a loss of revenue to the State and increased freight rates to settlers whom circumstances have placed so far away from the markets. The most prosperous condition would be the gradual march of close settlement, and intense cultivation from the edges of our great centres, outwards. As it is, there are even in the county of Cumberland, thousands of acres at the present time capable of carrying a much heavier settlement, and yielding a greater return. In fact, the possibilities of closer settlement at the very door of our capital city will very soon compel attention. As we pass out over the range, the same condition is constantly met. In almost every country town the natural order is reversed, and settlement generally found outside of an immediate ring of undeveloped country. Until this is all altered our inland towns can never achieve the prosperity and self-reliance that go to make a strong country. Until this is altered there is no necessity to talk of placing our settlers on second-class lands beyond the margin of safe cultivation.

The fertile south and north coast districts can both carry hundreds of settlers more. Cumberland can do the same with a system of intense culture and irrigation; the rich north-west is as yet almost untouched; while, with water from Barren Jack and the Murray, the prolific Riverina holds prospects equal to the famous irrigation centres of California. Till these ends have been achieved it is premature to consider inferior lands in connection with closer settlement, and this fact should be ever kept prominently in mind. While this is the case, it does not prevent us from dwelling upon, and even revelling in, the greatness that seems to await this country in the future with the aid of science. There is probably no country in the world where such fascinating prospects exist, given wise and enterprising government, with, perhaps, just a touch of daring, as Australia; no State more than our own.

In the region of conjecture there is an immediate factor that arrests attention—that is, artesian water. The reading public is aware of the progress of the investigations made by Mr. R. S. Symmonds into the possibilities of artesian irrigation. While the successful results obtained in the laboratory have yet to be demonstrated as feasible in the arena of practical cultivation, prospects so far are most promising. As is well known, the utility of artesian water is in the majority of instances offset by the presence of certain salts, which make the water unfit for purposes of irrigation, and Mr. Symmonds has devoted his attention to the problem of not only altering this, but making these salts useful to plant life. His scheme is to neutralise the objectionable effects of the carbonate of soda that is usually responsible for the deleterious effect of this water upon plant life, by converting it into nitrate of soda by the addition of nitric acid. To obtain the nitric acid, which is a very dear article at present, costing £32 per ton in Sydney, he proposes to use the power from the bore pressure to produce electro-chemical nitric acid from the atmosphere. It is a fascinating scheme, yet does not appear improbable. Nitric acid is similarly being obtained in Europe at a cost of £8 3s 6d per ton. If Mr. Symmonds's plan is practicable, the cost of raw material and power is—nothing! In New South Wales and Queensland alone the pressure of the bores now running would give, according to Mr. Gibbons Cox, C.E., applied to a 3ft Pelon wheel, 33,486 horse-power. As has been pointed out, it is simply a question of plant, working expenses, and intelligent supervision. At present that vast power is mostly unused and wasted. As regards the effect upon the artesian soil of nitric acid, the results obtained by Mr. Symmonds with pot culture are most satisfactory. Experiments on a larger scale are now in hand at the Moree Experimental Farm, and will be watched with interest. So far as they have progressed the results are convincing and even startling.

Should Mr. Symmonds's work reach practical reality, contemplation of the possible results is almost staggering. The estimated area of the artesian basin is 364,160,000 acres, of which 53,110,000 acres are in this State. It is now generally accepted that the soil in arid districts is unquestionably rich when supplied with sufficient water. The rainfall is insufficient to carry the soluble compounds formed in the weathering of the soil mass into the country drainage, and these compounds remain and accumulate in the soil. If nitric acid can be obtained as simply as is hoped, and has the looked-for effect upon the artesian water, with the result that it becomes sweet and useful, the outcome would be to convert these millions of barren acres into fertile, productive lands. It is impossible to calculate what the flow of water might be. In California many wells are within fifteen feet of one another, and have been flowing continuously for sixteen years. In this State it is reckoned that only few of the bores are within five miles of each other. Assuming that it is possible some day to cultivate, by a sure supply of irrigated water, only half that fifty-three million acres in our State, we can see possible not only an unexampled era of prosperity but a gradual and complete change in the physical condition of this country.

With such a vast area covered with green crops, trees, and vegetation, and intersected with running streams under a hot sun, the tremendous evaporation that must consequently follow should have a resultant effect upon climatic conditions, even to entirely changing the environment. Not only would great cities spring into existence by reason of the surrounding production, but their prosperity would be intensified owing to the presence of a great natural motive power, that would revolutionise the cost of manufacture, and bring unparalleled opportunities within reach of the industrial world. The waste desert lands of our continent would become, not only a Garden of Eden but one of the wealthiest spots on the face of the globe. The history of our Commonwealth would have to be rewritten, and our landmarks changed. Little wonder is it that the scheme has been described as fascinating, for it seems more like a romance than a sound proposition. Yet so far it has promised to be sound, and appears practicable enough to engage the attention of the Governments of New South Wales, Queensland, and South Australia.

While such possibilities must ever be full of interest, they are of the future. For the present we must keep our minds upon the development of the land that we know, and leave the problem of second-class, inferior, and barren lands, to further investigation, while devoting ourselves to the more vital necessity of bringing our fertile lands under speedy settlement. Meantime, in the matter of defence, social and industrial conditions, our statesmen have problems to handle requiring skill and wisdom if the happiness of our people is to be assured, but for Australians who wish to serve their country truly and well there is no greater field to be found for the exercise of their patriotism than in the internal development of this land of magnificent possibilities.

ITEMS.

How to keep their trees clean and free from disease is a vital matter with fruit-growers. In this connection Mr. G. A. Jones, of Bomaderry, writes that he has found one tablet of Sunlight soap sliced up into two gallons of water and boiled until dissolved, and nearly cold, then sprayed on the trees in the afternoon, when the sun is not too hot, very effective.

THE WOOL TRADE.

MARKING TIME.

A moderate volume of business has been transacted by private treaty during the week. In the absence of auctions the wools available have practically been confined to passed-in lots from last week's series, and to local skin wools. There has been no material change in values, and buyers generally have been marking time. In some cases, passed-in lots from the last catalogues were cleared at a slight advance on auction bids, while there has been a fairly active inquiry for local skin wools at a parity with the rates ruling last week. The recent rains in the country have been benefitting the pastures, slowing down the shearing, and steadying the volume of wool coming to market. These are fortunate factors at the present juncture, for although there is a good demand for well-grown wool the position for the time being is one of hesitancy. The world's trade is as yet not too good. There has been some improvement in some industries, but not sufficient as yet to give heart to the textile trades and set the mills spinning at high pressure. The London wool sales are in sight, and pending the course of that series—or at any rate the opening tone—buyers on this side are inclined to go slow. Yesterday's Brisbane sales were being awaited with interest. Moderate offerings, then, in the meantime, such as will be made in Sydney next week, are eminently suited to the occasion. About 11,000 bales will be catalogued; mainly from the north-western slopes and plains, with one or two lots from the south and Queensland. The selection promises to be a fairly good one, and the quantity not beyond present demands. A rather healthy sign appeared in yesterday's London cables announcing an improvement of from par to /0¼ in combing skins, an improvement in pelts of /0½, and a rise in half-woolled skins of /0¼. That is a tell-tale straw floating on the current of events that is at least going in the direction so ardently desired by all engaged in wool-growing and wool-selling. It also indicates a somewhat healthier tone in manufacturing circles. How greatly this return of confidence is needed is known in the trade too well. At this time last year wool was coming to hand very freely, and at the sales corresponding to those arranged for next week 23,319 bales were catalogued and 20,816 bales cleared at auction. The rates ruling were fully 10 per cent. above the rulings of the corresponding series of the previous year for all but short, burry, and otherwise faulty wools. Since then there has been a great shrinkage in values, and the rulings now are within the region of 30 to 33 per cent. below the rates current 12 months ago. Any tendency, therefore, that prevents any slipping back, or aids any step forward, is to be welcomed by the whole world from the wool-grower to the people who use woollen goods. There is no gain in stagnation or retrogression, and as wool supplies show no sign of increasing beyond the demand, the least that can be hoped for is a maintenance of present values.

INTERSTATE PROSPECTS.

Catalogues aggregating upwards of 14,000 bales were expected to be offered in Brisbane yesterday, mostly new clip. Wool is arriving in moderate volume in Melbourne, and is being held for the regular series that open on October 12. Splendid rains have fallen in Victoria; the Wimmera and western districts have been specially favoured, and the outlook for the spring is now bright. In South Australia the grazing position is exceedingly good; most of the northern runs are assured of a good summer, and some of the abandoned runs are being restocked. Prospects for sheep-raisers in that State are very good at the present time. Wool has not gone forward too freely in Adelaide through the recent rains; good-sized catalogues, however, are expected for the opening sales of the current season.

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

During the past six week-days, according to the daily wool manifest, 15,875 bales have been received by mail, and 3206 by boat. There is still a material decrease by rail—through the rains—and a slight increase by boat. The combined receipts since the opening of the current statistical year amount to 80,886 bales, as compared with 94,670 for the corresponding period last year. The figures, showing receipts from the two sources, are as follow:—

	Bales.

BRADFORD TOPS.

According to our cable message of yesterday's date the Bradford top market was firm, and quotations for all counts were unchanged. At the corresponding period last year merino wool tops reached a high plane, super 60's and common 60's were quoted at 29d and 28d per lb respectively. These rates were maintained on the Bradford market from September 13 to the end of the following month. In November came the change, heavy offerings of wool in Australian markets began to be felt in buying circles, and values weakened. This was reflected in the top markets. At the opening of November merino tops declined ½d, followed by a fall of another ½d at the end of the first week, to be succeeded by a drop of a ½d by the middle of the month. At the end of the third week there was no change, but wool offerings continued heavy in primary markets, and by the close of the month tops dropped 2d per lb. Thus from the beginning to the end of November there was a fall of 3½d per lb. The money market became exceedingly stringent, and values continued to fall. How prices compare with yesterday's quotations for the past three years may be seen as follow:—

	Sept. 11, 1908.	Sept. 12, 1907.	Sept. 13, 1906.	Sept. 14, 1905.
Sixty-fours (merino)	23½	—	—	—
Super 60's (merino)	22½	29	26½	26½
Common 60's (merino)	21½	28	25½	25½
Forties (coarse xbd)	10½	16½	17½	16½

According to the "Observer" the Bradford market on August 6 last had very little of the holiday aspect about it, although business was, generally speaking, quiet. The actual business passing was of a retail character, but in the aggregate was sufficient to impart a firm tone to every department. Stocks were evidently small, and wherever spinners make purchases they are invariably to meet immediate wants. In merinos this was notably the case, and quite a number of small transactions had been put through that week. In crossbreds, wool was perhaps better to sell than tops, but prices were quite steady.

WOOL SHIPMENTS.

Since last week's review five vessels have cleared the Sydney Customs for the United Kingdom and the Continent, with an aggregate of 15,919 bales, making a total for over-ocean ports for the season to date of 64,337 bales. On Tuesday last the Pericles cleared from Newcastle with 719 bales, making a total of 1526 since July 1 last from that port. The total shipments and transhipments for the United Kingdom and foreign ports from July 1 last are as follow:—

	Bales.
Persic, September 4, for London	2,439
Yorck, September 5, for Bremen	4,704
Ormuz, September 5, for London	1,294
Polyphemus, September 6, for London	5,422
Dumbea, September 7, for Marseilles	2,060
Total since last review	15,919
Corresponding period last year	47,341
Increase	18,522
Transhipments since July 1 last	6,518

WESTERN LANDS.

CLOSER SETTLEMENT AT BOURKE.

The following information in connection with Mr. Bloxham's letter to the "Herald" of August 21 last has been forwarded by the Western Lands Commissioners for the information of the Minister for Lands:—"On August 14 last, in reply to an article by the Bourke correspondent, which appeared in the 'Sydney Morning Herald' of August 4, it was stated by the Western Lands Commissioners that the Bourke district once held more settlers of the comparatively small grazing class than any other part of the Western division, but now—for certain specific reasons given therein—it would be difficult to find even a score of original holders who have made a bare living by grazing off their land. Mr. Bloxham, in the 'Herald' of August 21, takes exception to this statement, and in support of his contention to the contrary supplied particulars—not published—of 48 lessees who have, he says, made more than a bare living off their lands.

"We have been permitted to peruse this list, and find that less than 30 of the lessees named are original holders or their descendants, and of these quite a considerable number had the additional use of other lands, the original holders of which had long since disappeared. With the extensive knowledge gained by Mr. Bloxham during the many years he has been acting as a private land agent at Bourke, it may be taken for granted that he has put the best possible aspect upon the position of the smaller holders in that district, but if his statement is accepted as sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes, even then a most deplorable state of things is shown to exist, as, according to his own figures, only about one-eighth of the small original holders survive. Mr. Bloxham's attempt to discount the statement that the bulk of the 7,000,000 acres brought under new Western lands leases had gone to small holders is scarcely worthy of consideration, when it is explained that the aggregate area leased in large blocks included nearly three-quarters of a million acres of abandoned country that had been unoccupied for many years, and his statement cannot be regarded as proof that we were opposed to smaller settlement, when it is shown that 380 applicants had been given leases averaging about 14,000 acres each. In connection with Mr. Bloxham's remarks with reference to the delay in dealing with applications, it is necessary perhaps to point out that the lands he refers to therein are not yet available for lease, and therefore are not open to application in the strict sense of the term. Upon the recommendation of the Commissioners, it is possible to render certain lands available for lease, but as to how this power should be exercised it is very evident from his attitude that Mr. Bloxham views the matter from quite a different standpoint to that taken up by the Commissioners."

PEEL RIVER ESTATE.

Mr. G. B. Gidley King (general superintendent, Peel River Land and M. Company, Limited, writes:—I have read with interest Mr. Wetherspoon's attempted justification of his utterances at the Farmers and Settlers' Association Conference, and regret that he had not published it before the debate in the Assembly upon the Peel River resumption. The excuse he gives for the delay is that beyond seeing the report in the press he knew nothing about it! The press report gave a resolution which characterised Mr. Wetherspoon's statements as being "reckless and grossly untrue." The excuse that such a resolution was not worth replying to because it only appeared in the public press is really unique. It becomes still more inexplicable when he goes on to explain that the report of his speech is untrue; the words he did use, he says, being "far less stinging" than those complained of. In fairness to my company, why could he not write to the press at once and say so? Why allow the matter to be considered in Parliament, with the "sting" still remaining?

Mr. Wetherspoon spoke at the conference in an official capacity, and he must have seen how his remarks were reported in the official organ of the association. Why, then, did he not write and make the remarks "far less stinging?" It seems to me that such would have been a fairer and more honourable course than to allow my company to suffer under this misreport. Again, why should he repeat anonymous rumours? It was his duty as a member of the Advisory Board to find out by investigation the real position of district farmers. Surely he did not frame the report on hearsay.

We may take it, I suppose, that the letter under reply is Mr. Wetherspoon's accurate and well-considered statement of his position. The original remark that Peel River tenants were only waiting for their leases to expire, and would then hand them back to the company without exercising their purchase option, is based, he explains, on a hypothetical case put by Mr. Lord at the inquiry. Mr. Lord explained, in showing how advantageous were the terms of the company, that lessees could adopt such a course if they did not consider the land worth buying. In other words, as Mr. Lord admitted, the company took all the risks—if land went up in value they had to sell at the original price; if it depreciated it could be thrown back on their hands. He never stated that any tenant had the intention of doing so. This argument, then, which is all in favour of the company, is, by an utter disregard for facts, used by Mr. Wetherspoon to suggest that the Peel River land is poor and profitless.

In regard to his reported utterance that 80 per cent. of the tenants were "nearly up King-street," he explains that he really only stated this as something he had heard. He admits, however, he was foolish in using the remark where he did. With that, I suppose, the matter may rest, although it would have been better had he admitted that he would be foolish to use the remark anywhere, as it is quite incorrect.

Mr. Wetherspoon, in the face of these utterances, justifies his position as a member of the Closer Settlement Advisory Board by a remarkable argument, which is that there were two other men on the board of unimpeachable character. It is Mr. Wetherspoon's ability, not his character, that is under discussion. He seems to think that, however much he may be lacking, the other two representatives are solid enough to bring up the average to that of an efficient Advisory Board.

Now, Sir, though I trifle with these miserable arguments from Mr. Wetherspoon, the subject of the matter is an exceedingly grave one. Parliament has had before it a report framed by three men—one of these, and supposedly the practical man, is Mr. Wetherspoon. His standpoint should be apparent to all who have followed the discussion. In the question of price his opinion is biassed by statements which he admits were based on hearsay only. What fairness can my company expect from a price fixed under such conditions? His estimate of the value of Peel River land is, by the admissions in his present letter, regulated by the belief that 80 per cent. of the tenants are bankrupt, and that they will never complete their purchases. These opinions are altogether opposed to the facts. His method of fixing the price was, and he repeats it in his letter, that he was "fighting for the State and the people who make that State." On his own confession he was a fighting partisan, and not really an impartial assessor.

Mr. Wetherspoon's letter has been an aggravation of the original offence. My company has over half a million of money at stake. The question of the price it will receive largely depends upon the report of the Advisory Board. One of the men who composed that board is entirely mistaken in his facts, and is self-confessed as a partisan. Notwithstanding his assurance that his opinion may have had no effect upon this report, his position in regard to it cannot be disregarded. The report to be accepted as a true estimate of price should not have been influenced by a person who was prejudiced against my company, however noble the cause for which any member of the board may have contended.

DESTRUCTION OF NATIVE BIRDS.

"H. V. E." writes:—The most casual observer must be struck by the increasing scarcity of native birds, both in districts in which rabbit poison is but little used and those in which it is laid thickly. Many birds are migratory and pass with the spring to places which they left in winter for the warmer parts of the State; hence the wholesale destruction of native birds which occurs in rabbit-infested districts affects the others. Every bird which subsists chiefly on insects—or is insectivorous—should easily dispose of, say, 10 grubs, beetles, caterpillars, and other insects which are harmful to crops, pasture, vegetables, etc., in the course of a day, or 3650 in the year. It is therefore not difficult to predict the inevitable result of the decimation of our feathered friends, who keep the insect pests within bounds, and thus fulfil their part in the scheme of nature. Is not Australia laying the foundation of an insect plague—equally destructive as the rabbits, and one with which no human agency can effectively cope? The army of Bugong moths which some two years ago made its way from the dividing range to the sea—littering the beaches of the southern coast with its dead—owed its existence to the destruction of the native birds.

In 1905 the Government, which encourages the use and distribution of rabbit poison, and which is itself a breeder of rabbits on an enormous scale, saw fit to absolutely "protect" from destruction—save by rabbit poison—a large number of insectivorous birds, but the protection thus afforded is ineffectual. Some few years ago the Victorian Government set apart some large tracts of land, in which native birds are efficiently protected throughout the entire year, an example which is worthy of imitation if our bird fauna is to be saved from the fate which befel the dodo some two or three hundred years ago.

LANDS ADMINISTRATION.

Mr. Alex. W. Walker, Grafton-road, writes:—In January last I applied for a special lease for access to water, in the Armidale district. After due inquiry, the Lands Board recommended an area of about 100 acres, in order to allow me sufficient water for my stock. Much to my surprise, I received a refund voucher for the whole amount of the fees lodged, and a circular intimating that the Minister for Lands had refused the application owing to objections from the Pastures Protection Board. It is most remarkable that this board should enter an objection, after the Land Board had recommended my application when it had the opportunity to come in as a party to the proceedings when the application was being dealt with. Why did it choose to go direct to the Minister? Was it because it could not substantiate its objection? I am of the opinion that the officer of the Stock Branch does not even know the situation of the land. The land in question has been fenced off from the camping reserve (to which it belongs) for the last fifteen years. Travelling stock do not and never did use this part, but a big squatter does. My holding adjoining has no permanent water. That the Minister should consider objections lodged after open inquiry is an insult to the land board. I hope the Minister will see fit to reconsider his decision in this matter, and again refer it back to the land board for a strict and impartial inquiry.

PRESENTED TO THE STATE.

ADELAIDE.—Mr. Alick J. Murray, of Mount Crawford, who has decided to break up his stud of Jersey cattle, has presented Black Antimony, a typical Jersey bull, for which he paid £192 in England, to the Government, for the good of the country.

ADELAIDE SHOW.

ADELAIDE.—The Royal Agricultural Show was continued on Friday, when, despite dusty, threatening weather, it was estimated that 20,000 attended. Free admission was given to 6000 children from the Public and private schools in the morning; in addition to 5000 the previous day.

FRUITGROWERS' TROUBLES.

ADELAIDE.—The annual meeting of fruitgrowers under the presidency of Mr. G. R. Napean Smith was held on Friday. Mr. G. Sandow said that growers would never get a satisfactory price for their produce while they had brokers in London. The Commonwealth Government should deal with fruit and see it through. There ought to be a depot at the other end. The brokers must be kept entirely out of the business. During the last two years he had lost £900 over the export trade. Instead of a combine in London, South Australian growers should amalgamate and fight the position.

Mr. A. Douglas said that Covent Garden Jews secured thousands of pounds, and the Commercial Agent should visit the big cities and arrange for markets and distribution. All direct business should be done.

Mr. G. R. Laffer said that the Commerce Act was ridiculous, as it permitted the shipment of rubbish. It needed rigorous amendment.

The chairman said that they had tested a scheme for handling their own stuff in London. They had bumped up against vested interests, and had fallen in pretty hot.

BLACKLEG AT LOCKINVAR.

LOCHINVAR.—For a considerable time young cattle have been dying in a paddock which almost adjoins the town from a disease known as blackleg, but as there were no fatalities among the herds for a couple of months past it was thought that the scourge had disappeared. That is not so, however, for a couple of heifers have died from the disease during the current week.

DAIRYING.

WOLLONGONG.—This week the F. F. and I. Company and the Farmers' Co-operative Company have been blocking about half the milk from Unanderra, the yield of which has been increasing. Spring has not set in the grass yet, and showers are needed, as the ground is now fairly dry.

GUNDAGAI.—The local co-operative butter factory has decided to pay suppliers 1s per lb for last month. Supplies are rapidly increasing, cream being sent in a distance of over 25 miles. Nearly all the shares in the company have been paid up, and new shareholders are applying.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

GUNDAGAI.—A farm of 897 acres on Tumut River, nine miles from Gundagai, was offered at auction yesterday. The highest bid amounted to £6650, but the land was withdrawn.

NYNGAN.—There was only one bidder for the improvement lease of 5070 acres on Panjee holding, submitted at auction by the Crown land agent on Monday. James A. Draper was the purchaser at the upset annual rental, viz., £15 16s.

WEST WYALONG.—The rainfall recorded at West Wyalong does not nearly convey the full value of the fall, as the downpour in several parts of the district reached between 2½ and 3 inches. Fences which have been many years erected were in some instances washed away. Those showers were of great value in filling tanks, which had hitherto only collected small supplies.

SALE OF STATION PROPERTY.

BROKEN HILL.—Mootwingee station, north of Broken Hill, has been sold by R. Crawford to C. D. Hawson, through Dalgety and Co., for a good sum. The station covers 71,000 acres, and the sale includes about 400 head of cattle and some horses.

AGRICULTURAL SHOWS.

SOCIAL.

The last three weeks might well be called a period of "ceremonies," for scarcely a day has passed within that time without some public ceremony. Their character has been more or less official, and rendered especially attractive to the thousands of spectators by the prominence of the many naval and military men in evidence. No one can deny that they always attract a crowd. These functions are all more or less impressive. We should in Sydney be well versed in these "ceremonies," and we are, for the two most important events which characterised this week—the departure of Lord and Lady Northcote on Tuesday, and the arrival and swearing-in of our new Governor-General, the Earl of Dudley, on Wednesday—were admirably carried out. At the railway station everything was arranged in a dignified manner, much care having been bestowed by the authorities on the many details so necessary on such an occasion, and in the "farewell" impromptu reception both Lord and Lady Northcote found time to go round and bid each personal friend "good-bye." Again, on Wednesday, when thousands assembled in the Domain at the pavilion reserve to witness the swearing-in of the Earl of Dudley, nothing could have been more successful as a brilliant spectacle. A more glorious spring day could not have been desired, Nature having joined in adding to the beauty of the scene with a cloudless blue sky, bright sunshine, and the grass like an emerald green carpet. The white pavilion stood out well in this beautiful setting, and the festoons of greenery which adorned the canopy lent an extra beauty to the structure. No ladies were admitted into the pavilion, but those in the front of the reserved chairs included Miss Rawson in a biscuit-coloured chiffon face cloth, with cream lace vest and a hat with touches of vieux rose velvet. Lady Poore was in pale blue, with a white dust coat and a white hat. Lady Griffith, in black and white; the Misses Darley wore pale grey. Lady Barton, a black coat and skirt, and a blue toque; and the Lady Mayoress a black and white checked coat and skirt, with touches of pale blue. Mrs. Ashton was in white embroidered muslin. Mrs. Gould wore green crepe-de-chine trimmed with ribbon velvet to match; also Lady Salomons, Mrs. and Miss O'Connor, Mrs. J. Lane Mullins, Mrs. E. W. Knox and Miss Knox, Mrs. and the Misses Moore, Mrs. Donald Macintyre, Mrs. Dixson, Mrs. Macdonald, Mrs. G. B. Simpson, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Ashburton Thompson, Miss Consett Stephen and Miss Thea Stephen, and Mrs. E. W. O'Sullivan.

Lady Northcote before leaving Sydney gave an afternoon tea at Government House last Saturday afternoon, when her Excellency entertained in an informal way Lady Barton, Mrs. Wade, the Lady Mayoress, Lady Suttor, Mrs. Ashton, and the members of the executive committee who were connected with the presentation of the gold loving cup. Lady Northcote took the opportunity of again expressing her thanks and pleasure in the beautiful souvenir, which was on view in the drawing-room. To many of her personal friends Lady Northcote presented charming souvenirs. To the Lady Mayoress her Excellency gave a handsome enamel brooch in the form of a red fuchsia with green leaves, the petal drops being of diamonds. To another friend was given a beautiful sapphire and diamond ring, whilst a circle of diamonds was the gift to another. Some of Lady Northcote's beautiful china has also been left in Sydney as souvenirs, sets of afternoon tea cups and saucers having been sent to those whom her Excellency knew would value them. To last Monday's bride, Mrs. George Hughes (nee Miss Madge Suttor) a handsome tourmaline brooch, set with diamonds, was a wedding gift, and to another bride-elect—Miss Muffie Barton—Lady Northcote gave a beautiful pendant.

The members of the Royal Art Society held their annual ball at the Paddington Town Hall on Friday, September 4. The hall was artistically decorated for the occasion, and there was a large gathering of visitors, including the following debutantes:—Miss Gladys Lister-Lister (daughter of the president), in white crepe-de-chine over silver tissue, and lilies of the valley on the corsage and in the hair; Miss Muriel Smith, in white messaline and silver; Miss du Beus, in white ninon de soie with silver embroideries. Amongst others present were Mrs. Lister-Lister, in reseda green; Mrs. Stanton, black chiffon; Mrs. Hadfield, pale blue merveilleux; Mrs. Kenna, amethyst chiffon velours; Miss Morgan, pale blue satin and pink roses; Miss P. Simpson, green silk; Miss Muriel Hopkins, blue chiffon. Mrs. Tom Marshall went as "Nanoya," Miss Hadfield as the "Rose of Persia." Messrs. Lister-Lister (president), Oxnard Smith, T. Marshall, F. Coffee, G. Taylor, Hadfield, Goldfinch, Leslie Reynolds, Brinkley, Coleman, were also present.

On Thursday afternoon Miss Rawson held a drawing-room meeting at the State Government House, a large number of ladies having been invited to attend to discuss the advisability of forming pure milk depots in Sydney. The guests were received by Miss Rawson on the verandah, Captain Wilson, A.D.C., being in attendance, and after tea had been served those present assembled in the drawing-room. Amongst the many ladies present were Lady Darley and Miss Darley, Lady Fairfax and Miss Fairfax, the Lady Mayoress, Lady MacMillan, Mrs. J. T. Walker, Mrs. E. W. Knox, Mrs. MacCallum, Mrs. Gould, Mrs. W. Fairfax, Mrs. Russell French, Mrs. Macarthur Onslow, Mrs. Merivale, Mrs. Garland, Mrs. G. H. Reid, Mrs. E. Vickery, Mrs. Chris. Bennett, Mrs. E. Docker, Mrs. A. Lassetter, Mrs. Sly, Mrs. B. F. Marks, Mrs. MacCormick, Mrs. Hogue, Miss Prenter, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Hugh Dixson, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Rutter, Miss Margaret Harris, Mrs. Carew (N.Z.), Miss Rose Scott, and Mrs. Bromfield. There were also present Sir James Graham, Sir P. Sydney Jones, Professor Anderson Stuart, Dr. Mackellar, Dr. Mills, Dr. Blackburn, Mr. W. P. Faithfull, Dr. Mary Booth, and Dr. Grace Boelke. Apologies were received from the Lord Mayor, Lady Suttor, Dr. E. W. Fairfax, Dr. Purser, Mr. Wood, Dr. Clubbe, Mrs. Dangar, Mrs. Toohey, and Mrs. Kelly, all of whom were invited to the meeting, but were unable to attend.

Mrs. F. Aronson, who is leaving for Melbourne to-day, entertained a large number of friends at the Hotel Australia on Thursday afternoon, when she took the opportunity of wishing them good-bye before her departure for the southern capital, where she will in future reside. The visitors kept coming and going between 4 and 6 o'clock, and Mrs. Aronson was the recipient of many charming little souvenirs. One of these gifts was an "autograph" book, and those present were invited to inscribe their names in it, many adding a farewell wish or a happy thought. Some lovely flowers and a gold-mounted "Swan" pen were also amongst the presents. Mrs. Aronson was assisted in entertaining her friends by her married daughter, Mrs. Macphail. Amongst the visitors were Lady MacMillan, Mrs. W. Docker, Captain and Mrs. Moseley, Mrs. S. W. Moore and Miss Moore, Mrs. Alfred Lee, Mrs. Layton, Mrs. Mark Sheldon, the Misses Curnow, Colonel Kenneth Mackay, Miss Windeyer, Mrs. Bowker, Mrs. F. Cohen, Mrs. Curlewis, Miss Ada Dwyer, Mrs. Collins, and Mrs. Lane Mullins.

A most pleasant afternoon was spent on Wednesday by a number of ladies, who, in response to an invitation from Mrs. E. Vickery, visited the Girls' Training Home attached to the Church of England Rescue Home, at Glebe Point. The chief attraction of the visit was centred in the large airy rooms, where about 40 children and girls were at work. Here was a table round which sat a group of children between 5 and 8 years of age, all busy with their cushions and bobbins making torchon lace. Some were just beginning on the easiest patterns, whilst others were producing broad filmy lace fit for the daintiest trousseau. Further on girls were to be seen making broad handsome Spanish lace, exquisitely fine Limerick, or that triumph of needlework, Venetian point. All the workers looked bright, strong, and happy in their work. They rendered the old song "Joy Bells" in excellent time and sweet voices, during the visit. But not all the girls were lace-making. Some were engaged in plain needlework, chair-caning, and wood-carving, and the matron announced that every girl received a thorough training in domestic work, and many were competent to take places as housemaids, parlour maids, or plain cooks. In the dining-room were displayed specimens of dainty underlinen for a trousseau, also bed spreads, cushion covers, made of embroidered Irish linen, and a beautiful scarf with lace ends, the latter being already sold to Mrs. W. Hall. Afternoon tea was served on the broad verandah, after which the visitors inspected the dormitories. They subsequently adjourned to the Women's Home, Strathcona, where they were equally gratified with all they saw. There are at present 52 inmates in the girls' home, and 45 in the women's, and during the past year they earned £1160 by their own work. The matron, Miss M'Garvey, was heartily congratulated upon the results of her management. Amongst those present, besides Mrs. Vickery, were Mrs. Macarthur Onslow, Mrs. Greig Smith, Mrs. Mosely, Mrs. W. Docker, Mrs. B. Palmer, Mrs. Trindall (treasurer), Miss Macarthur, Miss Campbell, the Misses Brady, and Miss Elles.

The sixteenth annual meeting of the Teachers' Association of New South Wales was held in the A.B.C. Rooms last night, and took the form of a conversazione. The president and council entertained the large number of visitors present. After the reports and election of office-bearers and members of council, Mr. Board, Under-Secretary for Public Instruction, gave a short address on "the organisation of secondary education."

On Saturday last the children of St. Anne's Orphanage, Liverpool, were entertained at lunch by the sisters and pupils of St. Mary's Cathedral Girls' School, Sydney, in the Cardinal's Hall. At the conclusion of the lunch his Eminence came in and gave his blessing to the children, who were shortly afterwards escorted by the old pupils of St. Mary's to the Theatre Royal, to witness a matinee performance of "Peter Pan." Later the orphans were entertained at tea in the Cardinal's Hall, and afterwards conveyed in a drag to the railway station.

The annual Butterfly Ball in aid of the Kenmore Orphanage was held in the Oddfellows' Hall, Goulburn, on Thursday, September 3, and was attended by about 70 couples, and nearly 150 spectators in the dress circle. The hall and table decorations, which were somewhat out of the beaten track, were supervised by Mesdames C. J. M'Shane and F. D. Madden. There were eight fancy sets, as follows:—"Chrysanthemum" (arranged by Miss Crossey and Mrs. Madden), in which the ladies wore evening dress, with gold in the hair and gold sashes, and carried crooks decorated with chrysanthemums and streamers; "Maids of Erin" (Mrs. Busbridge), the ladies in white silk, with green sashes, the dresses trimmed with shamrocks, with a golden harp on the shoulder, and carried flags with "The Harp of Erin." In the "Spring Set," arranged by Mrs. D. Watson, the "Pink Rose" set by Mrs. W. T. Daniel, the "Red Rose" set by Mrs. Kelly, a "Poppy" set by Mrs. Kelly, and an "Australian Flower" set by Miss Gillespie, all the ladies had their dresses trimmed with flowers of their respective sets. Mrs. Cody arranged the "Light Horse Band" set. A juvenile dance, which was well attended, took place the following evening.

The third annual ball of the Drummoyne Borough Tennis Club was held in the Masonic Hall on Tuesday, the 2nd inst., and proved most successful. The hall was tastefully decorated, and the spacious stage converted into a drawing-room, and arranged round with palms and ferns. Great credit is due to the hon. secretary, Mr. E. Dean, for the success of the function. The masters of ceremony were Messrs. C. M'Donagh and J. Felix Sheridan. The extra on the programme was played by Miss Cockerill. Among those present were Mr. H. W. Slatter (Mayor), president of the club, who was accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Slatter. The Mayoress wore cream silk, with Maltese lace and red roses. Miss Slatter was in white embroidered muslin and pink carnations. Mrs. Dean wore pink crepe de chine and oriental trimmings, and Mrs. Sheridan turquoise blue crepe de chine and point lace bertha.

The last of a series of dances arranged by a committee of Petersham ladies and gentlemen, including the Misses Scott, Rough, Johnston, Donnelly, Gray, and Messrs. W. B. Lloyd, Frazer, Ringland, Wilson, and Guthrie, took place on Friday evening in St. George's Hall, Newtown, and proved most successful, fully 300 visitors being present. Among the dancers were Misses Walford, Evans, Sutter, Walker (2), Foreman, Steel, Watson, Blundell, Briton, James, Colgrave, Lacey, Wilson, Burke, Devenish—Mears, Pryde (2), Davis (2), Stanton, Bell, Bayliss, Price, Asher, Bracken, Rainsford, Noble, Radford, Morris, Doyle, Korf, O'Sullivan, Sinclair, Roever, Skinner (2), Broome, Cotterell (3), Mesdames Sinclair, Hutchison, Radley, Evans, Gray, Bull, Morris, Ringland, Messrs. Smith, Hutchison, Hardy, Starr, Miller (2), Norton, Watkins, Trimm, Marsh, Asher, Beavor, Close, Watson, Cliff, Kempthorne, Pascoe, Whyte, Thomson, and others.

On August 29 Mr. and Mrs. J. Campbell, of Goorianawa Station, near Coonabarabran, gave a small but enjoyable dance. For the occasion the buggy-room was converted into a ballroom, the walls being covered with pale green and pink art muslin, and trails of silvery clematis, whilst the ceiling was a mass of greenery and wattle, from which hung wild mistletoe and Chinese lanterns. Light refreshments were served between the dances. The supper table was decorated with lemon-coloured and pale lilac ribbons, and baskets of wattle and violets. The hostess wore black and white striped silk gauze over white silk, trimmed with black velvet ribbon and lace. The three little Misses Campbell were in white silk frocks. The visitors included Miss V. M. Campbell, Miss Anderson, Miss Fetherstonhaugh, Miss Shaw, the Misses Ibbott (Thurloo), Miss Hughes, Messrs. Cameron (Scotland), Fetherstonhaugh (2), Ibbott, Ryder (2), Little (England), Oman (United States), O. E. Friend.

On September 2, at the Masonic Hall, Wagga Wagga, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Davidson gave a most enjoyable dance in honour of the debut of Miss Thelma Long, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. St. Clair Long, of Wagga. The debutante wore an Empire dress of ivory white crepe de chene, trimmed with lace and silver cord, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, her ornaments being a beautiful diamond crescent and a diamond pendant. Mrs. Davidson chose a handsome dress of silk net in copper shades over satin, and carried a posy of pink carnations. The guests included many members of the old Wagga families who were friends of the late Dr. and Mrs. St. Clair Long. Supper was served in a large marquee.

The marriage of Leonie, fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Belford, of Taree Estate, Manning River, to William, second son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lauder, of Liberton, Rozelle, was celebrated on Saturday, August 29, at Lugar Brae, Glen-street, North Sydney, the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. John MacGregor. The Rev. W. Wools Rutledge officiated. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom were present. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a semi-empire dress of cream silk eolienne, and filet net. Miss Vera Belford, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and wore pale pink chiffon voile and filet lace. Mr. James Lauder was best man. After the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining-room, which was decorated with daffodils and freezias. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring, and to the bridesmaid an opal ring. Mr. and Mrs. Lauder left by the afternoon train for the South Coast, where the honeymoon was spent. The bride's going-away dress was of saxe blue chiffon cloth, and a cream spotted tulle picture hat with feathers.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents on Saturday, August 29, when Mr. Euston Barrington Blomfield, of Warwick, Queensland, was married to Miss Alice Nivison, third daughter of Mr. J. A. and Mrs. Nivison, of Ohio, Walcha. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Davis. The bride wore white crepe-de-Chine over glace silk, also a diamond spray brooch, the gift of her mother, and a diamond and pearl ring, which, with a bouquet of lilies of the valley were gifts from the bridegroom. She was attended by her two sisters, the Misses Norma and Nell Nivison. Mr. Gill acted as best man. The wedding presents were numerous and handsome.

On August 1, at the Fullerton Memorial Presbyterian Church, a marriage was solemnised between William Wright, eldest son of Mrs. Samuel Wright, of Newtown, and Minnie Anne Smith, eldest daughter of the late Mr. Robert Smith and Mrs. Smith, Morehead-street, Redfern, Sydney. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. David Fenwick. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. J. J. Rush, wore a wedding dress of Swiss muslin trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and a wreath and veil, and carried a shower bouquet; she also wore a gold bangle, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaid, Miss Martha Smith (sister of the bride), wore pale blue silk trimmed with floral ribbon and lace, and a hat of white glace silk. She also carried a shower bouquet and wore a gold bangle (gifts of the bridegroom). Mr. F. H. Leggo acted as best man. The wedding breakfast was held at the residence of the bride's mother, and later the happy couple left for their honeymoon to the South Coast, the bride travelling in a tailor-made costume of blue cloth, with hat to match.

On Wednesday, the 12th ult., the marriage of Mr. Patrick Joseph Kearns, of the secretarial branch of the Government Savings Bank, Moore-street, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kearns, of Rylstone, and Miss Mary Lettice Boys, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Boys, "The Dane," Golspie, was solemnised at St. Mary's Cathedral, by the Rev. Father Meaney, in the presence of numerous friends and spectators. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Frost, of Wheeo, was dressed in a ivory crepe-de-chine over glace silk, made with a square yoke of Limerick lace. She also wore an embroidered veil and a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet, which, with a gold pendant, were the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridesmaid, Miss Maggie Boys, wore a dress of cream louisine silk with a yoke of filet net, and a cream hat trimmed with ostrich feathers. A gold bracelet, studded with diamonds and sapphires, was the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. T. A. Reynolds acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Oxford Hotel, where the guests were entertained, Mrs. A. Findley, of Marion-street, Killara, acting as hostess. Later Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kearns left for their honeymoon. The bride's travelling dress was of striped Copenhagen blue chiffon glace trimmed with brown glace, and a hat to match.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

Responding to the urgent requests of many sufferers, the proprietors have decided to introduce a concentrated, non-alcoholic form of that valuable medicine, Warner's Safe Cure, under the title of "Warner's Safe Cure (Concentrated)." The price of Warner's Safe Cure (Concentrated) is 2s 6d per bottle. The bottle is one-fourth the size of the 5s bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, but it contains the same number of doses, the dose being also one-fourth, namely, a teaspoonful instead of a tablespoonful. The medicinal value is the same in each case, the medicinal contents of a 5s bottle of Warner's Safe Cure being concentrated into a 2s 6d bottle of Warner's Safe Cure (Concentrated).

So well known are the beneficial effects of Warner's Safe Cure in all cases of kidney and liver disease, and complaints arising from the retention in the system of uric and biliary poisons, such as rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, lumbago, sciatica, blood disorders, anaemia, indigestion, biliousness, jaundice, Bright's disease, gravel, stone, bladder troubles, general debility, sick headache, that the introduction of the 2s 6d bottle of Warner's Safe Cure (Concentrated) cannot be regarded otherwise than as a public boon.

CORSETS

OBTAINABLE ONLY AT GRACE BROS.

These are specially designed by leading Corsetiers, whose business it is to note each new development in fashion. At present the long, slender hip prevails. This does not mean that one MUST WEAR a long, extended hip Corset; THAT depends solely on the figure requiring a Corset. If the hips are large, and over-developed, then we recommend a long hip; if the figure is medium, a medium-length hip; if slight, a short box hip. Our new "Models" comprise ten different shapes and prices. Each "Model" embodies perfection of style, cloth, and finish; and is guaranteed to fit its own individual style of figure, and to give COMFORT AND HEALTH. Not only must the style of hip be considered, but the height and fulness of bust play a prominent part in the fit of a Corset. Some Models are high in bust, some low, others full, medium, or small.

MODEL N.—OUR SPECIAL REDUSO CORSET.

For large women, has a soft, unboned apron extension, which reaches down over the abdomen and hips; moulds the over-developed proportions into graceful outlines, thereby avoiding the necessity of binding straps or harnesslike devices, hitherto thought necessary in the construction of Corsets for fleshy women. This Corset is guaranteed to reduce the abdomen from 1 to 4 inches. In strong white coutil, boned with reliable "RUST-PROOF" wire bone, does not break; extra strong hip and front suspenders; 25 to 36 inches.

15/6 PAIR.

MODEL J.

FOR HEAVILY DEVELOPED FIGURES, full bosomed effect, without a doubt the longest hip of any corset yet produced. The special feature is the reverse gores, running backwards, which restrain undue development of the abdomen; the back is extra long, and the whole is boned with the new reliable rust-proof wire bone; does not break; strong, wide elastic suspenders on front and hips; in grey and white coutil; 21 to 30 inches.

11/6 PAIR.

MODEL K.

A PERFECT MODEL FOR AVERAGE FIGURES; cut short at back, with low bust, and extra long over the hips and abdomen. The lines of this Corset follow the contour of the figure gracefully, slope off the hips, and give a snug, smoother fit over the skirt, and so produce that very modest effect now so essential with the fashionable skirt; made of the finest White French coutil, boned with new reliable rust-proof wire bone; does not break; has 3 strong steels over hips, 20 to 30 inches.

12/6 PAIR (Special).

MODEL M.

A DAINTY CORSET in White and Grey Coutil, for slight and medium figures; low in bust, and extended hips; suspenders front and hip; boned with reliable rust-proof wire bone, does not break; 19 to 30 inches.

SYDNEY TOBACCO COMPANY, LIMITED

TENDERS.

TENDERS are hereby invited for the PURCHASE of the ASSETS of the above Company as a Going Concern, and will be received by me up to noon on THURSDAY, 1st OCTOBER, 1908.

The Assets scheduled hereunder are all in excellent order, and everything is in readiness for a continuance of business.

The Stock has been listed, and valued at cost prices (or under) throughout, by the former Manufacturing Manager (Mr. J. H. Forrest), whilst the Plant and Machinery have just been examined, listed, and valued by Mr. A. D. Nelson, M.I.M.E., whose valuation, as will be seen, totals an amount largely in excess of the Book Value of this Asset.

The Book Debts are approximately stated, the total given being that standing on the books at 30th ult., and are estimated by the management as being a clean and valuable Asset, terms for the most part being monthly.

The Trade Marks, Unexpired Balances, and Deposit on Government Contracts, are taken from the books of the Company as at this date.

The Business of the Factory is being maintained by me in anticipation of Sale as a Going Concern, and the returns of the present month will be up to, if not in excess of, preceding months, and at the rate of a turnover of £19,000 per annum.

The liquidation of the Company was brought about by the failure on the part of the Directors in their efforts to obtain the necessary additional capital wherewith to cater for the business, the returns of which would have manifestly increased had the management been in a position to adequately advertise the various popular brands of the Company.

This is a most favourable opportunity for a firm or company having the adequate means to acquire a sound and remunerative concern, and I am in a position to say that arrangements can be made with Mr. J. H. Forrest for the continuance of his able management as Manufacturing Manager.

Stocksheets may be seen, and all information obtained, at the Factory from my representative, Mr. J. H. Forrest, and I should also be pleased to submit particulars at my office, or reply to inquirers who may address me in reference to this advertisement by letter.

Tender Forms may be had on application at this address, or at the Factory, and it is understood that the usual 10 per cent. conditions apply; as also that the highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

THE EDISON PRIMARY BATTERY.
THE EDISON PRIMARY BATTERY.

It pays to use the Edison Primary—the Battery that reduces expense. The voltage of the cell is constant throughout its life; the internal resistance is very low and decreases with use; there is no polarisation, and no loss of energy while the cell is idle; a heavy current may be drawn without injury, and the battery is free from fumes and chemical deposits.

ORANGE, Friday.

Mr. T. Waddell, Colonial Treasurer, and member for Belabula, is anxious that the proposed deviation of the road from Orange to Cadia should be carried out as speedily as possible, to avoid a number of very steep pinches. Some time ago the Cadia Copper Mining and Smelting Company offered £500 towards the work, but later withdrew the offer, being unable to make satisfactory terms with Canobolas Shire Council. Mr. Waddell is now desirous that the company should renew the offer, and has communicated with the shire council with a view to it giving a similar sum towards the work. If this be done he is confident he can persuade his colleague, Mr. Lee, to grant the balance of the funds, so that the work can be put in hand. The present delay is due to the company not yet having given a definite answer to the request made by the council.

TROUBLE IN THE 'PHONE ROOM.

INTERFERING WITH THE ATTENDANT.

At the Redfern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. King, D.S.M., Postal Detective Allanson proceeded against Hedley Heinisch, of North Botany, on a charge of wilfully obstructing Alfred James Johnstone, telephone attendant at North Botany exchange, on August 24.

Johnstone gave evidence that he was on duty at the telephone exchange between 6 and 7 p.m., and defendant entered uninvited. Witness was sitting in front of the switch board, when Heinisch pushed him off the chair, and, taking the receiver from witness's head, placed it on his own. Defendant then opened the telephone levers, which were connected with the Central Exchange, and called witness a bad name because he closed the lever. Witness went out to the assistant postmaster and made a complaint. When witness returned Heinisch was still sitting at the switchboard with the receiver on his head. Witness said to him, "Do you mind going out? You have no right here." Heinisch did not leave, and witness had to make a further complaint to the assistant postmaster, who then went into the exchange-room, and told Heinisch to go out, but he did not comply with the request until a stranger came in and advised him to do so.

The witness, in cross-examination, denied that he was in the habit of having friends in the exchange room every night.

Heinisch, in defence, said that he had known Johnstone for four weeks. He was taken to the telephone room by some friends, and used to go there nearly every night, and stay two or three hours. When he went there on August 24 Johnstone was sitting on the chair. Witness went in to see the time. Johnstone asked witness who won the Burns-Squires fight. Witness told him. Johnstone then put some ink on witness, and witness put some on him, after which Johnstone hit him with a gimlet. The row started through skylarking. There were no calls on the switchboard while witness was there. Johnstone never told witness that Earle, the assistant postmaster, had given orders for witness to go. As witness was leaving Earle struck him, and witness simply returned the blow.

A fine of £3, and 6s costs, was imposed; in default imprisonment for one month.

RURAL CAMP SCHOOLS.

The first session of the rural camp schools is to be held from October 6 to October 14. Mr. T. Lobban, organising officer, has just returned from a trip to Nowra, where he has selected a site in the Nowra Park, on the outskirts of the town. The site is an ideal one. It has a nice slope to the north-east, is centrally situated, and has ample space for camp requirements. The chief places of interest to be visited are three butter factories, a bacon factory, condensed milk works, Berry stud farm, dairy farms, mixed farms, and the surface workings and plant of the Helensburgh Metropolitan coal mine. Inspection will also be made of Mr. Lamond's fine herd of Ayrshires, Alderman Hyam's famous Jerseys, and Mr. Pritchard's Holsteins. The various units will also have a trip down the Shoalhaven River by motor launch to the famous Coolangatta estate. The members of the Nowra Municipal Council have done everything in their power to assist the organising officer, and went so far as to agree to bring the water from the main to the camp site—a distance of 160 yards—free of charge, and also to allow the inmates of the camp a free use of the water. The local residents have also taken a keen interest in the establishment of the camp in their district, and assisted in every possible way.

LECTURE ON STIRLING BRIDGE.

A meeting of the Burns Club was held last evening at the rooms of the Highland Society, Pitt-street, when Mr. James Shirra, president of the Engineering Association of New South Wales, delivered a lecture entitled "The Ancient Bridge of Stirling—Some Historic Notes." There was a large attendance. The lecture, which was illustrated with diagrams, was of particular interest to Scotsmen, yesterday being the anniversary of the Battle of Stirling Bridge, in 1297. The lecturer discussed the probable origin and whereabouts of the original bridge. At the time of the erection of the bridge now standing, the town of Stirling had attained, he said, a position of considerable wealth, and many privileges. But when the original structure was built, there was only a collection of rude hovels, composed for the most part of wood, and clustered round the church, or near the castle, for protection.

NEWCASTLE.

COAL EXPORT TRADE.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The following vessels cleared at the Customs-house to-day:—Baron Minto, s, for Manila, with 900 tons bunker coal; Gulf of Venice, s, for Manila, via Broadmount, with 3200 tons coal; New Guinea, s, for Melbourne, with 3400 tons coal; Farley, s, for Coronel, with 7167 tons coal.

THE LOCAL OPTION POLL.

HOTEL CLOSED AT NEWCASTLE.

A MEETING OF PROTEST.

The first hotel to be closed as the result of the local option poll in the Newcastle district was the Suburban Hotel, in Watt-street, the license of which expired yesterday. This evening a meeting, convened by the northern branch of the United Licensed Victuallers' Association, was held on the premises of the closed hotel to protest against the closure. The Mayor (Alderman Cook), on the invitation of the conveners, occupied the chair, and there was a fairly large attendance. A lecture, under the title of "Justice Outraged, or Local Option without Compensation," was delivered by Mr. W. A. Lloyd, official lecturer of the Liquor Trades' Defence Union, and a number of other speakers also protested against the compulsory closing of hotels without compensation being awarded. The Government's action was described as legalised robbery by the State. The following resolutions were carried:—"That this meeting of Newcastle citizens, while recognising the democratic basis of the principle of local option as relating to the liquor traffic, emphatically protests against the closing of hotels as the result of the local option poll without the payment of equitable compensation to those deprived of their licenses through no fault of their own. Further, that as licenses are issued by the Government, and the people as a whole are responsible for the extent of the trade in alcoholic liquors, they should share in the burden incidental to the reversal of the previous policy of the Government as regards the issue of licenses." 2. "That this meeting desires to emphasise the incontrovertible fact that the Government itself created moral responsibility at least for either a renewal of licenses or a fair and reasonable compensation when it compelled the erection of premises as a condition precedent to the granting of licenses on a scale admittedly absurd if such premises were intended to exist merely for the actual legal duration of the license granted."

CHIEF COMMISSIONER FOR RAILWAYS.

Mr. T. Johnson, Chief Commissioner for Railways, passed through Newcastle to-day on his way back from the Queensland border. He made only a short stay, and had a hurried inspection of the coal yards and loading appliances at the Dyke. He then left again for Sydney.

DEEP-DRAUGHT STEAMERS.

Two steamers which left the port late last night created a record as far as the depth of water they were drawing was concerned. The vessels in question, the Imani and Farley, were each drawing 25ft. The former is bound for Cebu with 6352 tons of coal, and the Farley goes to Chili with 7106 tons of coal. The previous record draught was 24ft 9in.

SMELTING RETURNS.

The ore treated at the Sulphide Works, Cockle Creek, during the week ended to-day yielded 1752oz of gold, 49,896oz of silver, and 332 tons of lead.

WEEK'S COAL EXPORT.

The total quantity of coal exported from Newcastle during the week ended to-day amounted to 88,644 tons. Commonwealth and New Zealand ports took 48,992 tons, while 39,652 tons were despatched to foreign ports.

WATER HYACINTH PEST.

At the meeting of the Hunter District Water and Sewerage Board to-day a report was received from the engineer in connection with the growth of water hyacinth in the vicinity of Walka pumping station. He pointed out that the water in the storage reservoir and in the intake reach of the river at Oakhampton was liable to be infected. There was a prolific growth in the swamp just outside the storage reservoir embankment, but so far none of the weed had been found growing in the storage reservoir or in the Hunter River and its tributaries. The swamp just below the storage reservoir embankment was owned partly by the board and partly by Mr. J. N. Brunker, and sooner or later the matter of the eradication of the weed would have to be dealt with. The board decided to instruct the engineer to prepare an estimate of the cost of removing the weed from the swamp referred to. When this is prepared Mr. Brunker will be requested to state whether he is willing to bear a proportion of the cost of eradication.

THE MEAT SUPPLY.

ELECTRIC FANS v GAUZE FRONTS.

THE OPEN DOOR POLICY.

In the matter of the new bylaws governing butchers' shops, there is a strong feeling amongst a section of meat purveyors that those who have taken advantage of the most effective means for keeping their shops and other premises free from flies and dirty atmosphere should not be compelled to adopt other methods that may be less efficacious.

The proposal to make all butchers close in their shops by glass or wire gauze is resented by some butchers, who have installed electric fans, and who are thereby not only able to keep the shop free of flies and the air pure but also to lower the temperature from 20 to 25 degrees. This is a phase of the subject of the highest importance, especially in hot weather, when the meat should be hung in as cool an atmosphere as possible. What the trade ask, therefore, is that the bylaw make it optional for either an effective system of electrical ventilation or closed-in fronts.

Mr. Grubb (W. A. Grubb and Co.), who has an effective system, estimates that if his shop front were closed in, the door would be opened 20,000 times per week. The firm receives 100 carcases of mutton and 50 quarters of beef daily, involving 300 passings of the door. Not only might flies enter in that way, but they would have greater difficulty in getting out. Moreover, the bylaw proposes to close in the front without providing for the back. There are no aristocrats amongst flies; the back entrance, to them, is as inviting as the front; and once inside they are difficult guests to expel, especially in still or confined air. Mr. Grubb contends that electrical appliances are the most up-to-date methods for ventilating; that wire gauze fronts are out of date, and that all the health authorities should insist upon is thorough cleanliness of premises, pure air, and wholesome meat. These to be secured by inspection and license if necessary.

JEWELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

FEDERAL v STATE LEGISLATION.

The annual meeting and smoke concert of the New South Wales Watchmakers and Jewellers' Association was held last evening in Aarons' Exchange Hotel, Gresham-street, Mr. Oakes, M.L.A., the president of the association, being in the chair. There was a good attendance of members.

The hon. secretary, Mr. R. B. Orchard, read the annual report, in which the committee congratulated the members upon the success achieved in the first year of the association. The committee emphasised the necessity of refusing to sell any watches not bearing a trade name. In the past the trade had been responsible for establishing the reputation of certain watches, and the drapers were now reaping the reward of the demand thus created. The fact that the president, Mr. Oakes, M.L.A., had been included in the Ministry was alluded to, and regret was expressed at the resignation of Mr. G. J. Smith, owing to his departure for Queensland. The report was adopted.

The president explained the position in regard to the hallmarking and stamping of jewellery. At the Premiers' Conference in Hobart, Victoria had been in favour of the matter being taken over by the Federal Government, Mr. Carruthers had acquiesced, and it was decided that motions should be submitted to the various State Parliaments in favour of putting the hallmarking and stamping of jewellery into the hands of the Commonwealth. The only State which had taken this course was South Australia. In New South Wales he had been averse to the handing over the control of the trade to the Commonwealth Government, and in this he was supported by Mr. Wade. But the jewellery operatives of Victoria were not in favour of State control. They had made representations on the matter to Sir Thomas Bent, with the result that he had brought the question up at the last Premiers' Conference in Melbourne, when the resolution passed at the previous conference had been practically reaffirmed. He had visited Melbourne, and had seen members of the Victorian Manufacturers' Association in regard to the matter. He was able to convince them that it would be better to leave the control in the hands of the States, for the reason that there were really only two States—New South Wales and Victoria—affected by the manufacture of jewellery, and it would be easier for these two to bring in uniform legislation than for all the States to pass separate motions with the object of handing the matter over to the Commonwealth. He still hoped that before the proposed motion should have passed the Victorian Parliament they would be able to convince Victoria of the advantage of State control.

A motion was passed that the society was of opinion that some scheme should be suggested to do away with the evil of trophy giving, and the matter was then left to the committee.

The executive officers of the association were re-elected for the year, and a committee was elected. Votes of thanks were passed to the president for his interest in the association during the last 12 months, and to the secretary.

THE NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL,

LORD DUDLEY.

SOME VERY FINE PHOTOGRAPHS.

READ WHAT THE SYDNEY PRESS SAYS—

The "S. M. Herald" of Sept. 10, '08, says:—

"Some excellent photographs of the new Governor-General, Lord Dudley, and also of his Excellency and his official staff, were taken soon after their arrival at Government House, Sydney, yesterday, by Mr. Mark Blow, of the Crown Studios. In one portrait his Excellency is standing with his hand resting on a chair, while the other hand, holding his hat, is raised to the level of the hilt of his sword, making a well-balanced picture. The lighting is remarkably good, with fine half-tones. In the official group his Excellency is seated with his staff grouped around him."

The "Evening News" of Sept. 10, '08, says:—

The "Daily Telegraph" of Sept. 10, '08, says:—

"Besides the photograph of Lord Dudley in plain clothes, which we mentioned in our last issue was taken by the Crown Studios on Tuesday, his Excellency was also photographed yesterday by Mr. Mark Blow, of the Studios, in his Windsor uniform, and likewise was the prominent figure in a group of the official staff. In the single portraits, Lord Dudley's military bearing is not only shown to advantage, but there is also a happy effect produced by the artist in the photograph being well-lighted with graduated half-tones. All the pictures are splendid examples of the photographer's art, for which the Crown Studios should receive much credit. By 6 p.m., not only were the portraits on view, but also an enlargement of each, thus showing how expeditiously high-class work can now be executed by a firm having up-to-date appliances. The photographs are well worth inspecting at the Crown Studios, George-street."

The "Australian Star" of Sept. 10, '08, says:—

"On Wednesday the Earl of Dudley gave sittings—the first sittings he has given in Australia—to the Crown Studios. In one, the Governor-General appears alone in uniform, and in the other he is surrounded by a knot of military officials. The grouping in this case is excellent, and, indeed, both of the photographs are examples of first-class work. A big enlargement of the group is to be seen in the Crown Studios."

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

CESSNOCK, Friday.

The mysterious disappearance of a young man, 25 years of age, named George Andrews, has caused quite a commotion in Cessnock and Aberdare. Andrews left his camp, at Aberdare, on Monday evening, for the purpose of going to Cessnock to pay a small account. He never reached his destination, nor has he been seen since. As Andrews did not turn up for work next day—he was employed as a fettler on the East Greta Company's line—the police were informed, and though the police and search parties have searched daily, no trace of the missing man has been discovered. Andrews is a sober, robust man, and his friends are confident he did not leave town, but fear for his safety. Indeed, his departure from town would seem strange, for he left money, clothes, and a fair amount of property behind. The track Andrews took for Cessnock was through the bush.

Y.M.C.A.

The monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Y.M.C.A. was held under the presidency of Mr. John Kent (vice-president). Reports from the national secretary stated that there is a distinct feeling of buoyancy and aggression just now characterising the movement, and that the forthcoming national convention in Melbourne promises to be the best in the history of the Australasian work. The general secretary reported receipt of a handsome series of framed pictures from Mr. E. J. Forbes. Mr. Virgo also referred to the work accomplished during fleet week, and the appreciation of officers and men at the provision that was made for the Americans during their visit. The religious work committee reported arrangements for the Rev. David Russell's mission from October 4 to 11. The educational committee reported an addition to the tutorial staff, which now numbers four, a very large increase in the number of students, the successful starting of an elocution class under Mr. Lawrence Campbell, and the preparation of statistics concerning the educational work being undertaken in New South Wales, the latter for the purpose of aiding the discussion on the association's educational department at the conference next month. The membership committee reported 42 applications during the month, making the total financial membership 1027; in addition there are a great number unfinancial, to whom communications are being addressed. The executive reported arrangements being made for the appointment of a religious work and boys' secretary. The gymnasium committee brought forward a proposal to form a union of all the physical agencies in connection with the association, and to make application for admission to the Amateur Athletic Association. A sub-committee was appointed to confer with representatives of the various branches and bring up a report with proposed constitution. It was further announced that Dr. A. E. Finckh has accepted the position of honorary medical examiner in the gymnasium. As with the educational classes, the gymnasium classes have doubled the membership. The finance committee presented the monthly statement, and urged the necessity for wiping out the balance of the debt upon the building. It was resolved to call a special meeting to consider this proposal. Mr. Virgo further stated that the number of new arrivals from other lands visiting the association was unprecedented during his term of office.

STREET SIGNS.

The signs committee of the City Council met yesterday, Alderman Lawrence being in the chair. The present bylaws allow signs not exceeding 24 inches in width. The City Ratepayers' Association asked for the following sliding scale:—Second floor, 36in; third floor, 48in; fourth floor, 60in; fifth floor, 72in; sixth floor, 84in. A motion that a sliding scale of three-quarters of an inch for every foot of light with a maximum of five feet, be allowed, was rejected. Alderman Kelly's motion to recommend a uniform width of 30 inches was adopted in bylaw 710, sections (a) and (b), while nine inches was substituted for seven inches as the width in section (c). The approved material now includes glass, and therefore the word "non-brittle" in bylaw 719 is excised. The request of the Ratepayers' Association to have the matter in the hands of a board rather than the town clerk was refused.

Speaking on the power to remove signs, Alderman Lindsay-Thompson said that the council's authority was limited a certain distance above the footway. It was no use going on bluff. They should either stand to their guns if they were right, or face the music if they were wrong. The matter was so important that counsel's opinion should be obtained.

SYDNEY WATER SUPPLY.

The water in Prospect Reservoir is now little over 2ft from the top. No water is running in, the flow having been stopped in consequence of the repairs to the upper canal, which are in progress. The level of water in Cataract reservoir is now 124ft 5in, a storage of 2328 million gallons. Nothing is being drawn from this reserve, as the level is rising steadily.

EGG-LAYING.

"HERALD" AND "MAIL" THIRD ANNUAL TEST.

The one and a quarter feet of rain experienced at Berowra in the early part of August slightly retarded laying at the above competition. This, however, is being rapidly made up for in the present month. For the week which ended last evening the 360 hens laid 1884 eggs, being an average of over five eggs for every hen in the competition.

Mr. Emmott's Silver Wyandottes made the best week's record from the commencement of the test, 40 eggs in seven days from six hens being but rarely put up before. Hyne's Leghorns, Read's Orpingtons, and White's Langshans follow with 37 for each pen. Mrs. Mackie, of Arcadia, who has a pen each of Black Orpingtons and White Leghorns competing, will have some difficulty in determining which of her two breeds is the best layer, seeing that both pens in the five months and eleven days have laid 477 eggs. Appended are the results to last evening:—

LOCAL OPTION.

TWO HOTELS CLOSED.

By order of the Special Licensing Court, under the provisions of the Liquor (Amendment) Act, the following hotels were closed on Thursday, 10th instant:—Millthorpe Hotel, Moncur-street, Woollahra, Thomas O'Keefe licensee; and the Atlantic Hotel, Mort-street, Balmain, John Joyce licensee. The special Court also ordered the Courthouse Hotel, Mitchell-street, Glebe, to be closed, but the licensee did not apply for a renewal of his license in June last. The hotel was consequently closed on June 30 last.

By this time next year no fewer than 29 other hotels in various parts of the city and suburbs will be closed.

A JACK TAR'S EXPERIENCE.

THIEF SWALLOWS A HALF-SOVEREIGN.

A bluejacket on H.M.S. Pyramus named Ward was in a city hotel on Wednesday evening last, when a man entered and asked him to purchase some postcards. Ward determined to buy sixpennyworth, and asked for the quantity, at the same time handing the man half a sovereign. The man put it in his pocket and prepared to depart, but Ward demanded his change, and received the reply that only a sixpenny piece had been tendered. Ward gave the man in charge, and when he was taken to the police station to be charged, he was seen to put his hand to his mouth and apparently swallow something, as he at once turned black in the face and appeared to be choking. As a result, William Arthur Cocker, 42, was charged at the Water Police Court yesterday with having stolen 9s 6d belonging to Spencer Peter Ward, on September 9. Accused, who gave a general denial of the offence, was sentenced to one month's gaol.

CHASING A CAT.

MAN FALLS THROUGH A SKYLIGHT.

Ernest Robinson, 22, a printer, working at Messrs. Turner and Henderson's works, Hunter-street, city, and living in Forbes-street, city, was chasing a cat, which had been annoying him, over the roof at his place of employment yesterday, when he placed his foot on a skylight, which broke beneath his weight. His left leg slipped through the aperture, and the jagged glass lacerated it severely, and almost tore the muscle away. He was taken to the Sydney Hospital, and admitted.

ALLEGED FOOD ADULTERATION.

CASE DISMISSED.

At the Balmain Police Court yesterday, before Mr. L. S. Donaldson, S.M., the hearing of the summons against Patrick Duggan, grocer, of Evans-street, Balmain, charging him with selling vinegar not of the substance and quality demanded, was resumed.

Mr. J. J. Reeder appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Carroll for the defence.

Mr. Carroll had raised the point that Inspector Paris, when taking the sample, had not, as was necessary, told the defendant that he intended to have it analysed "by an analyst." The only distinction between our Act and the English Act was that the latter required that at the time the sample was taken the inspector shall notify to the seller his intention to have the same analysed "by the public analyst." The New South Wales Act said that at the time of taking the sample the inspector shall notify his intention to have the same analysed "by an analyst." In this case the inspector said, in evidence, "I am purchasing this vinegar for analysis. Will I divide it into three parts?" In support of his contention that the inspector should have stated that he intended to have the sample analysed "by an analyst," he quoted the case of Barnes v Chipp, 3 L.R., E.D. In that case the policeman when obtaining a sample said, "I am purchasing this gin for the purpose of analysis," but did not add, "by the public analyst." In giving judgment Chief Baron Kelly said "he entertained no doubt upon the point, for he thought the words did not admit of any question. Section 14 said that the person purchasing any article with the intention of submitting it for analysis should, after the purchase had been completed, forthwith notify to the seller or his agent selling the article, his intention to have the same analysed 'by the public analyst.' This was a penal Act, and would lead to great injustice if this provision under section 14, which was intended for the benefit of the seller, might be disregarded, where the person selling was, as in the present case, an ignorant barmaid. On the ground of convenience as well as by the very terms of the statute, he thought the notification required by section 14 was a condition precedent to the prosecution under the Act."

In reply to the magistrate, Mr. Carroll said he had made a diligent search, and could find no decision of the Supreme Court on the point.

Mr. Donaldson said he had been under the impression that there was a decision on the point, but he had not had time to look for it. Having, however, heard Mr. Carroll's statement and having seen the text of the case cited, he felt justified in dismissing the case.

Case dismissed.

BOGUS UNION OFFICIAL.

John Milne Wakefield, 40, a carpenter, was charged at the Water Police Court yesterday, with imposing on W. C. Penfold on July 1 last, by means of a false representation that his name was C. Wake, and that he was secretary of the Free Labourers' Union, and that he was purchasing a safe for the union, by which he obtained the sum of seven shillings and ninepence. Frederick E. Penfold, a member of the firm of W. C. Penfold and Co., of Pitt-street, said that about July 1 he saw accused, who represented that he was an officer of the Free Labourers' Union, and that he had bought a safe in Elizabeth-street for the union, had to take it away that day, and required 7s 9d to make up the amount. He asked for an advance of that amount, promising to return it the following day. Witness advanced the 7s 9d, and took accused's I.O.U. for the amount. It was on account of accused's representations that he advanced the money. Witness saw accused again the next day, when he said he could not pay then, but would later on. Witness, however, did not get his money. Witness on a previous occasion had given accused a subscription to the union funds, and believed him to be what he represented he was. Roland Brodhurst Hill, a wharf-labourer, and secretary of the Permanent Waterside Workers' Union, said that it was the only free labourers' organisation existing in July last. He had no knowledge of the accused, who was in no way connected with the union nor authorised to collect moneys on its behalf.

Accused stated that on July 30, 1907, a free labourers' club was formed, with himself as president, and it remained in existence until January last. He first saw Mr. Penfold last year, and got a donation from him. He again saw Mr. Penfold on July 1 last, on which occasion he asked for a loan, but never mentioned the club, which at the time was non-existent. He never mentioned anything about the safe. He was, however, convicted, and, being an old offender, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

WOMEN'S PATRIOTIC CLUB.

At a meeting of the Women's Patriotic Club, held in Bull's-chambers, Moore-street, Mrs. R. J. H. Jenkins lectured on the life and work of President Lincoln. She sketched his life, and dwelt on his humble origin, showing the part he had played in the Civil War and the emancipation of the slaves. She also described his family life, and the simplicity of his character, and said that a notable point about him was the absolute absence of any thought of personal gain. After the war was over he wished to retire in order to practise law. He was then elected to the Presidency. Mrs. Jenkins concluded by describing Lincoln's assassination by Booth in the theatre.

RAILWAY FATALITY.

CRUSHED BY A TRUCK.

At about 3 p.m. yesterday James Sutton, a storeman, lately living in Church-street, Canterbury, who was employed at the Eveleigh Railway Workshops, was caught between a truck and a doorway at the works, and severely crushed about the chest. The Civil Ambulance were communicated with, and rendered first aid, afterwards conveying Sutton to the Sydney Hospital. On arrival at the hospital Dr. Archdall pronounced life extinct, and the body was removed to the morgue.

RAILWAY FACILITIES TO DISTANT SUBURBS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I trust that you will grant me space in your columns to question the wisdom of the railway policy now followed by this State with regard to suburban development, viz., that of awaiting the growth of suburbs before extending railway facilities, and even then tardily. First, I should like to question the responsible Minister's wisdom in allowing public deputations to wait upon the Chief Commissioner at all, instead of himself receiving them as Minister for Railways, the tendency now existing undoubtedly being to make the Chief Commissioner greater than the Minister. Questions of both policy and management alike are announced in Parliament by "the Chief Commissioner says," etc.

When the late Sir Henry Parkes introduced the Act upon which the Railway Commissioner is established he did so with these words:—"I am not one of those, and never have been, and never shall be, who would create any board or commission or constituted body whatever to take away the duties, and the most serious duties, of responsible Ministers." (Speech, October 27, 1883.)

Now, I hold the Act as it stands gives no final power whatever to the Chief Commissioner on matters either of policy or arrangement; and that being so, the public should constitutionally place their requests before the Minister for Railways, and not the Chief Commissioner.

That the Government should be the body who should determine a general railway policy of special facilities—for the purpose of encouraging any distant yet accessible suburb where health, room, and rural surroundings be the ruling considerations—I take it is not to be questioned; and I urge the State Government, if it is truly intent upon acts of benefit to the metropolitan area, to well consider the policy of special cheap rates and quick trains to distant and elevated suburbs—especially as it will be a step towards producing a paying revenue. In Europe and America where this policy has been followed large dividends have rewarded the companies adopting it; but we need go no further than our own suburban history. I give one instance with which I am conversant, and will quote figures cited in Parliament by the Minister, Mr. Waddell. During the year 1905 the municipalities on the Sydenham-Belmore line urged the railway authorities to increase the service and lower the fares—I myself urged for more trains and cheaper fares. The department was rigid in its refusal. It said, "We are losing on that line £6300 a year. The population must increase before we will do anything." After great importunity we succeeded in getting a grudging increase—later a few more trains. Later still, a reduction on fares of 25 per cent.; then again more trains. Now for the result (the following are the official figures):—Trains running weekly in 1905, 200; in 1908, 340; an increase of 140 trains. The development produced was:—Receipts for September, 1905, £776; for July, 1908, £2068. During September, 1905, there were in issue 356 season tickets, and during July, 1908, 1281 season tickets. Of course, this does not include workmen's weekly tickets, which increased astonishingly. Now, what a striking result! And were this policy followed out upon other railway lines, an equal result would follow. For instance, take the great expanse of elevated hills from Hurstville to Como, and Chatswood to Hornsby. Extend a special service and special fares to bona-fide dwellers who might go to these distant districts, and the railway returns would quickly mount up to a profitable return.

But upon such a nature of policy it is not for the Railway Commissioner to have the final decision; it is essentially one of the duties of the responsible Government, and I hope that it may be an early matter for serious consideration by the Minister for Railways.

I am, etc.,

"THE GERMAN PERIL."

Is the British Empire threatened? According to a zealous and numerous section of the British people, it is, and the danger lies in German ideals of national expansion. No matter how much we in Australia may lament it, no matter how much the mass of Britons, or, indeed, the sane and sober people of whatever nationality may lament it, if Germany is systematically determinedly, untiringly preparing for a supreme struggle with Great Britain, it is time to recognise that state of affairs, and prepare for the inevitable appeal to arms. The attitude of leading British journals, the feeling of great bodies of the British people, the guarded warnings of British public men, the personal activity of the King in foreign affairs—all testify one way. A masterly article on this subject from the issue of the "Quarterly Review" just to hand, whilst perhaps containing nothing which was not already known to those who are obliged to be instructed on these matters, is the most convincing statement of the German position which has so far been made to the general reading public. We imagine that few will read it without being made to think; that few after reading it will continue to see in Germany's war preparations nothing more than the dark shadow of timid people's fears.

It avails little to say that there must be a great body of opinion in Germany against war. There is. As in every other country, there are all the people who are constitutionally averse to war, the people who object to it on ethical grounds, and the far larger class again who desire peace for no more heroic reason than that war would do a damage to their immediate material interests. But while making every allowance for these pacific influences we are obviously only indulging in a fool's dream if for one moment we imagine that they will weigh in the balance against the organised Pan-Germanic ambition super-imposed on an organised hatred of Britain and all her works. How deeply the popular mind of Germany is obsessed with this turn of sentiment is shown in no way more significantly than in the acquiescence of even leading socialist organs in the policy of the Wilhelmstrasse. When we have Herr Bebel, the political leader of the German socialists, admitting the possibility of war, and Mr. Hyndman, the most influential of English socialists, telling the English people, through the "Clarion," that England is "face to face to-day with a greater danger than ever threatened her shores from Napoleon," and Mr. Blatchford, of the "Clarion," definitely fixing six years contingent on naval programmes as the date of war, we can scarcely fail to be impressed, even had we nothing more than these expressions of opinion to go upon. But in the article we quote the writer gives us the evidences of fixed hostile intention gathered in so wide a field that their cumulative force seems irresistible. The revelation we here get of the way in which German opinion has been organised and drilled is no less impressive than the preparations which are being made to translate that opinion into action.

On the basis of the existing programmes, the "preparation" will have been complete in about six years' time, possibly a little longer. Until then Germany will avoid rather than court a quarrel. But then she will strike, and strike with all her might. True, we have heard this often enough before in a casual sort of way. What we have now got to do is to realise it—to hope that it will not occur, but to act (as the writer we quote advises the whole Empire to do) as though it is certain to occur. We do not wish to exaggerate the probabilities of war; we cannot exaggerate the importance—the imperative, the vital necessity, in fact—of being prepared for it. We in Australia have no conscious prejudice against Germans. We have Germans among us whom we can genuinely esteem as citizens and as friends, just as we can appreciate, and warmly appreciate, the prodigious and wholesome factor Germany is in the Western civilisation of to-day. So in discussing this matter we do it without rancour, and we hope without any misconceptions as to the value to the world of the Germanic stock which is so large and desirable a component of our own breed. But that is not now the point. We cannot dissociate ourselves from Britain if we would, and would not if we could. A blow struck at the heart of the Empire is a blow struck at us, and just as the darkest hour of the Boer war was the brightest hour of Australian loyalty, so we conceive that in the position which Britain now has to face the daughter nations, and, most of all, Australia, will be found doing that which the exigencies of the Imperial situation demands.

What that Imperial duty involves in its entirety we are not prepared at this moment to say. But we do say that on the Dutch principle, that the "shirt is nearer than the coat," our first duty is to see that we make the most ample provision we are capable of making for the defence of Australia. Just as the dawning upon informed Englishmen of the real import of German intentions has caused all unrelated international questions to sink into relative insignificance, so we hope the importance of the defence question will lay such hold of the Federal Parliament that it will ruthlessly brush aside every doctrinaire objection, and apply its combined intelligence to the task of giving to Australia the most far-reaching system of defence its manhood is capable of supplying. Our time of trial may be years ahead. The time for our preparations to begin is now. But involved in our local safety, and beyond it, is the safety of the Empire. Our own safety can only be jeopardised by a paralysing blow at the heart of the Empire. It is plain as daylight that virile, fecund Germany must get an outlet for her surplus sons and a vent for her Pan-Germanic ambitions, or else fall back in the competition of nations. Equally clear is it that that outlet and that vent must not be obtained at the expense of the British Empire, exasperating though we know it must be to Germany to find all the large desirable places of the earth, apart from South America, flying the Union Jack. The qualities of mind and character that planted that flag in those places we believe are equal to the task of keeping it there. But the task is becoming increasingly great. Within the German Empire alone Germany has now a population of some 64,000,000 of people, which are increasing at the rate of 1,000,000 a year—a faster rate than any other Western people. It is a mistake to suppose that German finance is not capable of a larger strain than is now put upon it. Its present limitations are imposed only by the Federal Constitution, but a movement is already afoot to remedy that. Very plain it is, however, that Britain, with her smaller population, if she is to maintain her sea supremacy in the face of any competition, no matter how formidable, will feel the strain. The question for Australia and the rest of the daughter nations now to put to themselves is: Shall we let her bear it alone?

THE COMMONWEALTH.

The arrival of a new Governor-General has given Australians a fitting opportunity of asking themselves what progress they have made since the first Governor-General was appointed. It is a very interesting moment in our history. We have but lately experienced the advantages that the union has given us in our dealings with our friends, and have been compelled to realise the responsibilities, as well as the benefits, that follow the adoption of a national policy. In the session that is to open next week Parliament will be asked to give serious attention to one of the main purposes of the federation—the establishment of a scheme of national defence. At the same time it will be called upon to put an end to one of the chief obstacles to the cohesion of the States by finally choosing a site for the Federal capital. It is probable that it will be asked to declare that the powers given to the Commonwealth shall be enlarged. If it agrees the people will shortly be asked to ratify a proposal for a change in the Constitution, in order to give enlarged powers to the Commonwealth Parliament. They will not be asked to say that a theory of Federal government should be accepted now different from that which is expressed in the Constitution. It cannot be contended that the decisions of the High Court in the recent constituted cases have been in any way contrary to the beliefs of the leaders of the Conventions. The people will be asked to say that certain changes are desirable, and that they must be obtained from the Commonwealth, since they cannot be obtained from the States. Nevertheless, though the proposed change is one not of principle, but of detail, it is natural that as they contemplate it they should ask themselves whether, if it were possible, they would restore to the six States the full powers they possessed when Australians had no other legal symbol of their unity than the British Crown. The same people are compelled to ask how far we have shown ourselves capable of using the most popular of all Constitutions, the Constitution which we devised ourselves, with the experience of other nations before us, as an instrument for promoting the public welfare.

Lord Northcote in his farewell speeches has more than once pointed out one of the sources of potential, if not of actual, danger. His praise of the Commonwealth and of those who serve it has been in a sense a reproach to the reluctance of his hearers to take part in political life, and to their carelessness about voting at elections. In one respect, the history of the federation has fulfilled all that was predicted by the Cassandras of their time. The increase in the jurisdiction of Parliament has not on the whole attracted a more numerous or a better equipped body of men to political life. On the contrary, except at the seat of government, men capable of serving their country have found the sacrifice of time and energy incident to politics increased beyond endurance by the distance between Melbourne and their homes. Here is a difficulty that does not seem likely to be removed by the lapse of time, the best remedy for the ills that are caused by the squabbles of politicians or provincial jealousies. We can only look with envy on the electors of Great Britain, who, without expecting any abnormal devotion to their service, can find men able, as well as willing, to give to politics abilities that would ensure to them a leading place in any department of life. Our case, however, would be immensely better than it is were there a more active public opinion at work among us. We must acknowledge it as a reproach, that though the importance of our position in the world has vastly increased, though politics can now exercise an immediate effect on our lives, no effort is made to bring to bear on Parliament the influence of an instructed and critical public opinion. The classes that complain, and with most reason, of the trend of legislation, the primary producers and the members of professions, still neglect to take the only course open to them to reverse it. Members of Parliament remain without either the check or the encouragement that they would derive from an active interest in their work.

It is a natural consequence of this lack of public spirit that the primary needs of the Commonwealth have been neglected to make way for the proposals of the party which has held the balance of power. Much time has been spent on the discussion of measures which not even their most ardent supporters have considered vitally necessary to any section of the population. To say that it was necessary to put on the Statute Book the Acts which are now declared to be unconstitutional, in order to secure support for reasonable schemes of defence and immigration, is to make the worst possible comment, if not on the patriotism, at least on the foresight of legislators and their constituents. For, as Lord Northcote has pointed out, proper provision for defence and immigration, which are complementary, is indispensable if we are to maintain the one ideal, which may be truly called national, the ideal of a "white Australia." It is an accepted axiom that no people can call itself a nation unless it is prepared to defend itself in an emergency. It is equally true that no nation can be ready in an emergency except as the result of continued strenuous preparation, and that no people deserves, or can hope to maintain, such an ideal as ours without sacrifices. Only when we have made the exertions that can be made in peace can it be said that our ideal has become a part of the national life.

The only answer to the question—Has the Commonwealth been a success?—that can be given by an Australian who is neither an incorrigible pessimist nor an uncritical opponent of every change is that the question is premature. It is natural that there should be a reaction from the enthusiasm of the early Federalists. They forgot the inevitable effect of fifty years of interstate rivalry, of the social and political bitterness that has divided parties, and of the associations which had been formed round our statesmen before they went from the colonies to the Federal Government. Our politicians have been handicapped as actors are by the memories of earlier parts. There can, however, be no doubt of the answer to the other question we have mentioned. Nine Australians out of ten would decline to go back to the pre-Federal era were they given the opportunity. To do so would convict ourselves of incapacity for self-government and of want of hope in the future. The present generation would find it a difficult step to take; it will be impossible in the future when time has obliterated personal and political rivalries, and statesmen have become familiar with the co-operation of two bodies with overlapping jurisdiction. In its short history the Commonwealth has not had a fair trial from its critics, either from those who expected too much from the change, or from their opponents who are determined to see no good in what they originally condemned. If it is a failure we must record the fact that alone among Anglo-Saxon peoples we have lost the great gift of our race, the capacity for self-government. Its success depends clearly on the ability of our leaders to keep before the people these essential duties—to provide for defence, to attract immigrants, and to secure for them either employment or abundance of accessible land, and to make the people realise that our safety is in danger so long as our duties are unfulfilled.

To-day's "Herald."—Mr. Lucy, after a sketch of the financial situation before Mr. Lloyd George when he presents his next Budget, discusses the modern training of crews and officers on warships, the portraits of artists, and Browning's lament at the late recognition of his dramas. Our London correspondent gathers up in an admirable letter the marvels of a marvellous week, including the record-breaking speed of the Indomitable, the extension of wireless telegraphy throughout the fleet, the 500 miles run of the submarines, and the flight and destruction of Zeppelin's airship. We publish a synopsis of the principal articles in the August Reviews. "In the Garden" contains abundant suggestion to amateurs for seasonable work in the open flower-beds, bush and glass houses, orchard, and vegetable garden.

A Legislative Error.—The case referred to in yesterday's "Herald" in which a man who was successful at the official ballot for a block of Crown lands, but was disqualified because he was the owner of a building lot outside of a Government township, is a thing that may happen to any owner of a residential area in most parts of the State. Under what is known as the Conditional Purchase Lease Act persons holding any land outside the city of Sydney, or land not being portion of town or suburban lands "within the meaning of the original Act," are disqualified. It was ascertained after the passing of the measure that town and suburban lands under the original Act were lands within Government township and suburban subdivisions. It is purely a legislative error, which has, however, no doubt been responsible for a good deal of hardship. In the amending Land Act introduced last session and during the last Parliament to deal principally with conversion of certain leases a clause was included to rectify the error, and to make the disqualification the holding of an area exceeding 40 acres. As it is, owners of building land in practically the whole of the metropolitan area outside the city proper are debarred from acquiring farming lands under the Conditional Purchase Lease Act.

The Darling Harbour Block.—The Railway Commissioners are endeavouring to devise some means of overcoming the congestion of business at Darling Harbour. Mr. Kirkcaldie stated yesterday that the whole of the circumstances were being carefully investigated, and consideration was being given to the representations of the master carriers on the subject. The whole trouble, Mr. Kirkcaldie added, arose out of the rush of goods which occurred late in the afternoon. If the business was distributed more generally throughout the day there would be no congestion, but the afternoon rush created an abnormal condition of things, and the whole trouble resulted. Steps were being taken to overcome the congestion, and he anticipated that arrangements to meet the situation would shortly be made.

"Loyal" Tram Men.—The emergency hands who were engaged to run the trams during the strike were given to understand that if they could pass the medical and other tests prescribed for men entering the service they would be permanently employed. The tests have been proceeding for some time past, and it is understood that a considerable percentage of the "loyal" men have failed to pass, and as a result must leave the service. A number of the loyalists have still to submit themselves to the ordeal of the tests, and it is anticipated that many of them will not get through successfully.

"The Greatest Bulwark of Defence."—"It will be time enough," said Mr. Johnson, M.P., at Peakhurst, "when we have from ten to fifteen millions of people here to talk about an Australian Navy. The greatest bulwark of defence for Australia would be a constantly increasing stream of population. With a seaboard of 8000 miles to defend, of what earthly use would be the puny navy that Australia could hope to build and maintain? How could four millions of people hope to stand the crushing burden of debt and taxation that the building and maintenance of a navy would entail? It has to be remembered that a single battleship would swallow up a million of money, and in ten years' time would be obsolete. Rather should we contribute more liberally to the maintenance of the British fleet, for it is the fear of that fleet that keeps Australia free from molestation."

Elasticity of Conscience.—Persons desiring to be married by the Registrar-General or his deputy must sign a declaration that they have "conscientious objections" to being married by a clergyman. Conscience is remarkably elastic in this respect. In a divorce suit heard by Mr. Justice G. B. Simpson, the petitioner stated that she and her husband were members of the Roman Catholic Church, and were married by the Registrar-General. "Why not by the priest?" asked his Honor. "It was Lent," petitioner replied. "You had no objection to being married in Church?" pursued his Honor. "Oh, no," answered the lady. "Then you made a false declaration before the Registrar-General," commented his Honor, and as petitioner denied having made any declaration, the document bearing her signature was turned up and submitted to her. She had quite forgotten it.

Overland to the Manning.—A new tourist route is being advertised by the Government Tourist Bureau. The excursion will start from Sydney on Saturday, October 3, and continue till the following Friday, including Eight-hour Day. The party will travel to Newcastle by rail, ferry to North Shore (Stockton), and drive to Salt Ash at the head of Telligerry Creek. The steamer will meet the visitors there and proceed via Port Stephens to Tea Gardens, where the first night will be spent. On Sunday the steamer will convey the party to Bulahdelah, via the Lower and Upper Myall River. The Alum Mountain and quarries will be inspected during the afternoon, and next morning coaches will take the tourists to Taree via Coolongolook and Nabiac, through fine bush country. A day will be spent exploring the Manning River and surrounding country. The return journey will be from Taree to Tuncurry and Forster, Cape Hawke (where a fishing excursion has been provided for), launch via Wallis Lake, coach to Smith's Lake and Bungwahl, and by steamer through the Myall Lakes back to Port Stephens and Newcastle.

Matrimonial Blanks.—White for weddings; black for funerals. Fashion, changeful as the wind is at least constant in these respects. But fashion does not know the Divorce Court, and the "dressing" of fair petitioners ranges from sombre black, unrelieved by a touch of colour, to holiday frocks. It is the minority who give but little thought to their personal appearance when interviewing Mr. Justice G. B. Simpson, and it is they who writhe when narrating their stories of domestic wretchedness. Others tell their story in a matter of fact way, and are chiefly concerned in his Honor's finding. One black-gowned and black-veiled petitioner who got her decree yesterday came provided with a pocket diary, in which she had methodically entered up all necessary dates and facts, and these were referred to with unruffled deliberation. Many are as eager for freedom as they were formerly eager to enter the married state, and with the coveted decree nisi in their possession they leave the Court rejoicing. Victory, even in a divorce suit, is with many a matter for congratulation.

Pure Milk Depots.—At the meeting held at Government House on Thursday night, in furtherance of the establishment of pure milk depots, Dr. Mackellar supplied some remarkable figures showing how infantile mortality had decreased in proportion as improvement in the quality of the milk supplies had taken place. During the five years preceding the passing of the Dairies Supervision Act, the infantile mortality averaged 126.2 per 1000 births, whilst in the corresponding five years ended 1906 the death rate had fallen to 91.5 per 1000. In 1886 the mortality was 127 per 1000, while 20 years later it was 74.5 per 1000. In 1886 the mortality at all ages from consumption for the whole State was 1.16, while in 1906 it had fallen to .60 per 1000. The doctor showed how peculiarly liable milk was to bacterial contamination, and he made the remarkable statement that it was probably in the home of the consumer that the chief harm was done, because milk was generally exposed for long periods without any precautions whatever. The speaker also referred to the growing tendency of mothers to shirk their maternal duties. This occurred at both ends of the social scale, amongst the "well-to-do," because of the restraint which nursing implies, and amongst the poor, because the women invariably had to go to work and absent themselves from the home. He was of opinion that the establishment of an institution where milk could be procured practically germ-free and in sealed bottles, must prove a great boon to the community.

Telegraph Messengers.—The Public Service Commissioner (Mr. D. C. M'Lachlan) points out that although the Post and Telegraph Act prescribes that telegraph messengers must retire upon reaching the age of 18 years unless previously promoted, it is worthy of note that no telegraph messenger who has qualified for promotion by obtaining half-marks in arithmetic at his entrance examination, or at a subsequent examination of the same standard, has failed to secure promotion during the past two years. It is notified by advertisement that an examination in handwriting, spelling, and simple arithmetic for appointment as telegraph messenger will be held in Sydney on November 7.

A Chinese Invasion.—If the Asiatics in all their nationalities are fond of litigation, the Chinese had a carnival at the Quarter Sessions Court yesterday. No less than 16 of them lined up before Judge Scholes to prosecute an appeal against a conviction which Mr. Payten, S.M., recorded against them, as they had been found in a house which was deemed a common gaming house. About the middle of last June the police made a raid on a house in the west end of the city, and found the whole 16 of them there, together with certain appliances said to be used for playing an unlawful game or games, and a small sum of money. All hands, with their kits, or kips, or whatever their appliances are called, also their money, were first locked up, and then brought before the magistrate, who fined the principal man £25 for being the keeper of the house, and the rest £2 each for being there without lawful excuse. It was, however, deemed that the conviction might be upset, and a point was taken that there was no evidence that the house in which they were found was a common gaming house as alleged. For more than two hours the argument between Bench and Bar waged round this mingled question of law and fact; sometimes it was argued as a thing to be determined on the facts, sometimes as one to be decided on the law. Eventually his Honor found against the appellants. As a matter of fact, he found that the men were in the place. As a matter of law he decided that it was a common gaming house, and as a consequence he upheld the conviction.

At the last council meeting of the Women's Liberal League of N.S.W., the hon. organising secretary reported that the Women's Political Association of Hobart, Tasmania, had affiliated with the Women's Liberal League of N.S.W. A number of petitions in favour of Dr. Mackellar's Girls' Protection Bill were being prepared by the different branches. The C.D. Bill was discussed, but an opinion referred till the new bill was available.

From Farmer and Co., Ltd., we have received a copy of their Spring and Summer Fashion Book, consisting of 60 pages of illustrations.

A successful fete was held on Thursday on grounds lent by Miss Alice Friend at Burwood-road, in aid of the Burwood Bed Endowment Fund (Queen Victoria Homes for Consumptives). Mrs. Hugh Dixon opened the fete at 2.30 p.m. £200 was realised.

Mr. W. Benson considers that the electric lamps recently installed in the Lavender Bay tunnel are a complete failure, their flashes through the train windows being painful to the sight. If the steady light of the ordinary lamps in the carriages cannot be made available, darkness during the few minutes' passage through the tunnel would, he says, be preferable.

Mr. T. M. D. Mundle writes to correct an error in the last paragraph of his letter in Friday's "Sydney Morning Herald." The passage should read:—"I have not forgotten that Australian waters are the right place to defend Australia, but England's waters are the right place to train the navy, which some day may fight our battles."

"A Casual Glance" in this week's "Sydney Mail" is, as usual, crisply written and humorously illustrated.—Advt.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

Her Excellency Lady Northcote, before leaving Sydney, was pleased to accept the honorary membership of the Women's Patriotic Club, and also presented the club with a photograph of herself, which will be placed in the clubroom.

His Excellency the Governor, Miss Rawson, and suite were present last night at the Palace Theatre, to witness a performance of "The Private Secretary."

Cardinal Moran will celebrate his 78th birthday on Wednesday next. He also entered on the 25th year of his work in New South Wales last Tuesday. He is a native of County Carlow, Ireland, and was ordained in 1853 by special dispensation as to age. He was for some time private secretary to his uncle, Cardinal Cullen, the first Irish Cardinal.

The position of Naval Commandant in Queensland, rendered vacant by the death of Captain Colquhoun, has not yet been filled. It is practically certain (telegraphs our Melbourne correspondent) that Commander Richardson, of the Victorian forces, will be appointed.

By the last English mail news was received of the death of Mr. Cecil Edge, the prominent motorist, and cousin to Mr. S. F. Edge (the champion English motorist), also cousin to Mr. Wm. A. Edge, newsagent, of Petersham and Lewisham. Mr. Cecil Edge was an Australian, having been born at Victoria-street, Darlinghurst, in November, 1880, and was therefore in his 28th year at the time of his death. He was the only child of Mr. Arthur Edge, R.N., and was taken to England by his parents when four years of age. Besides being a skilled motorist, Mr. Edge was a writer to the various sporting periodicals.

Miss Katharine Goodson, one of the leading pianists of the day, and perhaps the only English pianist of her sex with a European reputation, arrived here yesterday. This artist left the Leschetizky Academy in 1896, and at once opened her career brilliantly with four appearances during the same season at the Monday Popular Concerts, London. Her debut at Berlin was in 1899, and during her frequent starring tours of the United Kingdom she has played repeatedly with the Richter Symphony Orchestra, and with Henry Wood's Orchestra at Queen's Hall, where also her farewell was on June 2 this year, with an orchestra conducted by Mlynarski. Her Continental appearances in France and Germany have been many. Our brilliantly-gifted visitor is equally at home in the United States. Her debut there at Boston with the famous Symphony Orchestra, under Dr. Carl Muck, in January, 1907, led to 23 engagements, and an invitation to return towards the end of the same year. Now she has "signed on" for 70 concerts, opening at Vancouver during Christmas week, and travelling east. Sydney amateurs will eagerly embrace an opportunity of hearing an artist so distinguished, and one or two appearances will be made here next month. But primarily the star pianist is over here for rest and recreation, a keener edge to which is possibly given by the fact that she has with her a veritable slave to active duty. Her husband, Mr. Arthur Hinton, a classic composer of some eminence, is over here as examiner for the Associated Board, and this will occupy him in various parts of the Commonwealth until November.

The late Mr. Nicholas Hawken, M.L.C., of Sussex-street, who died at his residence, The Gables, City-road, Darlington, on July 14, 1908, by his will appointed his sons Roger William Hercules Hawken, Charles Edmund Darlington Hawken, and Harold Garnet Wolseley Hawken, and Mr. W. A. Gilder, solicitor, of Sydney, as trustees and executors. He bequeathed the whole of his house furniture and effects to his daughters, Isabella Phillippe Hawken and Jane Adelaide Hawken, and also £500, to be paid to each of them within 12 months of his death. The residue of his realty and personalty he gave to his children in equal shares. The trustees were empowered to carry on his interest in the firm of Hawken and Vance if they thought fit. The net value of the estate for probate was sworn at £14,650 6s 2d, £13,889 being real estate.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the National Defence League Sir Julian Salomons, K.C., was unanimously elected president of the league (N.S.W. division), in succession to Sir Normand MacLaurin, resigned.

Mr. F. E. Manning, Sydney manager for the Baker and Rouse Proprietary, Limited, was the guest at a dinner given by the firm at Beach's Cafe on Thursday evening, on the occasion of his approaching marriage. All the members of the staff were present, with Mr. Rouse presiding. Mr. Manning was made the recipient of wedding presents from the firm and from his fellow-employees.

Mr. James W. Taylor, who lately retired from the North Sydney police force, has been presented by the residents of Turramurra with a purse of sovereigns.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bennett gave an enjoyable at home at the Royal Art Society's rooms on Thursday afternoon. Amongst those present were Mrs. and Miss Moore, Mrs. and Miss Wallace, Mrs. and Miss Pockley, Mrs. Nall, Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. Tom Marshall, Miss Parnell, and Mrs. and Miss Traill.

Mrs. W. Woods, a resident of the Gundagai district for 57 years, has died, aged 74 years. She leaves descendants numbering 86.

A public meeting was held last night at the Waverley Methodist school hall for the purpose of extending practical sympathy to the widow and six children of the late Mr. Frederick Phillips, who died as the result of an accident at Hornsby on Tuesday. The chair was occupied by Mr. R. G. Watkins (Mayor), and several gentlemen prominent in the district spoke in support of the movement. The deceased was for 12 years a resident of Waverley. A substantial response was made, and a committee was appointed to further the matter. A ladies' committee, with Mrs. Watkins as president, was also appointed.

Mr. Nathaniel Levi, after two years' illness, died yesterday at St. Kilda, Victoria. He had been suffering from an internal growth. In 1869 Mr. Levi contested the Maryborough seat, and headed the poll by a majority of 166 votes. He was the first Jew to enter the Victorian Parliament. The election was one of the most riotous in the history of the State. A pistol was actually fired into the successful candidate's committee room during its progress. Five years later Mr. Levi lost the Maryborough seat, but immediately afterwards he secured the representation of East Melbourne amidst more rowdyism. Upon the dissolution of Parliament three years later, he failed to retain his seat. In 1892 Mr. Levi was returned to the Legislative Council, and he sat in the Upper House until the reduction of members in 1904. He was one of the founders and a trustee of the Melbourne Chamber of Manufactures. Deceased was 78 years of age.

At the Flourmill Owners' Conference yesterday a vote of sympathy with Mr. J. S. Brunton was passed by the delegates, who referred sympathetically to the death of the late Mr. Thomas Brunton, one of the oldest millers in Australia.

At the annual meeting of the Teachers' Association of New South Wales reference was made to the early departure for England of Miss Hodge and Miss Newcombe, and a motion was passed putting on record their valuable services to education in this State. Mr. Board, Under-Secretary for Public Instruction, said that education here would suffer a loss by their departure.

EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS.

INAUGURATION CEREMONY.

COLONIAL PRELATES PRESENT.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

At the inauguration of the Eucharistic Congress in Westminster Cathedral last evening Archbishop Carr (Melbourne) sat next to the Cardinals who were on the High Altar.

Archbishop Kelly (Sydney), the Bishop of Ballarat (Dr. Higgins), the Bishop of Auckland (Dr. Lenihan), and other colonial bishops occupied seats in the sanctuary.

Mr. Daniel O'Connor headed the procession as Senior Papal Knight Commander.

THE ROYAL DECLARATION.

DESCRIBED AS AN INSULT.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

Large audiences have attended the Eucharistic Congress.

Lord Landaff read a paper, and the Duke of Norfolk in the subsequent discussion, described the Royal Declaration as an insult to the King and the good sense of the nation, besides being a travesty on the Catholic doctrine.

It was announced that the Congress in 1909 would be held at Lourdes, in France, and in 1910, at Montreal, in Canada.

The Papal Legate (Cardinal Vannutelli), Archbishop Carr (Melbourne), and the Duke of Norfolk, were among the speakers at a crowded meeting in the Albert Hall.

RECEIVING THE KING'S ATTENTION.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

Mr. Herbert Gladstone Home Secretary) has intimated that the Protestant petition, asking that the proposed procession of the Blessed Sacrament through the streets about Westminster on Sunday be not permitted, is receiving the King's attention.

The "Times" deprecates the mistake made by the promoters of the procession.

It states that the disregard of the statute is not conducive to the success they hope for.

The "Times" adds that Lily and Wallis, Roman Catholic lawyers, in a manual of law affecting Roman Catholics, show that the Catholic rites, ceremonies, and vestments are restricted to places of worship.

PEACE ASSURED.

JAPAN'S RIGID ECONOMY.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

Reuter reports that Count Katsura (Prime Minister of Japan), addressing a meeting at the Bankers' Club, outlined Japan's policy.

The report credits Count Katsura with saying that a rigid policy of economy was now fixed, which would place the world's hope of peace on a surer foundation.

THE SULTAN'S AMNESTY.

TURKISH SUSPECT RELEASED.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

Silvio Ricci, who was suspected of being concerned in an attempt on the life of the Sultan of Turkey in 1905, and was arrested on his return recently to Constantinople, has been released from custody, on the ground that his arrest was contrary to the recent amnesty granted by the Sultan to fugitives.

CANADIAN FOREST FIRES.

FORT WILLIAM THREATENED.

Immense areas of forests in the province of Ontario, Canada, are ablaze.

The flames are threatening Fort William.

PROSPECTUS ISSUED.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

The South Australian loan of £2,000,000 at 3½ per cent. was issued to-day, the minimum being fixed at 97½.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

A prospectus issued by the South Australian Government invites the holders of its maturing 4 per cent. stock to convert the same into an equal amount of 3½ per cent. stock, with a cash payment of 47s 6d per cent., the holders retaining the January coupon for payment of interest when due.

The cash applications close on September 15, and the conversion will take place on September 22.

MR. PEAKE'S OPINION.

MR. JENKINS CRITICISED.

The Treasurer, Mr. Peake, when seen to-day in reference to the cable message relating to the loan, said:—

"That is the price which Lloyd's Bank fixed, so that in this new arrangement Lloyd's estimate of the price was about right. Mr. Jenkins in his original statement on July 9 said that, although the money might be dearer in September, the prospects of success in floating a loan would be better than at that time, and that we would also probably get better terms. The flotation of the loan shows that this was not a correct judgment, as the price is exactly the same as Lloyd's proposed to float it at."

TAXATION IN GERMANY.

DUTIES ON LUXURIES.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

An article which has appeared in the "North German Gazette" implies that heavy additional taxation will be imposed on articles of general consumption, and more especially on luxuries.

Taxes are also anticipated on gas and electricity, and there will be an extension of the legacy duties.

ENGINEERS' DISPUTE.

A SETTLEMENT HOPEFUL.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

A joint conference which has been held in London adopted, subject to the confirmation of a ballot by the men, terms for a settlement of the north-east coast engineers' dispute.

ALBERTI'S DEFALCATIONS.

TOTAL, ONE MILLION POUNDS.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

The defalcations of Alberti, an ex-Minister of Justice of Denmark, who was arrested in Canada on his own confession for defrauding the Peasants' Saving Bank of Zealand, of which he was a director, amount to £1,000,000.

GLASGOW UNEMPLOYED.

MIDNIGHT MEETING.

DISPERSED BY THE POLICE.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

Inflammatory speeches were made by the unemployed in Glasgow at a meeting held in St. George's-square at midnight.

The police dispersed the meeting, but 3000 rejoined, and started to march to the Lord Provost's house.

When within a quarter of a mile from the destination the mounted police suddenly charged, and scattered the mob in all directions. Batons were freely used and many heads were broken.

A CIVIC REMEDY.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

The Corporation of Glasgow has purchased 170 acres of land whereon to provide work for the unemployed.

Similar action has been taken by the Liverpool Corporation.

"WHITE AUSTRALIA."

LONDON PRESS CRITICISM.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

The "Westminster Gazette," commenting on the "Times'" cable of the last conference of State Premiers, stating that it had been decided "to hamper and resist the Federal Government's encouragement of immigration," expresses the opinion that the success of the "white Australia" policy will depend upon whether sufficient numbers are attracted to justify the exclusion of non-whites.

Mr. Wade, speaking at the Premiers' Conference at Melbourne in May, said:—"Once you give power to the Commonwealth to discriminate or invite immigrants to come to one State in preference to another you are sowing the inevitable seed of discord and trouble. Unless we confine the operations of the Commonwealth to purely informative work of a general and colourless character, we must go further and give them power to choose immigrants for one State rather than for another. Then we are on dangerous ground, in which there is the possibility of State jealousy being stirred up. Our safe course is to fall back on the practice that in the past has proved to be useful in my own State."

He moved,—"That this conference is of opinion that the Federal Government can assist the States in promoting a stream of immigrants to Australia by generally advertising the advantages that Australia offers; but that all matters relating to the selection of individual immigrants be left in the hands of the several States, so that each State shall control its own immigration policy."

Mr. Swinburne (Vic.) suggested that the motion should be altered to read as follows:—"That this conference is of opinion that the Federal Government should co-operate with the States in promoting and otherwise assisting immigration to Australia by generally advertising the advantages which Australia offers; but that all matters relating to the selection of individual immigrants be left in the hands of the several States."

This was agreed to.

REJECTS ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

The Trade Union Congress at Nottingham, by 1,099,000 votes to 645,000, rejected a proposal by Mr. Ben Tillett for arbitration and conciliation, both voluntary and compulsory, in trade disputes.

Mr. Wilson Harvey, M.P., opposed the resolution on the ground that trade unions should never arbitrate unless they had a living wage.

The Congress demanded drastic legislation to deal with the unemployment question.

A discussion took place regarding the discharge of old workmen as the result of the Workmen's Compensation Acts; and it was resolved to try and promote legislation with a view to establishing compulsory State insurance.

Mr. D. J. Shackleton, M.P., announced that Mr. Herbert Gladstone (Home Secretary) in the autumn session purposed appointing a Royal Commission to inquire into the subject.

He intimates that he is greatly touched at the world-wide greetings accorded him on his eightieth birthday.

LOSS OF THE BELMORE.

The Board of Trade has held an inquiry respecting the loss of Messrs. J. Fenwick and Co.'s tug Belmore in the Red Sea, while on a voyage from Glasgow to Sydney.

In the judgment of the board the tug was overladen when she left Port Said. The Plimsoll mark was submerged, and her stability insufficient.

CRICKET IN ENGLAND.

The Earl of Londesborough's English Eleven—a powerful combination—scored 408 for six wickets, when the innings was declared closed. Ranjitsinhji made 101 and Bosanquet 82.

The Marylebone Australian Eleven scored 238 in the first innings, and lost four wickets for 106 in the second, the game being drawn.

BARRY-TOWNS SCULLING MATCH.

Ernest Barry and George Towns have made over their final deposits of £100 aside for the Sportsman's Cup and championship of England, to be rowed on the Thames.

Both men are in excellent condition. Prominent amateurs are generously assisting Towns in his expenses of training.

NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Countess Beauchamp has launched the St. Vincent at Portsmouth.

The Brazilian Dreadnought Minasgeraes has been launched on the Tyne.

The St. Vincent is a battleship of the new type provided for in the 1907 estimates. It has a displacement of 19,250 tons and a speed of 21 knots. It is armed with ten 12-inch guns.

BOXING CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Johnson is considering the terms of a draft agreement to fight Burns in Australia.

Nelson is a Dane, and is known as "Battling" Nelson; Gans is a coloured man. They have met three times. Gans won the first fight, but on the last two occasions Nelson has been successful. A purse of 30,000dol. was put up, 20,000dol. of which was to go to the winner, [illegible] the loser.

A SHARP REVERSE.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S POLICY CHECKED.

RAILWAYS SCORE HEAVILY.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

President Roosevelt's anti-corporation campaign has met with a sharp reverse by the Federal Circuit Court at Pennsylvania, declaring the commodities clause of the Hepburn Act to be unconstitutional.

The clause in question forbids railways to ship from one State to another, or abroad, commodities whereof they are producers or manufacturers, unless such commodities are essential to their legitimate functions as common carriers. It was especially aimed at the railway ownership of collieries.

The railways affected own or control 90 per cent. of the unmined anthracite coal in Pennsylvania.

The United States Attorney-General, Mr. C. J. Bonaparte, has decided to appeal from the decision to the Supreme Court of the United States.

AUSTRALIA'S DIFFICULTIES.

THE "STANDARD'S" OPINION.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

The "Standard," referring to Lord Dudley's reception in Australia, says Australia has difficult questions ahead, especially the question relating to the lack of population, which needs an immediate remedy.

Fortunately, the "Standard" adds, the Governor-General may rely on the capacity and determination of the able and devoted men who are in office under him, and the spirit and energy of the Australian people.

THE COTTON CRISIS.

JOINT CONFERENCE FAILS.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

The joint conference of cotton millers and operatives, held at Manchester, failed to arrive at a settlement.

Efforts are being made to arrange a further conference.

THE ROUTED BERBERS.

HEAVY CASUALTY LIST.

LONDON, Sept. 11.

The casualties of the Berbers, in their engagement with the French troops at Djorf, were 2000.

Colonel Alix, with 5000 men, left the neighbourhood of Budenib, Morocco, to attack 20,000 Moors encamped at Djorf. The Moors commenced the attack, and were routed.

BLACK WAGE SLAVES.

FIVE CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.

John Lemon, one of the Gilbert Islanders who was recruited and sold into slavery in Mexico 18 years ago, told some of his experiences, in rather difficult English, at the Salvation Army Shelter last night.

John was a small boy, with only a native name, when he was recruited by a labour schooner.

"Did they treat you badly, John?"—Puzzled stare.

"Well, did they hit you with a stick? Like this!"—"O-oh no!"

"Did they give you plenty to eat?"—"Yes; plenty," with expressively expansive grin.

"Did any of you die on the schooner?"—A shake of the head.

So they could not have been treated so badly. The schooner sailed for Mexico, and then the islanders were sold as slaves, being sent off in groups, 50 to each plantation. And there they worked all day, from 6 till dark, at picking and drying coffee berries; the men and women remembering, no doubt, the islands and the sound of the surf, and the children remembering nothing but the everlasting picking of coffee berries under a hot sun. In a sense, they were not slaves, for each islander was duly handed over a dollar a day. But the dollar was paid in paper money, and when he came to change it he received 5 cents in cash. And out of the 5 cents he had to buy his food. Food would appear to be cheap in Mexico. The islanders lived by themselves, each man building himself a hut. Their breakfast was of corn, roasted over a fire; their dinner was also of roasted corn, and so was their supper, though sometimes, perhaps on pay day, they could afford meat. And they worked seven days a week.

At last the chance came. Manuel Mariez, the owner of this particular coffee plantation, died. There was a son, but he was away on a visit, so John and the rest of Senor Mariez's employees made for a foreign consulate in a town near by, and this was the beginning of their freedom. And at present they are being looked after by the Salvation Army at the Rescue Home in Pitt-street, near Goulburn-street.

"THE BLIZZARD-SWEPT MONARO."

MR. JOHNSON, M.P., ON THE FEDERAL CAPITAL.

"The meeting of the Federal Parliament in Melbourne is a bad thing for federation," said Mr. Johnson, M.P., at Peakhurst on Thursday evening, "and especially for New South Wales. Yet it is very doubtful if we can get a settlement of the Federal capital question in the present Parliament that would be satisfactory to New South Wales." Continuing, he said that the efforts of the Melbourne newspapers, and the politicians who took their views from those newspapers, aided by some recreant New South Wales members, threatened to make successful the attempt to fix the capital in an eminently unsuitable locality on the blizzard-swept plains of the arid Southern Monaro, contiguous to the Victorian border.

CLAIMS OF NEW ENGLAND.

GLEN INNES, Friday.

The reference made in a leader in the "Herald" yesterday to New England as a desirable situation for the Federal capital is one that is endorsed by public men here, who recognise that in point of accessibility, climatic conditions, and geographical situation the tableland of Glen Innes in particular would be an ideal position. The Beardy Plains, which extend several miles, would in every way be suitable for an ideal capital. Before the question of the site is finally decided it is thought that the authorities should cause a formal inspection to be made of New England.

SHORTAGE OF MEAT.

PRICES EXCEED LONDON QUOTATIONS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Dr. Brown, Superintendent of Food for Export, states that there is a shortage of meat not only in Victoria but throughout Australia. Cattle are being trucked here from Hergott and Oodnadatta, in South Australia. If it were not for these importations there would have been almost a beef famine in Victoria. The retail price for rump steak is now 10d per lb, and up to 1s is paid for prime cuts. Pork has reached the very high figure of 10d, and legs of mutton 6d per lb. These rates are higher than any prices since the early days. They exceed those on the London market.

ALLEGED THEFT OF JEWELLERY.

ACCUSED DISCHARGED.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The hearing of charges against Maurice Posner and Edward Posner, of Bourke-street, jewellers, and Henry Robertson, of stealing jewellery or alternatively of receiving it knowing it to have been stolen, was concluded to-day. Victor Simpson, the fourth man originally charged, was last evening acquitted by the jury at the direction of Judge Johnston. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and accused were discharged.

GERMS AWAIT THEIR PREY.

SAD DEATH OF A CHILD.

GOULBURN, Friday.

A curious circumstance in connection with the death from diphtheria of a five-year-old girl named Lydia Dickin, an only child, is that some months ago, when the disease existed here, her parents took her to New Zealand, as there was a case in a house near where they were living. They returned when all signs of diphtheria had disappeared, but the child contracted the malady, and succumbed to it.

KETCH JEERA LOST.

ALL HANDS SAVED.

A MUCH-BATTERED CRAFT.

FIREBALLS AND WATERSPOUTS.

News reached Sydney yesterday of the total loss of the island trading ketch Jeera, at Orokolo, near the head of the Papuan Gulf. All hands succeeded in safely reaching the mainland, and yesterday arrived at Cooktown by Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co.'s steamer Moresby, from Port Moresby.

The Jeera was about to leave Orokolo, when she encountered exceptionally heavy weather, and was driven ashore. The south-east season—which is generally responsible for shipping mishaps in Papua—is now at its height. Shortly after the Jeera struck she was dashed into pieces, and wreckage quickly made its way ashore.

The Jeera was owned by Messrs. Kunson and Gors, of Papua, who employed her in the trade between Cooktown and Papuan ports, and she was commanded by Captain Kunson, one of the partners. The lost vessel was built of hardwood, at Crookhaven, and was formerly engaged in the timber-carrying trade on this coast. She was a vessel of 57 tons, her length being 78ft.

A few years ago the Jeera was purchased by Mr. Soren Christensen, who first employed her in the trade between the mainland and Papua. While thus engaged the Jeera was subsidised by the London Missionary Society for the carriage of mails, stores, and passengers. Captain Christensen disposed of the ketch to her late owners in August, 1906.

The Jeera was insured in the Canton Insurance Company, but for what amount has not transpired.

A Marine Court of Inquiry was formed in New Guinea before the Moresby sailed for Cooktown, and Captain Kunson was exonerated from all blame.

The career of the Jeera, though comparatively short, has been a very romantic one. About four or five years ago, while on her way to New Guinea, she was struck by fireballs during a severe electrical disturbance, and for a time the position was one of great peril.

Another sensational incident occurred in July, 1904, while the ketch was bound from Papua to Queensland. During a dead calm an enormous waterspout was observed approaching the vessel. There were 16 passengers on board, and they with the officers and crew viewed the situation with considerable alarm. There was not a breath of wind, and the motionless vessel was absolutely helpless. It was recognised that if the Jeera encountered the waterspout she would be swamped and founder with all hands.

As the waterspout approached, Captain Robertson, who was then in command, ordered all the firearms on board the ship to be produced. Several rifles were found, and quickly charged, and these were supplied to passengers and crew. At a given signal a volley was fired, and in the words of the official report of Captain Robertson, "the concussion broke the spiral form, and the ship was saved."

A few months later—in November, 1904—the Jeera was wrecked during heavy weather on a reef near Dederi Point, about 15 miles from Samarai. The opinion was then ventured that the Jeera would become a total loss and break up, but, after having been on the reef for five days, she was successfully refloated, the only damage sustained being the loss of a part of the false keel.

IDEAL LAW.

PLAINTIFF, DEFENDANT, JUDGE

A QUIET DISCUSSION.

Yesterday in the District Court, before Judge Rogers, William Hodges sued Robert H. Elvy (Elvy and Co.) for £8 2s commission, balance of the commission which he claimed as due on the sale of pianos, and for negotiating the sale of a piano at Mosman. Plaintiff conducted his own case, and so did defendant.

As the plaintiff was his own witness, and the defendant his own witness also, one of them was in the box nearly all the time; and the trial resolved itself into a quiet little family discussion round three sides of a triangle—the Judge, the witness, and the other party.

Examination in chief became the telling of a short story; cross-examination, a sort of smart dialogue—in this fashion:—

Defendant in the witness-box.

Plaintiff (from just beneath it): Have you not done other business through my introduction?

Defendant: I don't know anything about that. You may have. I am not a clairvoyant.

Plaintiff: I was in close touch with your firm.

Defendant: You had great friendship and respect for it.

Plaintiff: Unfortunately. But that has nothing to do with the case. To get back to the charge, we say the pianos were sold.

Plaintiff was looking for the particulars of claim. The Judge had them: May I trouble your Honor for the—the summons?

The Judge (looking blankly at him): The summons?

The Judge: Oh, the particulars!

So the case went on.

When the defendant stepped from the box the time for addresses came. Oh, that they could always be managed as simply! This was what happened:—

Judge: Now, let's take things in order. First of all, does the defendant want to say anything?

Defendant: Nothing more, sir.

Judge: Does the plaintiff wish to say anything?

Plaintiff: I think I have stated my case fairly.

Judge: I think I understand it all.

Plaintiff: I flatly contradicted the defendant in the box, and I want your Honor to say which you believe.

Judge: Don't say that. Every day we have flat contradictions here, and I am sure generally each side thinks it is telling the truth.

Plaintiff: Well, I ask you to say my memory has been better.

Judge: I have only to decide upon the contract.

Defendant: I am satisfied.

And there ended the addresses. Judgment was simpler still. The Judge said to plaintiff: —When I asked you at the beginning you said you made 10 per cent. on all pianos sold through you. As I understand it, that meant an absolute sale, not a hiring agreement. When the piano is finally sold then and only then can you sue. I think there must be a verdict for defendant.

Defendant then left the court. But plaintiff was not clear on one point; so he just asked: Am I not entitled to the commission on the actual sale?

Judge: You are entitled when the piano is sold. The ground on which I put my verdict for the defendant is that on my view you have sued too soon.

LORD NORTHCOTE.

SAILS FOR JAPAN.

BRISBANE, Friday.

Some indication of the warm regard for Lord and Lady Northcote was given to-night on the occasion of their departure from Brisbane for Pinkenba, where they boarded the Kumano Maru for Japan. They took leave of Lord Chelmsford and family at Government House shortly before 6 o'clock, and attended by a detachment of the R.A.A. as escort drove to the Central station. The vessel left punctually at 7 o'clock. Lord Northcote refrained from any final message to the people of Australia, but Lady Northcote gave authority for a statement that she and Lord Northcote desired to voice their sincere appreciation of the kindly expressions of esteem shown them during their stay at Brisbane, and to say that they were deeply moved by the demonstrations of affection shown them. They left, she said, with very strong remembrance of the kindly acts of the Queensland people towards them, during their stay.

BROKEN HILL WAGES TROUBLE

REQUEST FOR A CONFERENCE GRANTED.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Mr. W. D. Barnett, secretary of the Trades Unions' Conference, received a letter to-day from Mr. Wainwright, secretary of the Mining Managers' Association, notifying that the managers would meet the men's representatives in conference over the wages question. The letter will be considered by the men's delegates at a meeting to-night.

SELF-RELIANT FARMERS.

WEST MAITLAND, Friday.

A meeting of Bolwarra farmers interested in the upkeep of the embankments raised to keep out floods decided to spend £500 in heightening and strengthening two and a half miles of embankment. Several speakers referred to the benefits derived by the Bolwarra farmers during the past year in having crops protected from inundation, and decided to raise the sum required by a tax of 5s 3d per acre on lands subject to flood.

AUSTRALIA'S "TOY NAVY."

SIR THOMAS BENT'S VIEWS.

INVITATION TO BRITISH WARSHIPS.

"THE EMPIRE LANGUAGE."

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Yesterday Sir Thomas Bent announced his intention of trying to get the British squadron to visit Australia, and to-night he said that it must of course be understood that any invitation to the British Government to send out a fleet would have to be sent through the Commonwealth Government. "All I shall do will be to talk to the Prime Minister, Mr. Deakin, about it," he said, "and suggest that he should ask the British Government to send out the fleet to visit the Commonwealth. I merely make the suggestion as Premier of a State of the Commonwealth," Sir Thomas Bent continued, "but I intend to say more than this to Mr. Deakin. We talk in the Empire language now, then why should we not have an Empire fleet to guard the Pacific—a fleet for Great Britain, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and perhaps America? We ought to have battleships in the Pacific. It would steady other people. I would borrow the money for it, and so let posterity join in paying its whack. Why should not we do the thing properly while we are talking about naval defence? Mr. Deakin is talking about our naval defence policy, and trying to put into effect a definite scheme. But it seems to me, thinking over this Australian fleet business, that we cannot raise the money for a fine navy of our own. We don't want toys. I've been thinking of this for a couple of years, and it seems to me it's worth Great Britain's while, Canada's while, New Zealand's while, our while—yes, and America's while—to put up a decent fleet in the Pacific. I know it's a Commonwealth matter and not a State affair; but we are part of the Commonwealth, having the same interests in the naval policy; and it's surely America's affair, too. Her interests are very much ours in the Pacific, and the Panama Canal will bring her nearer to us. Our own navy! Why, what we propose to build are only toys beside the battleships of the British Navy and the navies of the other Powers."

STATE-BUILT ENGINES.

ANOTHER SUCCESS.

TURNING OUT THE SECOND LOCOMOTIVE.

TRIAL TRIP TO-DAY.

The second engine of the ten now being built at the Eveleigh workshops was placed on the turntable yesterday morning a finished article, and as one of the men remarked, "She looked well," as she was drawn out of the workshop on to one of the shunting lines in front of the shops. This engine, which is known as number 184, is similar in every way to the first one, which was finished three weeks ago, and which is doing splendid work in the west. Experts who have seen these engines say they are the finest of their kind that have ever run on the New South Wales or any other railway lines. Thorough tradesmanship has been exhibited in the building of the engines, and each part has been carefully made and highly finished. As soon as the engine, which weighed about 90 tons, was standing on the road the fires were lighted, and steam was got up for the first time. By 12.45 p.m. everything was ready, and a driver stepped on to the plate, opened the valves, and away went the engine down the track. It was just at the time that the large majority of the men were returning to the shops to resume work, after the lunch hour, and all eyes were upon the engine as she slid down the incline into the loco. running sheds, there to remain until this morning, when at 10.30 she will be brought out, put on the main line, and run to Homebush and back, thus doing her maiden trial. If this is satisfactory the engine will at once undertake ordinary work. Like the first engine turned out, number 184, is in simple lead colour, and when she has run the prescribed 2000 miles she will be brought back and finished in Japan black, etc.

As soon as the second engine passed out of the workshops number three was drawn over the pit, and it is stated that within three weeks this one will be under steam also. These facts are naturally pleasing to Mr. Howe and his staff. Mr. Atkinson, the foreman of the erecting shop, has had an anxious 12 months in getting everything going, and generally in supervising the work. Mr. Atkinson has had a life-long experience in engine building. He assisted in building the first railway engine put together in this State, which was at Mort's Dock. Of course they were much smaller engines than these. Mr. W. Spence, foreman of the boiler shop, is another officer who has had a good deal to do with the new engines, and he, too, has grown up in the railway loco. sheds of Eveleigh. In fact most of the men engaged in building these engines got their mechanical training under Mr. H. Howe, Mr. Atkinson, Mr. Spence, and other officers at the Eveleigh workshops, and they are naturally proud that at last they are able to behold new engines coming out of the shop doors, as the handicraft of the establishment.

But for some unaccountable reason the authorities are keeping these developments a secret, and any reporter who happens to call in at Eveleigh on his rounds, although he may have the kindliest intentions, is quickly ordered off the premises. It appears that the mechanical engineer has left instructions, so the men say, that no person is to be allowed near these works except by order of the Commissioners. But on this occasion it appeared to the "Herald" that the public interest was paramount over official routine, and that the launching of the first locomotives ever built by the State Government should receive publicity.

CLYDE LOCOMOTIVES.

COST OF IMPORTED ENGINES.

Yesterday the sixteenth engine turned out by the Clyde Engineering Company, Ltd., from its works went for its trial spin to Campbelltown.

The engine left the yard for the main line at 9 a.m., and returned to the works at 12.40 p.m. On the up road it was opened out to the full speed permitted on the line, and successfully accomplished all that was asked of it. This is the twelfth of the T or goods class of engines turned out at Clyde; the fourth of the P or passenger class left the works a short time back. Mr. T. Irons, the works manager at Clyde, states that the due date for the delivery of the 16th engine was October 20, so the company is ahead of its contract time by over a month, and the Commissioners have the use of the engine so much earlier than they expected.

RELATIVE COSTS.

Mr. Irons yesterday furnished some figures relative to the cost of the imported and locally-made engines. He said: "The P class engines ordered by the Commissioners from outside the State in 1907 cost the Railway Commissioners £5601 each, while our price for the same type was £5206. The same class of engine ordered from abroad in 1908, when the copper market was at its bottom, cost the Commissioners £5407, against our £5205. The T class engines ordered for the State railways from British works in 1907 cost on the road £6405, whereas for the same type of engine our price was £5592. Again, in 1908, when the price of copper was down to its lowest, the cost of British engines was £5832, against our £5592. It is urged against this that the Government gets 75 per cent. duty back on the imported engines, but as far as the Railway Commissioners are concerned they do not get that set-off against the price. I might also point out that the revenue from the railway station at Clyde owing to the engines being constructed here runs up to a satisfactory sum. That revenue is not secured to this country on imported engines. Another matter that should be pointed out when the relative cost of engines constructed abroad or at Eveleigh or here is being compared is that our insurance on the material of each engine costs us £40. I wonder is that amount reckoned in the cost of engines built at Eveleigh?"

BURIED BY FALL OF EARTH.

MAN SERIOUSLY INJURED.

EMMAVILLE, Friday.

Fred. Turner was seriously hurt by a fall of earth at Elsie Dredge, Tent Hill, last night, being completely buried for some minutes. Comrades dug him out, and carried him on a stretcher to Emmaville Hospital, where it was discovered a hip was dislocated, and several ribs were broken. He is also injured internally.

RIFLES FOR CADETS.

WOONONA, Friday.

On Thursday evening the rifles which the Senior Cadets have been vainly hoping for for the last 12 months arrived, and were issued. They are new small Enfield rifles. So far, however, only eight uniforms have been issued. On the same evening the lads were entertained at a complimentary dinner given by Captain [illegible]

THE HIGH COURT.

QUESTION OF CABLE AGREEMENT.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The High Court to-day commenced the hearing of a special case on the points of law raised in an action brought by the Eastern Extension, Australasia, and China Telegraph Company, Limited, against the Commonwealth of Australia. The action was commenced in April, 1908, and plaintiffs claim payment of £605 12s 10d, being proportion of moneys due by the Commonwealth for telegrams over plaintiffs' cables, and payable to plaintiffs under two agreements with the Government of Tasmania, dated January, 1868, and March, 1888; and also for £14 19s 6d, being the proportion payable to plaintiff for the period between certain dates of charges for certain cables termed "Australasian traffic," under two agreements, one dated April 14, 1900, between plaintiff and the Governments of South Australia, Western Australia, and Tasmania; and the other dated January, 1901, between the plaintiffs and the Government of New South Wales; and also for £12 10s, being the amount payable to plaintiffs for the months of April, May, and June, 1907, for the transmission of shipping intelligence to Tasmania for the period between the dates of agreements between plaintiffs and the Governments of Tasmania, and the plaintiffs and the Commonwealth Government. One clause of the agreement between the plaintiffs and the Government of Tasmania, of January 24, 1868, provided that the Tasmanian Government should have full power to reduce charges for the transmission of telegrams between Tasmania and Victoria, and vice-versa; and plaintiffs were to be entitled to take the whole proportion of the moneys collected and receivable by them from all sources in respect of such telegrams. If such proportion after any such reduction should not during the current or succeeding periods of 20 years amount to the sum of £5600, the Tasmanian Government should guarantee to pay to the Telegraph Company the difference between such proportion and £5600, and any such difference paid by the Tasmanian Government should be in addition to the subsidy otherwise payable by the Government.

The question for the High Court to determine is whether by reason of the agreements and the facts set out Tasmania, or the Government of the Commonwealth as its assignee, had power to reduce to nothing or abolish the Tasmanian cable rates; and if they had, was the effect of such reduction to entitle the plaintiffs to nothing more than the sum of £5600 per annum?

The case set out that between May 1, 1906, and April 30, 1907, the sum of £4776 12s 10d had been received by the plaintiffs from all sources in respect of telegrams transmitted by plaintiffs by cables between Victoria and Tasmania, of which £147 17s 3d was in respect of cables termed "Australasian traffic," and the Court was also asked if plaintiff was only entitled to the difference between the amount received by the plaintiffs and £5600 in respect of the year beginning May, 1906.

The case stands part heard.

SECONDARY EDUCATION.

THE THREE PHASES.

ADDRESS BY MR. BOARD.

Mr. Board, Under-Secretary for Public Instruction, delivered an address last evening on the "Organisation of Secondary Education," before the Teachers' Association.

Mr. Board admitted that it was difficult to define a secondary school. There was no distinct boundary to secondary education, or to the functions of a secondary school. The gradations of educational institutions depended not so much upon the subjects dealt with as the length of the school life of the pupil, and upon the age when it was necessary to leave school. There were three definite periods in the school life of the scholar. The age of 14 marked the end of the primary period; 16 was the age up to which many who could afford it remained at school. At 18 or 19 the student had completed the secondary course, and set out upon a career or entered the University. Social economy provided the three divisions, and educational systems had to provide three separate types of schools.

The three grades each demanded different methods. The first stage was characterised by breadth. The elementary school touched the world at a great variety of points. The child should become acquainted with life at as many points as possible. The second or intermediary course was characterised by accuracy. The instruction was narrowed down to a smaller number of subjects, and recognised the need for exact habits. The third stage was distinguished by thoroughness and depth. The secondary school embraced the two higher phases. A national system of education would embrace all the educational interests in the State, not necessarily all under State control, but so linked together as to form part of an organic unity. If it failed to weld all the schools into one organic whole it failed in one of its essentials. Secondary education here was practically unorganised. There was no link between the secondary school and the primary, or between the secondary schools and the higher phases of education. There was no standardising of the secondary school courses. There was nothing to indicate what was the end of a secondary school course in the State. There were no secondary school standards. He did not imply that there was any necessity for uniformity, except as had reference to uniform attainments at the end of the instruction. Again, many secondary institutions had no definite qualifications for a teaching staff. That was an essential element in all education. The State recognised that the primary teacher must be trained, and put that belief into practice. But many secondary teachers had nothing but self-training. People were still liable to think that secondary teachers were "made by the grace of God and a university degree." (Laughter.) Without organisation there was no way in which the public could discriminate between an educational institution that had a right to exist and one which had not. They had not that organisation in New South Wales. What was required was public confidence, and then provision for the representation of secondary school opinion. It was of great importance to have an organisation composed of secondary schools, but it needed a representative basis to enable secondary school opinion to be heard. Such an organisation should also undertake administrative functions to fulfil all needs. The council just proposed by the association was a body which satisfied these requirements. Their council was representative of the three main branches of education, and should provide every essential element to make their practical knowledge felt.

With reference to the University accrediting system, that system was absolutely necessary for the University itself.

But the accrediting system involved the admission of students on the certificate of the principal of the secondary school. A more independent method was preferable. One writer stated that 15 to 20 per cent. of those so admitted had to be, in the Harvard phrase, "busted out." That meant enormous waste. The accrediting system would necessitate the University being an administrative as well as a teaching body, and the question arose, was the University adapted to be an administrative body?

The secondary schools had also to determine the studies of those intended for commercial career and for developing the land. There was need for a variety of curriculum rather than too much uniformity. Any method that would furnish the department with the means of testing the work of the schools would be welcomed. Public examinations narrowed down the work of the schools. From the Murray to Carpentaria all the secondary schools worked on the same subjects for the senior and junior examinations. Occasionally some bold enough broke away, but in these cases the scholars thought that the teachers were doing them an injustice. The higher schools should be vocational in character. A study of English should be at the heart of the curriculum. The scholars should study not the anatomy of the language but the soul of the poet and writer. They should get a real grip of the best thoughts. Then should be arranged the distinct courses that should fit the boys for their various careers. Examinations were absolutely necessary. They gave definiteness to the work, and saved the teaching from diffusiveness. But the programme should come first. The work should not be done to fit the examination.

Mr. Board then dealt with the "leaving certificate" system in Scotland, and said that there was no great reason why it should not be adopted here. The University could render splendid assistance in conducting the examinations. He would willingly ask it to give up the Senior and Junior examinations, in order to get it to conduct the examinations necessary for "leaving certificates."

RELIC OF THE GOLD DAYS.

PEAK HILL, Friday.

While rabbiting at the foot of Harvey Ranges, a man discovered a quantity of rust-eaten tools, including a tinker's outfit, sheath-knife, etc, which had evidently been lying there over 50 years.

All the woodwork had been eaten away. Alongside was the iron work of a saddle, stirrup irons, also a bit, buckles, bridle, and leather all rotted away. A number of foreign coins and gold specimens were also found.

It is supposed that they were left there by an early pioneer lost in the bush, who had also lost his horse, at least 50 years before Peak Hill was discovered and worked.

CAMEL DRIVERS' STRIKE.

ARMED AFGHANS SEIZE ROAD.

FOODSTUFFS RUNNING SHORT.

A SERIOUS POSITION.

PERTH (W.A.), Friday.

The camel-owners' strike has assumed serious proportions on Port Hedland to Marble Bar route, as 40 armed Afghans have taken possession of the road, and will not allow teams of any sort to bring foodstuffs and other loading inland.

At the present time 50 tons of goods, valued at £2000, are lying 40 miles from Port Hedland. Two hundred and fifty Afghans have been dispersed. Armed Afghans threaten to shoot if they are thwarted.

At a public meeting at Marble Bar on Wednesday night, several resolutions were carried and telegraphed to the Premier. The warden and business people were in telegraphic communication with the Premier and the Commissioner of Police, many hundred words being exchanged in asking for and receiving instructions and offering suggestions.

All the available police have gone to the scene. The position seems to be serious, as unless teams arrive soon supplies of food will be very short.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

EVIDENCE BEFORE COMMISSION.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

To-day Mr. Bright, Acting Deputy-Postmaster-General of Victoria, was the sole witness before the Postal Commission. He was under cross-examination during most of the sitting by Mr. Wilks, M.P. He said it was a mistake to dispense with the services of telegraph messenger boys at the age of 18 years. In this way some promising officials were lost to the service. The growth of the service would absorb these boys if the age limit was made 20 years. That would make the boys eligible for vacancies that might occur. Since federation the discipline in the service had been better, and inside organisations had not undermined the control of those in authority. He was trying some female operators in the Melbourne office on busy lines, but was speaking as yet without full knowledge. He was afraid they would not stand the strain. He had heard of one officer being away from duty unnoticed for several days. That officer was fined £5. The reforms he had made in the Melbourne office meant the saving of £1600 a year, and this had been done without any injustice to the employees or weakening of the service supplied to the general public. There had been no attempt on the part of politicians to undermine their authority. A superannuation fund was desirable, as it would make the men more contented, and encourage a better class to apply for positions. All matters within the deputies' power of delegation should be sent to them for action, and not merely for report.

Senator Mulcahy: What are the great causes of public complaint in Victoria?

Mr. Bright: The telephone system is bad. There are complaints about missing letters, but I can't say there is an abnormal number of cases. I do not think the public have any grounds for the complaints made in Victoria and Queensland except on unavoidable matters.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

A JOINT LEVEE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Cabs and carriages and motor cars formed a continuous procession from the city to Government House this morning. All contained frock-coated, silk-hatted men, on their way to pay their respects to the Governor-General and State Governor. Both Vice-Regal representatives were holding their first levee, and for the first time in Australia the levee was a joint one, the State and Commonwealth uniting to receive loyal citizens. The levee was most successful. About 800 citizens were presented to their Excellencies. They were the representatives of every profession and business.

COMMONWEALTH PARLIAMENT.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE SESSION.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

To-day Federal Ministers met in Cabinet for the first time since the Sydney occasion when the fleet was being awaited, and the whole of the time was taken up by the consideration of the Budget and the Estimates. Consequently the Prime Minister had nothing to say about the bills to be mentioned in the Governor-General's Speech, which gives the programme for the session. The Federal capital site, however, is fixed to come on first after the Address in Reply has been disposed of. And this formality should not take very long. The mover and seconder on behalf of the Government have not yet been selected, but as supporters from among whom the two speakers must come form an extremely slender force there is no difficulty ahead in that regard. As to plans for the cultivation of the new protection policy, the Prime Minister was equally reticent. It was stated recently by one of his colleagues that there is nothing for it but an amendment of the Constitution. Mr. Deakin, however, was not prepared to let his intentions be known.

COLLISION AT FREMANTLE.

MOTOR CAR AND TRAIN.

CHAUFFEUR'S REMARKABLE ESCAPE.

PERTH (W.A.), Friday.

A car driven by a man named Harvey, carrying Mrs. Elliot and child from a polling booth to their home, collided with a passenger train from Fremantle at Swan-street crossing this afternoon.

The three passengers were injured, and were conveyed to the Fremantle Hospital. It appears that the car, which was owned by Dr. Lotz, of Fremantle, was employed in the furtherance of Mr. Herron's election. It was coming along from the polling-booth towards North Fremantle Beach, when the collision occurred, with such force that portions of the car were distributed all round the vicinity.

The chauffeur was carried along by the cowcatcher for 100 yards, and is reported to be very badly injured. Mrs. Elliot and her child were thrown heavily on the road, the woman's face being badly cut. The child's legs were injured, mainly in the shape of cuts.

So badly was the motor car broken up that the largest portions of it that could be found were the wheels.

NORTH COAST RAILWAY.

WEST MAITLAND, Friday.

The navvies employed on the North Coast railway received their monthly pay to-day, amounting to a little over £7000, representing the earnings of 850 men. Good progress is being made with the work at the cuttings, and the embankments now extend as far as Tocal, in the Paterson district. The contractors are experiencing a lot of trouble with the large embankment at Oakhampton, which, owing to the rotten nature of the swamp land it crosses, has subsided after the recent rainy weather. This embankment is 20ft high and 85ft wide at the base. A great portion has sunk into the swamp a depth of 6ft.

AN UNLUCKY PALMIST.

WOONONA, Friday.

Professor Zanzie, a palmist visiting Woonona, took by mistake yesterday a dose of turpentine instead of Wolfe's schnapps. He used to keep the turpentine in a schnapps bottle. He was taken to the Bulli Hospital, where he was treated. He is now slowly recovering.

CHILIAN TRAINING SHIP.

GENERAL BAQUEDANO COMING TO SYDNEY.

CALLS AT ALBANY.

The Chilian naval training ship General Baquedano, which is bound on a visit to Sydney, arrived at Albany at 12.15 p.m. yesterday, and during the afternoon resumed her voyage for Port Jackson direct. She sailed from Valparaiso early in the year on a voyage of instruction, and has already visited Yokohama, Hongkong, and Singapore.

The General Baquedano, which is a barque-rigged vessel of 2330 tons, is supplied with propelling machinery, but has made the greater part of her voyage under canvas.

The visit of the General Baquedano to this port will extend over a week or 10 days, and from here she will proceed direct to Chili. There are 60 or 70 cadets on board undergoing a course of practical instruction to fit them for positions as officers of the Chilian navy, and the vessel is commanded by Captain Fontaine.

THE FLEET.

ARRIVAL AT ALBANY.

A "DIRTY" DAY.

ALBANY (W.A.), Friday.

The repair ship Panther arrived at 10 o'clock last night, and anchored immediately outside the entrance to Princess Royal Harbour. On behalf of the Premier, a representative of Reuter's went aboard, and by medium of the Marconi system greetings were exchanged with the Admiral, then 70 miles eastwards.

In the course of these exchanges it was learned that the fleet would pass Breaksea at 6 o'clock this morning, and anchor at Point King an hour later. It was 1 o'clock when this news was brought ashore, and, therefore, too late to publish it in the sleeping town, crowded with visitors from Perth and inland. In consequence, when the fleet arrived this morning, the Premier, in the Government launch Penguin, and a handful of rainbeaten, shivering spectators on the slopes of Point King were practically all who did not awake to exasperating disappointment.

In the phraseology of the sea, it was a "dirty" morning, with a fresh breeze and obscuring rain from the south-west. The first thing to be encountered in the driving mist was the Kildale, one of the missing colliers. She had arrived during the night, and was anchored a mile and half north of Bald Head. Presently at a little more than a mile distant to the south-east the grey of the overhanging pall darkened and blackened into a smudge, giving rise to a wildly flying, depressed volume of dense smoke. Rapidly the blur was resolved into the long looked for white hull and yellow barbette of the Connecticut, heading south-west for the bluff, half hidden in the cloud rack. Once more Admiral Sperry had demonstrated his ability, notwithstanding the wind and weather and long distances, to keep appointment. So thick was the rain that despite her proximity to the watchers on the launch the flagship for several minutes steamed ahead apparently in solitary glory. But a second smudge was revealed, and a second battleship emerged from the rain squall. One after another they came up out of the Great Australian Bight until seven, at equal distances one from the other, were in clear view.

A signal went up on the Connecticut, and porting her helm she went out abruptly to the north-north-west. On went the second vessel undeterred, until, reaching the spot where the swirling water still marked the turning point, she, too, ported, and resumed her allegiance to her leader. Now the Louisiana, heading the second division, emerged from the driving mist and followed in the wake of the leading division, turning where they had turned, and holding on where their course had been without deviation. When the Connecticut had maintained her northerly course until it had taken her close past the western end of Michaelmas Island, and half a mile or more to the north-west of that point, she suddenly starboarded and headed south-west for Point King, at somewhat reduced speed. Within half a mile of the shore she dropped anchor simultaneously with the Minnesota and the Vermont, then directly behind her, a space being left between the Minnesota and the flagship for the delayed Kansas. The second division, consisting of the Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey, and Rhode Island, fell in in similar formation, behind or to the north of the first line. In the third line, still reckoning northwards, came the Louisiana, Virginia, Missouri, and Ohio, and in the fourth the Wisconsin, Illinois, Kearsarge, and Kentucky. When the evolution was completed and all anchors on the bottom the fleet was lying in a solid square, the south-western angle of which was marked by the Connecticut. No sooner did a vessel drop anchor than out went her booms, while her steam cranes lowered into the water her businesslike little launches, which at once went darting about hither and thither as though rejoicing in their liberation.

Presently a flash from the Connecticut was followed by the boom of a gun, the first of a salute of 21. This was responded to with a like number from the fort, after which the loud-throated amenities were taken up by H.M.S. Gibraltar and the Chilian training ship General Baquenado. To the latter the Connecticut replied, and the cannonading was over until the afternoon, when official visits were exchanged. Shortly before midday the local authorities found ample compensation for the disappointment of the early morning in the decision of the Admiral, impelled by the motion of vessels as they lay in the outer anchorage to bring them into Princess Royal Harbour for the coaling operation. Slowly the Connecticut felt her way in through the short narrow passage between Point King and Possession Point, and cautiously she moved away to an anchorage between the British and Chilian vessels, and the end of the long pier. Half an hour later she was followed by the divisional flagships and other units of the fleet; and Albany rejoiced in the knowledge that the world-watched armada was floating on the waters of its magnificent inner harbour.

The only official visits from the shore to-day were paid by the Governor's aide-de-camp and the representatives of the State Government. In the evening the Premier entertained the visiting pressmen at dinner at the Freemason's Hotel. Invitations for a run to Perth and the Eastern goldfields have been extended to the American journalists and to any officers who may be able to get away while the fleet remains in port. To-morrow morning Admiral Sperry will land and pay official visits to the Governor, Premier, and Mayor.

APPROACHING ALBANY.

ALBANY (W.A.), Friday.

Reuter's Perth office has received by wireless telegraph the following message from the American fleet:—

"Will anchor about 7 a.m. in outer harbour; have had a fine weather trip; uneventful; routine drills and exercises; all well."

Later.

"The people of Western Australia, with all the inbred instincts of a seagirt land, look forward with pleasure to the arrival of the American fleet.—(Signed) Newtown Moore, Premier."

The following reply was received:—"Connecticut, September 11, 12.20 p.m. To Premier Western Australia, on behalf of the officers and men of the United States Atlantic fleet, I thank you and the people of Western Australia for your cordial greeting.—Sperry."

VICTORIA SPENDS £9000.

KILLED BY ELECTRICITY.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT AT MINE.

KALGOORLIE (W.A.), Friday.

A shocking accident, which deprived two men, John M'Rae and Edward Snell, of their lives, occurred at the Golden Horseshoe mine this afternoon. It appears that the victims of the fatality were engaged unloading a truck by means of a crane, when the latter swung round and came in contact with a live electric wire, with the result that a current equal to 550 volts passed through their bodies. The bodies of the unfortunate men were not badly disfigured, there being in each case only a slight discoloration of the face. Both deceased were married and resided in the district.

AUSTRALIAN XI.

THE AMATEUR DEFINITION.

WILL A TEAM LEAVE?

The Board of Control has gone through all its recent difficulties triumphantly, and now stands recognised as the controlling body of international cricket in Australia. It has, however, been seen since the board was formed that there was a huge bogey to be overcome when the time arrived for the despatch of its first team to England. Object B of its constitution is:—

"To arrange, control, regulate, and finance the visits of the Australian teams to England or elsewhere, either solely or in conjunction with the governing cricket bodies of the places visited."

The establishment of the board was opposed tooth and nail by the players. Clause B has been, and is now, a skeleton in the board's cupboard. The position has been freely discussed, and about three weeks ago in the "Herald" Mr. F. A. Iredale, one of the members of the board, some of the players, and two ex-managers of Australian Elevens, Messrs. C. W. Beal and Victor Cohen, expressed their opinions.

When the board was brought into existence there was some talk about its position with regard to the financial arrangements of an Australian team in England, and some delegates expressed the opinion that it was not the intention of the board to interfere with Australian Eleven arrangements in England. But the expression of those opinions could not affect the board as a whole. That such an understanding was responsible for the settlement of the cricket dispute is not correct, whatever may be the case from the players' point of view. As the case now stands, the board has not had a meeting to decide what course is to be pursued with regard to the limitation of the earnings of players, nor will there be a meeting until the programme of the tour is received from the Marylebone Club. English writers, who should know the feelings of the M.C.C., have recently expressed the opinion that the days for speculative cricket have gone, and that the game should be placed upon a basis satisfactory to the controlling bodies.

Should the board decide upon limiting the earnings of players to a fixed amount, the latter will, without doubt, make a hard fight against it. Many past and present Australian cricketers express the opinion that the payment of a settled amount will at once make members of the team professional, and that under such conditions the trip, to some of them at any rate, will not be worth taking. Under the old system they were treated as amateurs. It may be that a new era with regard to the despatch of Australian elevens to England will be begun with the 1909 tour.

Among members of the N.S.W.C.A. there is a feeling that out of these trips a fund should be established to help cricketers in necessitous circumstances. Some think the deduction of a small percentage from the takings would meet the case. It is not an easy thing to forego profits, which may run into £800 or £900, for a fixed amount of £450 or £500. All former teams have practically gone to England on the share principle, and it will be a big disappointment to the players if there be any departure therefrom, apart from the loss perhaps of status.

MR. IREDALE ON THE POSITION.

Mr. F. A. Iredale, in the course of an interview, said that the English authorities have expressed the wish that the board should take absolute control of Australian teams visiting England, both in finance and management. The Marylebone C.C. has desired the removal of the speculative spirit, but that does not necessarily mean that the board is going to deprive the players of their rights. The M.C.C. wants the board to differentiate between the amateurs and the professionals. For some years professionals have gone to England as amateurs. There are quite a number of instances; indeed, there is hardly a team that has not gone without some paid players, who have been treated in England as amateurs in a supposedly amateur team, and that is what the M.C.C. wants to stop. The club is seeking to remove anomalies which now exist regarding status. In fact, from an Imperial standpoint, it would be as well if all the players in England, Australia, and South Africa were placed upon the same basis as regards payment, whether amateur or professional.

"If it is necessary," Mr. Iredale continued, "to reimburse an amateur to the extent, say, of £500 for his loss of business, he should not lose his status thereby; he would be only receiving a quid pro quo. A professional may take £300 for what he would lose, though it is hardly likely we should develop any professionals in the future if it paid them better to play as amateurs—that is, assuming that every player in a team would receive the same sum. Of course, if you differentiate, each amateur would be paid for what he loses in his business, and therefore the sums paid would differ.

"There can be no question that the implied wish of the M.C.C. will have to be considered in some form. Since I became a member of the board I can remember no occasion when it was stated that the board would not interfere with the profits of players. Under the constitution we have the right to do anything we like in the matter of financing any team which we think is in the best interests of the game. I fail to see how a statement, even if one were made, say, three years ago, that it was not the intention to introduce a new system with regard to the profits of players, could be binding upon an annually constituted board. It would be a most unconstitutional thing to let slide any of the clauses under which the board exists.

"When Mr. Darling was here he wanted the board to define the word 'finance' in the constitution, but the board as a whole found it impossible to fix up a definition in any one direction, and the matter was left entirely in the hands of this or any future board to determine.

"With regard to the statements attributed to Mr. Darling—that he practically fixed up the difficulty between the players and the board—I at any rate have no knowledge of it. The opinion of a member of the board obviously is not binding upon the board itself."

MR. NOBLE INSISTENT.

Mr. M. A. Noble, on being asked if he understood that the board of control had stated that it was not its intention to interfere with the arrangements under which Australian teams went to England, replied, "Of course, I understood that, and so did everyone else."

BRISBANE WOOL SALES.

BRISBANE, Friday.

To-day the second sale of the 1908-9 series was held, there being a large attendance of buyers, in fact the largest number that has ever attended sales in this State, representing British, Continental, American, Japanese, and Australian buying houses. The catalogues submitted represented a total of 16,715 bales. Competition was keen. As compared with the rates ruling at the previous sale in July last, good wools were on par, faulty and short staples a halfpenny lower. The demand for scoureds was irregular. The highest for greasy was /11½, for 32 bales grown by Lieut.-Colonel Menzies, of Bindango station, near Roma. The highest for scoured was 20½d, for two lots from Cameron Downs and Acacia Downs.

Messrs. Dalgety and Co., Brisbane, report:—Sixteen thousand seven hundred bales were offered to-day. Their catalogue of 6500 consisted of new clip. Competition was very spirited, there being a large attendance of buyers. Prices as compared with the previous sale on July 3 are equal for any good quality wool of fair length; but slightly weaker for inferior and faulty grades. We sold: Langlo Downs /11, Roma Downs /10¾, Jondaryan /10, Alice Downs, Blackall, /10¾. We equalled top price for scoured, /20½. Acacia Downs, Muttaburra, Kensington Downs, /19¾; Clutha, /19; Boorara, /17½; Fairview, /19.

MOUNTAIN INDUSTRIES.

LITHGOW, Friday.

The coal trade this week was normal, and most of the mines have lost time through slackness. At the ironworks the whole of the bar mills have worked full time, and in other departments everything has proceeded as usual. The repair work in the 24in mill and the sheet mill has been continued.

At the Lloyd smelting work one furnace is under fire, treating the bottoms taken out of the other furnaces with some ore forwarded from a copper mine at Orange.

It is stated, in reference to the dismissals at Lithgow and Hermitage mines for alleged over-filling of slack, that the directors of the Lithgow Valley Colliery Company have refused to meet the executive officers of the Western Miners' Association to discuss the question. It is further stated that a special meeting of delegates of the Western Miners' Association has been convened for to-morrow morning to consider the situation.

The Aquatic Notes in the "Sydney Mail" by "Trident" never lose interest week by week. The author is always well informed on important matches, and his remarks this week are full of interest.—Advt.

ILLAWARRA COW-TESTING ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT BERRY.

CONSTITUTION DECIDED UPON.

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

BERRY, Friday.

The first meeting of the provisional committee appointed at the general meeting held on the 2nd instant in connection with the formation of a cow-testing association was held at the School of Arts on Friday afternoon, Mr. H. D. Morton presiding.

Mr. M. A. O'Callaghan, Government dairy expert, represented the Department of Agriculture, and gave material assistance. A good deal of discussion took place over the designation of the association. The names submitted were the South Coast, Illawarra, and Berry Pioneer Association. It was ultimately decided that the body be known as the Illawarra Cow-testing Association, the district to extend from Bulli on the north to Tomerong on the south, taking in Kangaroo Valley. The office-bearers elected were:—Patron, Mr. Alex. Hay; president, Mr. H. D. Morton; vice-presidents, Captain Blow and Mr. H. Graham; treasurer, Mr. A. J. Colley; committee of management, Messrs. J. Devery, T. M'Intyre, T. M. A. O'Callaghan, and P. F. Quirk. It was decided to communicate with the secretary of the South Coast Agricultural Union, asking him to submit the names of eight delegates to act as a general committee. The membership fee was fixed at 10s 6d; the annual general meeting to be held in October.

The constitution was framed as follows, subject to classification at a future meeting:—"That with the exception of the treasurer, secretary, and hon. members, the committee must be members of the association; that the association maintain an official tester at a salary to be fixed by the committee of management; that a copy of each man's record be sent to every contributing member of the association, such list to have neither name nor number, a contributing member to be one submitting his herd to the test; that each contributing member agree to his entire herd being tested throughout the year; that each contributing member board and lodge the official tester during his official stay, and have him conveyed to the next contributing member or to the nearest railway station; that the test be carried out as follows:—The milk of each cow to be weighed, night and morning, and a composite sample taken and tested each month. During one or more days the tester to see the cows milked clean during the milking previous to the testing; that the tester or secretary furnish to each contributing member a copy of the weights and fat test of each of his cows as soon as possible after the taking of same; that each cow to be branded sufficiently for complete identification; and the association stipulate the form of marking or branding; that any prize money available be devoted as follows:—Each cow in association's test whose milk exceeds 6500lb, or 270lb of commercial butter in a milking period to receive a proportionate amount of prize money; that each milking period for the purposes of prize money shall close on a date to be fixed by the committee of management; that elections of all officials be by ballot; that 10 form a quorum at a general meeting, five at a general committee meeting, and three at a meeting of the managing committee, one of whom may be an honorary member; that each person proposed for any office of management be nominated by two members of the association at least one day before the date of the general meeting; that the committee have the management and control of the property and affairs of the association; that the committee adopt such rules as shall be deemed advisable for their government, and appoint such committees as they shall consider desirable."

Mr. T. Grieve said he was pleased to see the enthusiasm displayed, and hoped the association would be successful. In the past several attempts had been made to get up milking competitions, with liberal support from the Sydney newspapers; but through lack of support they failed to materialise. In connection with the cow-testing association, he would suggest that in addition to cows a record of bulls should also be kept.

It was decided that Messrs. H. D. Morton, H. Graham, and Captain Blow be a deputation to wait upon the Minister for Agriculture with a view to obtaining financial assistance for the first year. The test comes into operation on November 1. Mr. F. L. Lovegrove was appointed hon. secretary.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN ELECTIONS.

THE FIRST RETURNS.

PERTH, Friday.

The general elections were held to-day. Only three returns are as yet complete. Perth re-elected Mr. Brown (Ministerialist) by 1037 votes to Mr. O'Connor's 445. The Coolgardie sitting member (Mr. Eddy) was ousted by the Labour candidate (Mr. McDow), 1010 votes to 670. For North Fremantle, Mr. Bolton (Labour) was re-elected by 942 votes to Mr. Hevron's 635. West Perth returned the sitting member, Mr. Draper (Ministerialist) by 1101 votes against Mr. Simpson's 1161.

CROSS-COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIPS.

TO-DAY'S GREAT RACE.

The cross-country championships will be decided on and in the vicinity of the Victoria Park Racing Club's course at Zetland to-day, and the contest will have more than usual importance, as four States will be represented in the Australasian five-mile cross-country race.

The various Sydney and suburban clubs have a large number of trained men ready for the State contest, and the Australasian event will be contested by nine picked men from New South Wales, Tasmania, Queensland, and Victoria. The first six men home will count. The race will begin at 3.30, and the course involves a run round the ground at the Victoria Park Racecourse and about three and a quarter miles outside the course, over some hilly country, which includes sandhills. The runners who have already been over the track consider it the most severe ever chosen for a cross-country race, and as a test of physical fitness it will certainly necessitate good condition on the part of the participants. The finish of the run will be on the racecourse, in full view of the spectators. A large number of clerks of the course have been appointed to see that the men take the complete track. The two races are to be decided at the one time; in other words, men may be running in the State as well as the Australasian championship. In addition the individual championship will be decided.

THE RECEPTION.

Mr. R. Coombes (president of the New South Wales Amateur Athletic Association) presided at the official reception of the interstate runners at the Sports' Club last night, and after the loyal toast, proposed the health of "The Visiting Athletes." He said that this was the first real interstate cross-country race in which the greater part of the Commonwealth was engaged. Four States would be well represented. Seventeen cross-country championships had been run in New South Wales, and at all of these he had been either starter or referee. He wished the men a good run, and hoped that they would all go back to their respective States, whether they were winners or not, with the conviction that they had received fair play.

Messrs. J. A. Stillwell (Victoria), F. Souter (Queensland), and S. Schofield (Tasmania) responded for their respective States.

Mr. W. W. Jones (chairman of the council of the A.A.A.), in proposing "Kindred Bodies," referred to the steps taken to prevent professionalism getting a hold in manly sports. He hoped strong athletic associations would be formed in each State. Messrs. V. Horniman (Rowing Association), and W. W. Hill (Rugby Union) responded. Mr. F. Souter proposed "The N.S.W. A.A.A.," and Mr. W. B. Alexander responded. Mr. R. S. Northcote proposed "The Press."

MILLERS' CONFERENCE.

INSURANCE FUND SUGGESTED.

During the last two days the Flourmill-owners' Association of New South Wales have been in conference. Mr. E. G. Aitken, president of the metropolitan association, presided over an attendance of millers representing all the districts in the State. The conference was the first held under the new conditions. Previously the milling industry was controlled by a central association, with its headquarters in Sydney. But the system was found to be unsatisfactory, and four district associations were formed, each having full jurisdiction within its own borders. The Metropolitan, Northern, Western, and Southern Associations were all represented at the conference, and the resolutions passed will be sent on to the various districts for consideration.

The question of fire insurance was discussed, and it was shown that large sums were paid annually in premiums. The rates were deemed too high, and unless reductions were made, it was said that the millers would consider the advisability of taking their own risks or establishing a mutual fire insurance company. The underwriters were also considering the matter.

Millers are expecting a year of plenty, and the disposal of surplus mill offal by compression and export was suggested. Victoria has always been a good purchaser of local offal.

The Chapman corn sack was criticised, but delegates were prepared to make a virtue of necessity. They can no longer import the 200lb sack, and only the 150lb standard bag must be used; but millers will continue to sell on the ton basis. The Eastern markets were looked to as an outlet for the expected surplus, and millers intended to exploit the East more systematically than in the past.

Before the conference closed yesterday a vote of thanks was passed to the president, Mr. E. G. Aitken, and the secretary, Mr. John Wallace.

In the evening a dinner was tendered to the country delegates by the Metropolitan Flour Millers' Association. Mr. E. G. Aitken presided, and among the guests were Mr. Murdock M'Leod, president of the Western Association, Mr. J. Fielder, president of the Northern, and Mr. R. E. Coully, president of the Southern Association.

The toast of the country associations was honoured.

QUEEN VICTORIA HOMES.

BURWOOD BED.

A fete in aid of the endowment fund was opened at Burwood on Thursday by Mrs. Hugh Dixson. The president of the Burwood committee, Mrs. W. E. Hawkins, explained to the assemblage that, in addition to an annual collection to provide £50 yearly for the up-keep of the Burwood bed at Wentworth Falls, an effort had been inaugurated to raise a capital fund of £1000, which would form a permanent endowment fund. Towards this amount £400 was already in hand, and it was desired to raise the £600 balance. A ladies' committee, presided over by Mrs. Hawkins, with Mrs. A. J. Riley and Miss Maybury as hon. secretaries, had control of the arrangements, and a successful fete resulted from the unselfish efforts of many workers. The Mayor of Burwood (Alderman James Gregg), in moving a vote of thanks to Mrs. Dixson, promised to give the last £25 of the required £600. At the close of the fete on Thursday evening £165 was banked as a splendid result of the effort. Mr. W. M. Lackey, railway stationmaster at Burwood, is the hon. treasurer of the men's committee for the raising of the desired fund.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Teachers' Association of New South Wales held the 16th annual meeting in the form of a conversazione at the A.B.C. Rooms last evening. The report and balance-sheet having been adopted the president, Rev. C. J. Prescott, urged all the members to stand firmly by the association. He contended that the spirit of the hireling was conspicuous by its absence from the association. The members had a love for the work, a sympathy with the young, and a patriotic desire to contribute something to the welfare of the State. They had one definite aim, and that was the good of secondary education.

Mr. Board, Under-secretary for Public Instruction, delivered an address on secondary education. The election of officers resulted as under:—President, the Rev. C. J. Prescott; vice-president, the Rev. P. S. Waddy; members of council, Mr. H. J. Carter, Professor David, Mrs. Garvin, Miss Gurney, Dr. Harper, Mr. Hodges, Mr. Lucas, Dr. Marden, Mrs. Stiles, Mr. Weigall; hon. secretaries, Miss M'Kenny, Mr. C. J. D. Goldie; hon. treasurer, Mr. Wooldridge; editorial representatives, Mr. Giles, Mr. Curtis Jones.

SUVA-HERO COLLISION.

The inquiry into the collision on August 28 off Cape Three Points between the steamship Suva and the tug Hero was concluded before Judge Backhouse and Captains Simpson and Bracegirdle. Mr. Russell (Messrs. Sly and Russell) appeared for the Hero; Mr. Ralston, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. J. R. Baxter Bruce and Co.), for the owners of the Suva; Mr. Lambton (Messrs. Abbott, Lambton, and Milford) for the master, and Mr. C. Moseley for the second officer of the Suva.

After counsel's addresses, the Court announced that as the case presented some difficulties they would have to go into the evidence exhaustively. They hoped to give their decision next Friday.

CASUALTIES.

THUMB CUT OFF.

Ellen Keogh, 17, a machinist, employed at the Australian Glue and Gelatine Works, Botany, residing in Victoria-street, Beaconsfield, was working a glue-cutting machine at the works yesterday, when the knife descended on her left thumb, and severed it from the hand. The Civil Ambulance conveyed her to the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, where she was treated.

A BOLT IN THE CITY.

ONE MAN INJURED.

A horse attached to a cart belonging to Mr. E. M'Causland, baker, Surry Hills, took fright yesterday afternoon, and bolted along George-street West, colliding with several vehicles, and knocking the driver of one of the latter out on to the roadway. The injured man was Joseph Cufack, 21, residing in Eveleigh-street, Redfern, and he was taken to the Sydney Hospital by the Civil Ambulance, with a lacerated wound on the forehead. No very serious damage was done to the vehicles.

THROWN FROM A CART.

William Arthur Petty, 47, poultry farmer, living at Bankstown, was driving a horse and cart along Elizabeth-street, Ashfield, at about 5 p.m. yesterday, when part of the harness broke. The horse bolted. Petty was thrown from the cart, and suffered injuries to the pelvis. He was taken to the Western Suburbs Cottage Hospital, where he was treated and admitted.

In the event of the plans coming to a head, the Government has reserved land at Kangaroo Island for the fishermen.

SUPPRESSION OF PRIZE FIGHTS.

BRISBANE, Friday.

At the session of the Baptist Association to-day resolutions were carried expressing abhorrence of the displays of brutality in the recent prize fights in New South Wales and Victoria, and urging upon the congregations of the assembly the duty of cultivating strong public feeling against such displays, and urging on the Government the desirability of passing legislation to make the publication of betting news in any form or by any person or papers illegal.

AMUSEMENTS.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

The last twelve nights of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" are now notified at Her Majesty's Theatre, where the new "sermon in smiles" delivered by Miss Ada Dwyer with so much geniality is associated with the most diverting doings on the part of the villagers concerned in the Stubbins's ludicrous wedding party. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

"THE MERRY WIDOW."

The next production by Mr. J. C. Williamson at Her Majesty's will be Franz Lehar's celebrated light opera, "The Merry Widow," introducing Miss Carrie Moore (after five years' absence) in the name-part as Sonia, Miss Florence Young as Natalie, Mr. Andrew Higginson, the new baritone, as Prince Danilo, Mr. Victor Gouriet as Baron Popoff, Mr. Reginald Roberts as Vicomte de Jolidon, and Mr. Claude Bantock as the Marquis de Cascado, with many other artists. Advance booking applications will be received until Monday, September 21, as notified in another column.

CRITERION THEATRE.

The last six nights, with a final matinee on Wednesday, are now in progress at the Criterion Theatre, as "Miss Hook of Holland" will be withdrawn after the fifty-sixth performance on Friday evening next. The dainty comic opera is very brightly performed, and will doubtless draw crowded houses during this closing week.

"THE BELLE OF MAYFAIR."

Messrs. Meynell and Gunn will produce "The Belle of Mayfair," a new musical comedy by Leslie Stuart (composer of "Florodora"), at the Criterion Theatre next Saturday. The story of the new piece rather resembles a modernised version of "Romeo and Juliet." A long cast will include:—Julia Chaldicott (the "Belle"), Miss Gracie Sinclaire; Princess Carl, Miss Ruth Lincoln; Lady Chaldicott, Ruth Emmeline Orford; Pincott (Julia's maid), Miss Essie Perrin; Earl of Mount Highgate, Mr. J. B. Atholwood; Hon. Raymond Finchley (his son), Mr. Roland Bottomley; Sir John Chaldicott, Bart., Mr. Edwin Brett; Hugh Meredith, Mr. Wm. Cromwell; Comte de Perrier, Mr. Arthur Appleby; Simpson, Mr. Tom Payne. Advance booking by letter will be as notified till Tuesday, and the plan will open at Elvy's on Wednesday.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"Peter Pan" continues to draw large audiences at the Theatre Royal, the glimpse of the Darlings flying out of the open window after Peter always eliciting the laughter and applause of audiences delighted to find themselves in fairyland once more. Miss Tittell Brune's Puck-like characteristics as Peter felicitously contribute to the supernatural suggestion. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

PALACE THEATRE.

His Excellency the State Governor, Miss Rawson, and suite were present at last night's performance of "The Private Secretary," and the play was welcomed with uproarious laughter. It is long since Mr. Frank Thornton, in his inimitable character of the emaciated curate, has been as well supported as by Mr. Harry Ashfield in the part of old Cattermole, and the whole piece is cleverly rendered. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

The Abdullah troupe of 12 Arabs has provided the most sensational acrobatic turn seen at the Tivoli for a long time past, and the new programme, which includes also the Miles-Stavordale String Quartette (last week), Austin Rudd, the Meymotts, Nellie Wilson, Ted Kalman, Rigoletto Bros., Rochfort and Hart, and Four Rosebuds, is drawing crowded houses. Mr. Rickards will give the usual matinee to-day.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

At the National Amphitheatre, both afternoon and evening, the new programme will include the Ahlbergs, comedy acrobats, George S. Lauder, ventriloquist, the Reddens, pantomimists, and the reappearance of Sylvia. LYCEUM.—SPENCER'S THEATRESCOPE.

At the Lyceum, this afternoon and evening, Mr. C. Spencer's theatrescope will show the complete new series of Earl Dudley's arrival and the swearing-in, as well as (by request) the "Merry Widow Waltz Craze," "Pioneers Crossing the Plains in '49," the coloured fairy picture "Pierette Talisman," and farce pictures will be presented. The chronomegophone new "speaking pictures" will include Ellaline Terriss, Johnny Wakefield, and Lauder.

West's new pictures will include the fleet display by 8000 children at the Sydney Cricket Ground, the dramatic story "Still Worthy of the Name," an exceptionally elaborate film, and a whole series of scenic, humorous, and historical subjects. The West pictures will be shown every Saturday until the re-opening at the Glaciarium.

WELSH CHOIR FAREWELL.

The Royal Welsh Male Choir's twelfth concert at the Town Hall last night formed their farewell, and they accordingly faced a great audience, with their "All Nations" programme of English, Irish, Scottish, and Welsh melodies, and hymn-tunes. Mr. William Thomas conducted the choir with all his accustomed care and success, and, as previously, Mr. Hughes proved an always reliable and sympathetic accompanist. The Welsh singers have amply sustained their high reputation for choral ensembles, and their final effort, "Auld Lang Syne," led to the most demonstrative applause. Messrs. J. and N. Tait will present the Royal Welsh Male Choir at West Maitland this afternoon and evening, twice at Newcastle on Monday, and at Armidale on Tuesday night.

ART SOCIETY'S EXHIBITION.

The Royal Art Society's annual exhibition continues to attract visitors daily, with the result that to the long list of pictures already sold the following have now to be added:—"Assertive Sally" (study in solid oils), by Miss Alice Marian Hambidge, £8 8s. Burgess, £10 10s; "Bessie," by James A. Crisp, £5 5s. This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. Lister Lister will entertain visitors, on Thursday evening next the annual conversazione will be held, and next Saturday afternoon the art union will be drawn. The exhibition will close September 26.

THE HAMBOURG FAREWELL SEASON.

The farewell concerts given by Mr. Mark Hambourg, who sails for New Zealand on September 23, and after his tour there returns to Europe, have been fixed by Messrs. J. and N. Tait for next Tuesday and Thursday evenings, at the Town Hall. The famous Russian pianist, after a stay in Melbourne, which resulted in 11 recitals, visited Tasmania, where he was proportionately successful, and now Sydney music-lovers will enjoy these final opportunities of hearing one of the great players of the day. The plan is at Paling's.

SYDNEY PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

On Wednesday evening next the Sydney Philharmonic Society will give a concert at the Town Hall, under Mr. Joseph Bradley's direction, when the full chorus and orchestra, led by M. Reid, P.C., will preside at a meeting at Paling's on Monday afternoon, to consider arrangements for a send-off concert to two young students from Herr Kretschmann's class-rooms, namely, Misses Edith (contralto) and Vera (pianist) Dickerson. Both young ladies are very favourably known in musical circles here, and it is now proposed to raise funds to assist them to further study in Europe.

WOOLLEY MEMORIAL FUND.

Miss Annie Perry will give a concert at the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Tuesday, September 29, under the direction of Mr. J. Edward Sykes. The soprano will herself contribute to the programme, in which an important feature will be the introduction of a new contralto, Miss Kathleen Doraby.

THE GLACIARIUM.

The Sydney ice skating closes on the 30th inst., and on the 24th the final grand fancy costume carnival is to be held. Throughout the past four months the large attendances have testified to the fascination exercised by the sport for those who have had the temerity to overcome its initial difficulties. To-night Miss Dent and Professor Langley will give an exhibition of dual skating.

THE NEWCASTLE EXPLOSION.

CORONER'S VERDICT.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The adjourned inquest into the deaths of James Ernest Brown, Ferdinando Zoppi, and Robert A. Fountain, who were killed on June 15 last whilst destroying a quantity of condemned powder near the powder magazine at Fullerton Cove, was continued this morning before the District Coroner, Mr. C. Hibble.

Mr. Hayes, of the Crown Law Office, appeared to watch the case on behalf of the Explosives Department; Mr. T. A. Braye, of Messrs. Braye and Cohen, on behalf of Mr. Crockett; Mr. J. Windeyer on behalf of the relatives of the deceased man Brown; and Mr. J. Reid, of Messrs. Reid and Reid, for the relatives of Fountain and Zoppi. Sub-inspector Brennan represented the police.

The hearing of evidence was concluded this afternoon, but though exhaustive inquiries were made, nothing definite came out as to the exact cause of the explosion. The departmental expert stated that the only theory he could advance was that when the caps of the canisters were being unscrewed a spark had been struck, and this had ignited the powder. There was no evidence, however, to prove the correctness of this explanation, as Mr. Crockett, the only survivor of the four men who were engaged in the work, remembers nothing which would throw any light on the matter.

The Coroner found "that James Ernest Brown and Robert Allan Fountain were accidentally killed by an explosion of gunpowder at Fullerton Cove on June 15; also, that Ferdinando Zoppi died in the Newcastle Hospital on the 16th from the effects of injuries received at the time of the explosion." The Coroner added a rider that, in his opinion, when destroying gunpowder in future the Explosives Department should devise a means whereby the absolute maximum of safety would be ensured, and as expert evidence at the inquest agreed that immersion in deep water at sea was a thoroughly effective and practical method he thought that course should be adopted.

ANGLING.

PROMISING SEASON.

The final event for the Australasian amateur casting championship will be contested to-day on the Centennial Park. The competition is for wet-fly casting, for accuracy and style. Last Saturday this particular event was started, and Dr. H. L. Maitland, who was first on the list, put up a good score, but darkness intervened, and the judges, Mr. A. D. Hall and Dr. S. H. Hughes, were unable to watch the work properly, so it was decided by the committee to begin de novo. Much credit is due to Mr. F. E. Bloxham for his general management of the scales and the order of events, but most of the officers have worked well to make a success of the tournament. At present the leader on points for the championship is C. H. Gorrick, but Dr. Maitland and H. K. Anderson also have a chance, and the tests this afternoon are sure to be keenly contested.

During the approaching trout-fishing season fly-fishermen would do a service to natural history if they examine all the trout they catch, in order to see if there are any in the Snowy or its tributaries bearing the characteristic markings of the cut-throat trout of the Rocky Mountains, described by Mr. H. Joseland, hon. secretary New South Wales Rod-fishers' Society, in the "Herald" yesterday. The most important external signs are two red marks on the throat of the fish. By some it is held that the colouration is merely a variation of the appearance of the rainbow trout, but Mr. Joseland and some American anglers hold the view that the fish is a different species, viz., Salmo clarkii.

The sea-salmon season is approaching, and beach fishermen should get ready for the splendid sporting fish. They can always be assured of a good tussle with the salmon, which does not give in until it is flopping on the sand slope. There have been plenty of the fish about this year, and one large shoal moved northward about the time the American fleet arrived, but the big visitation takes place every spring, about the end of September or the beginning of October. Rod-fishermen who have been practising casting with heavy spoon-baits will probably do very well this year. Early in the season the salmon takes natural baits more readily than it does later, and the flesh is much better quality during the mild days than when the spring is well advanced.

The Keira, belonging to Mr. W. Daly, took out a party of schnapper-fishermen last week-end. Fair sport was experienced, and Mr. Ellis had the best bag at the end of the day's fishing. Mr. Daly entertained his guests most hospitably.

Capital hauls of ocean fish have been announced at La Perouse, particularly by parties out with the Goldsmiths in a motor launch. The success met with by ocean fishermen who try the grounds within five miles of Botany Heads is an argument in favour of men restricting their ocean sport to a limited area. It is far better to try all the grounds within 10 square miles, and learn the character of the bottoms, and the way the fish work over them at different conditions of wind, weather and tide, than to ramble about the ocean in a pot-luck fashion.

The same feature is noticed amongst successful sportsmen of George's, Hawkesbury, and Parramatta Rivers. They lay themselves out to know the bottoms of the places they frequent, and they carry in their heads complete maps of the river floors, such as no charts could give them. They also know to a yard exactly where to moor their boats on a fairly rigid line, because they have a complete memory record of the cross-bearings. The so-called luck of these men is mainly the exercise of brains, which means the faculty of observation, and the virtues of perseverance and patience. A point of a shoal, which is absolutely no good for sport, on a rising tide, may be a wonderfully prolific place during the last hour of the ebb, and during the low-tide slack-water; and a reefy ground may be only good during the evening, when the tide is nearly at the full.

Sportsmen will be pleased to hear that prawns have made their reappearance in the Hawkesbury estuary. This means that visitors to Woy Woy and Hawkesbury should have no difficulty from now on till the end of the autumn in securing bait from the boat proprietors. All up-to-date boat proprietors now supply bait at those resorts, and, according to their own ideas of a reasonable quantity for a single boat, place prawns in each party's boat. The unreasonable meanness of parties of from five to eight who expect a double quantity of bait, when they only pay as much for a boat as parties of two or three, is a source of annoyance to boatowners; but on the whole sportsmen are not mean, and the majority do not go out to the number of more than three in a boat.

Good hauls of black bream are being caught along the reefy shores of the coast near Sydney, and as the sea promises to be steady for a time, the probability is that other large catches will be recorded this week. One fine catch was announced from Long Reef, and men out at the grounds at Julima, the Blessings, Yellow Rock, and Joalong, with the tide rising in the evening, should catch fish. Boats moored near the reef at Fairy Bower may expect black bream if they use tackle no heavier than No. 14 or No. 40 Carlson-Currier silk-twists during the day time, berley their fishing spot well, and fish with fresh prawns, crayfish, or pippies. In the daytime it is essential that traces of clear gut about three feet long should be employed, but as darkness comes on stronger tackle and heavier gut may be used. If leather-jackets are about, the lines must be weighted to get down near the bottom through them, but there are occasions when it is almost impossible to dodge these line-destroyers.

When leather-jackets interfere with sport amongst the bream it is sometimes advisable to shift one's boat to another fishing ground, but it often happens that there is no other ground suitable to the tide within a mile, and sportsmen have to put up with the nuisance. Their obviously best course then is to fish for the "jackets," which, after all, are good edible fish, and they cannot do so with their ordinary bream tackle. Fine lines are used, but the small hooks should have wire snoods, and the fishing should be high. "Jackets" generally range from near the surface to mid-water, and may often be found hanging on if the line be pelted well out from the boat and hauled in directly it touches the water.

All the beaches and reefs from Wamberal to Tuggerah entrance should be fishable just now, and the best times to get fish are the early morning and from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Pippies may be gathered on most of the beaches a few inches under the sand, and there is generally plenty of bait for the reef-fishing on the rocks at low tide.

Places where the dainty sand-mullet may be caught now are Lakes Illawarra, Tuggerah, Narrabeen, Macquarie, Myall, Smith, and Wallis, and the lagoons filled from the Clarence. The fish are also plentiful on all the sandy patches in the upper part of Port Hacking and Woy Woy, and on the few clean bottoms of the Parramatta River. The sand-mullet is a lover of clean water, and is not only excellent eating, but gives the angler plenty of fight.

FISHING LINES.

When you use fishing lines make sure that you are using "Cobber" fishing lines. Eastway's are the only people that make "Cobber" fishing lines. Our 36-cord schnapper line is the best line it is possible to make. We ask you to come along and inspect our lines. Should you be too far away to call, drop us a postcard, and we will send you a list of nice lines. Just see the splendid gut we have just opened.

FINANCIAL.

AUSTRALIA'S FINANCIAL CENTRE.

Melbourne is beginning to feel that it is losing its grip on the title of Australia's financial centre. As a matter of fact, the southern capital has long since ceased to be the centre of things financial. Whether the matter is looked at from the point of view of volume of trade, of the amount of bank deposits, or if any other available test be applied, Melbourne takes a bad second place. Now it is endeavouring to attribute its loss of financial prestige to the abolition of the tax on bills of exchange issued in this State. The "Argus" has been very persistent in its endeavour to persuade the Victorian Government to follow suit, but so far unavailingly. That journal, in its Thursday's issue, says:—

> The wool season is about to open, but the Government has made no announcement of its intentions in respect to the retention by Victoria of the 2/ per cent. duty on bills of exchange and promissory notes. Financial houses do not object to this duty, if it were also collected in New South Wales, but they wish for its removal, so as to prevent exchange business leaving Melbourne for Sydney. Such a transfer will not mean any loss to the banks, as all business will be dealt with by the branch establishments across the border. The whole point is that exchange is so sensitive that a difference of even /6 per cent will carry the balance down in favour of a given centre. Therefore, New South Wales having abolished the duty of 2/ per cent. on bills of exchange and promissory notes, the drift will be to Sydney. A fact that proves how little it takes to change the course of the current is indicated by the experience of one bank with a branch on the Murray, which, to retain its customers, had to open a branch across the river, so that they should not have to pay the penny duty on cheques. The argument may be used that up to the present State returns do not show any shrinkage in revenue from the retention of the duty. But the wool season has yet to be gone through. A substantial reduction may not be seen even this year, for wool buyers may not care to cancel their Victorian credits after their arrival here. The following season, however, may see them passing on to New South Wales, because of the non-existence of the duty there. As the revenue will suffer by the loss of their business, what is the utility of retaining an impost that will then be non-effective? The duty of the Government is to adopt such a policy as will meet the case, and ensure the maintenance of the financial status of Melbourne.

INCREASING FEDERAL EXPENDITURE.

That Federal expenditure should increase as the central executive takes over more and more of those duties either specifically delegated to it or permitted to it under the Constitution was to have been expected. What was not contemplated was the fact that side by side there should be increased State expenditure also. Here are the figures as applying to the Commonwealth since Federating date, as compiled by the Auditor-General:—

	Amount. £	Per inhabitant. £ s d

A NEW MOTOR COMPANY.

We have already noted the formation of the Co-operative Motor Society, Limited, with a capital of £100,000. A prospectus has been issued inviting the public to subscribe £80,000 in £1 shares, payable 5/ on application, 5/ on allotment, and the balance one month after allotment. The object of the company is stated to be to reduce motorists' expenditure for cars, supplies, etc, by distributing profits amongst shareholders in the form of rebates or bonuses on goods purchased by them from the society, each shareholder holding five or more fully paid-up shares being privileged to purchase at the society's stores, motor cars, motor boats, supplies, repairs, or such goods, at lowest market prices, and receive as bonus dividends on such purchases, all usual profits and discounts resulting from trade contracts entered into by the society with manufacturers, less only a small percentage to cover working expenses. They estimate that this will mean a net profit on shares from 50 to 200 per cent. per year. As shown by the prospectus, this society does not offer special inducements to the large investor, it being organised as a combination of motorists, formed for their mutual protection and benefit.

LONDON FINANCIAL CABLE NEWS.

The Bank of England continues to add to its strength, the proportion of reserves to liabilities now standing at the high ratio of 53.68 per cent. against 51.28 per cent. a year ago. The money market is a shade firm in London, and on the Continent. Consols have advanced 5/, while New South Wales fours are 20/ better. Other Australian stocks exhibit a little irregularity, but in no case is the movement noteworthy. Silver has improved 3-16 on the price quoted a week ago. Copper is 11/3 better, tin £1 lower, and spelter 1/3 lower. Bradford tops are advised as firm, with prices unchanged, in anticipation of next week's auctions. Wheat is hardening, owing to adverse weather conditions, while butter is reported as steady.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

So far the New South Wales Treasurer has received £20,891,290 of Customs and excise revenue back from the Commonwealth Treasurer.

This sum is £2,644,429 more than the £18,246,861 which the Federation was constitutionally bound to return under the provisions of the Braddon clause.

The average annual return from the Commonwealth to this State since Federation has been £2,432,915, or, on the average, £352,590 more than the State could legally demand under the Constitution.

This sum is probably £250,000 in excess of the annual interest charge on the capital expenditure on the transferred properties.

Messrs. Hardie and Gorman report having sold Civil Service Co-operative Society shares at £3/2/6.

The open market rate of discount for the best three months' bills is 1 9/16 per cent. Short loans are quoted ⅛ higher at ⅞ per cent. The open market rate in Paris is ⅛ higher at 1⅜; in Berlin ⅛ higher at 3 per cent.

COMMERCIAL.

More business has been done in the tea market during the past fortnight than in any other two months of the year. Buyers have been keen about getting supplies, knowing well that in the near future good to fine Ceylons, on account of their scarcity, might be dearer. Yesterday, at auction, higher prices ruled for the better qualities of Ceylons, and the business done privately was again of large dimensions. A good average distributing trade was done in groceries at prices which were practically unaltered. Sugar and butter prices were unchanged. Linseed oils continued to sell at low rates. Merchants were notified of the withdrawal of the forward price quoted for turpentine. Metals met with about an average turnover at unaltered prices, but there was an absence of any big demand for wire-nettings. Cornsacks and woolpacks maintained a strong position. For the former Calcutta was cabled as being higher, and it was stated that local people were operating at the equivalent to 4/6, c.i.f. Wheat was easily saleable at 4/2 per bushel, some business being done at ½d advance on shipping account.

BREADSTUFFS.

Some activity pervaded this market, which was strong at 4/2 per bushel. The additional sales at this price amounted to upwards of 4000 bags, on milling account. Sellers in some instances got 4/2½, but this was for delivery at Darling Island. A shipping firm bought during the week 5000 bags at 4/2½. Millers' buying rate yesterday, however, was 4/2.

Flour moved off in small quantities at the association rates of £9/5/ and £9 for city and country makes respectively.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 320 tons of wheat and 65 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

UNITED STATES WHEAT.

The exports of wheat from the United States promise to be very large the coming season. Exporters are (says the "Exporters and Importers Journal" of August 8) securing all within their reach, realising that the demand for it abroad will be lively. Russia is threatened with practically a wheat famine, and this fact will add greatly to the usual foreign demand for American wheat. Unless something unforeseen occurs to interfere with the crops we shall have plenty and to spare for the wants of our foreign customers.

W. C. DOUGLASS, 33-35 Liverpool-st, Sydney, holds large stocks of everything appertaining to the Grocery Trade. Special Wholesale Agents for "A.B.C." Tea, "Breakfast D-Light," "Bovril," Bird's Custard Powders, Dsymn's Extract of Coffee, Courtenay's Sauce.—Advt.

In the corresponding week of 1905 the prices were 8/8 and 11/3.

Sugar.—The market during the week was unchanged. The prices ruling (Sydney deliveries) were unaltered, as follows:—Colonial Sugar Refining Company, Limited: No. 1 B (brewers' crystals), £22 per ton; No. 1 X (confectioners' crystals), £21/15/; No. 1 A (dried, for table use), £21; No. 1 (I.W.), £21; No. 2 (I.C.), £20/15/; and No. 3, £18/15/; tablets, in 56lb bags, £25/10/ per ton; icing and caster sugar, 56lb bags, £26; coffee crystals, in 70lb, £24. A year ago the sugar in bond was 34,507, and two years ago 23,509 tons.

Tea.—This market continued very firm for practically all kinds. The auction was responsible for higher rates in fine Ceylons. Private sales included the following:—120 packages of Indians and Ceylons at /8½ to /10; 400 packages of Ceylons at from /7 to /10½; 250 packages of Ceylons at /7½ to /10; and 100 packages of Indians at /8 to /9.

Messrs. H. W. Carey and Co. submitted at their sale room yesterday, on account of Messrs. Gibbs, Bright, and Co., 800 packages Ceylon teas, and quitted three-fourths of the catalogue to good competition, at prices showing a hardening market for all grades above common. Fannings realised 6 5-8d per lb, broken pekoes and broken orange pekoes up to 1/0½ per lb. The same selling brokers announce a sale for Friday next, the 18th inst, of 650 packages Ceylon tea on account of Messrs. Gibbs, Bright, and Co., as advertised elsewhere.

Groceries.—Though market business remained pretty quiet, a fair distributing trade was maintained for all leading lines. Currants continued firm, and, because of anticipated late shipments, buyers operated pretty freely at full rates; 250 half-cases of cleaned Amalias were placed at up to /6. Dates sold readily at /4. Evaporated fruits also had a fair amount of attention. Tasmanian apples, 100 cases in all, sold at /7½ for bulk and /8½ for 1lb cartons. Chivers' custard powders (20 cases) sold at 4/9. Peck's anchovette had sales, including 25 cases at 8/; salmon and shrimp and salmon and anchovy, each of the same brand, sold at 7/9. Demaux vinegar, 100 cases, sold at 6/9. The market for candles remained steady at /7½ for Goudas, /7¼ for D.R.J.'s, and /7 for Schiedams. A fair amount of business was done in matches—wax vestas at 3/3, and 3/6 for 24's and 12's respectively, and safeties at 2/7 to 3/, according to brand. Fish was moving off moderately well; 100 cases of Scroll flats sold in distributing lots at 10/3; no talls were offering, but halves had attention at 8/6. Monarch flats sold at from 8/ to 8/6, 150 cases being placed. New season's Gems had attention at 9/ for flats, 9/6 for talls, and 6/ for halves. A good distributing business was reported in Gold Medal milk at agents' prices, 1000 cases being expected ex the Kent, due about the end of the month.

Oils.—Very little more than a distributing trade was reported in this market. Small parcels of linseed oil (Thistle) were placed at 3/1 and 3/3 per gallon, and of B. and S.'s at 3/3 and 3/5, each raw and boiled respectively. Parcels of each were, however, available at about /2 per gallon below these rates. A private cable quoted Thistle at 1/9¼ and 1/10¾ f.o.b. Glasgow—the same as last week. Castor oil was distributing at 2/10½ and 2/11, but parcels were available at 2/10. Pure China oil was worth 4/10, and denatured China 3/3. Morrison's lamp oil had business at 3/ (8 grade). It was expected that the market for kerosene might be dearer. The Invertay, which had White Rose kerosene on board, had to put in at Capetown. White-lead had sales at £30/5/ per ton for Champion's in cwts, and at from 15/ to £1 extra for ditto quarters. Other brands were available at from £1 to 30/ less, according to grade.

The Vacuum Oil Company Proprietary, Ltd., were quoting as follows:—White Rose kerosene, ex store, /10½ per gallon; Snowflake kerosene, to arrive per sailing vessel Willy Rickmers, now due, /10 3-8 per gallon; Royal Daylight engine kerosene, to arrive per steamer Altonia, /9 per gallon; Pratt's gasoline, 2/1 per gallon; Pratt's naphtha, 1/5¼ per gallon; Pratt's benzine, 1/2¼ per gallon; Pratt's motor-car spirits, in 4-gallon tins, 1/5¼ per gallon; Pratt's motor-car spirits, in 2-gallon tins, 1/6¼ per gallon (terms net cash in 14 days).

The exports of castor oil from Calcutta to Australia for the half-year amounted to 9990 packages, Melbourne getting 1995, Sydney 2503, Adelaide 3241, Queensland 626, and other ports 1504. The figures for the first six months of 1907 were respectively 1896, 5394, 2487, 341, and 1355. Advices by mail, dated August 14, quote the prices per gallon, c.f.i. Adelaide, Melbourne, and Sydney, at 1/11¾ for oil No. 3 in cases, and at 2/ in half-cases.

Metals.—Less than an average amount of business was put through in fencing materials. American galvanised wire was inquired for at £9/15/ and £10/5/ per ton for 8 and 12 gauges respectively, 5 tons being placed. German galvanised was quoted at £9/10/ and £9/17/6 for parcels, and up to 5/ higher for distributing sales. Business included 12 tons. Truckloads of German black were selling at £7/17/6 for No. 8, and £8/7/6 for No. 10. American black was available at the same rates—small lots, ex store, were quoted 2/6 higher in each case. Sales covered in all 35 tons. Iowa barbed (imported) was quoted in parcels at £14/15/ for No. 12 gauge, and £15/17/6 for 14 gauge. Lysaght's barbed had sales at schedule rates. Nettings were at irregular prices. Tinplates had sales covering 150 cases at 15/; distributors were getting 15/3 to 15/6 for small lots. Sheetlead was steady at £18/5/ per ton.

Jute.—The approaching harvest, with its indications of prosperity, might be expected to cause activity in this market at any time for the next couple of months. Already the feeling has been awakened. Each day brings along inquiries. Farmers, since the almost general rainfall, appear to be more confident in the estimation of their probable requirements, and are getting into communication with their Sydney representatives. All this is healthy, and now that the speculative element is largely wiped out, a good even-handed and possibly a substantial business should eventuate. Yesterday's private cables reported the Calcutta market to be up again, at 4/6 c.i.f. Locally the market for forward delivery was quoted at from 4/11 to 5/; 50 bales were placed at 4/10 for the country. Woolpacks were well held. The spot price was 2/3½; the quotation ex the Hymettus, now about due, was 2/3; and the quotation for the boat to follow one month later was 2/2½. Branbags were nominally quoted at 4/8½, and ore pockets at 2/6 for 16oz and 3/5 for 20oz.

Writing under date Calcutta, August 14, Messrs. Gillanders, Arbuthnot, and Co. report:—"There is no change in the position of our market for heavy goods, which continues to rule very dull. Demand continues to be very poor; the country trade is a dead letter, and for export orders are few and far between. In hessians there has been rather more doing, and during the last fortnight prices of 11 porter hessians have advanced considerably on account of orders from the River Plate. North America, however, shows no interest in things, and on the River Plate withdrawing prices dropped back rapidly. Jute has ruled very steady, and imports of the new crop are small, as the crop is rather late. What imports have come in have found a ready sale; buyers are always ready to pay more at the beginning of the season, as the quality is better then than later on."

Coffee.—Unusual interest is being shown in the new coffee crop for the State of Sao Paulo, Brazil. The Government is now the owner of some eight million bags of coffee of last year's crop. That the new crop will be ready for the market early is certain, and none place the estimate at less than eight million bags, while many are anticipating a crop of at least ten million bags. This, with the stock held by the Government, will (says a report) make the coffee market an interesting one this year.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The wheat market continues unaltered, and there is a little business passing at 3/10½ farmers' lots, 4/1 parcels. There, however, is still a disposition on the part of South Australian operators to buy from eastern States at 3/8. Flour is unaltered. Bran and pollard remain at 1/3½ in spite of good supplies. Butter firmed at 1/4, and with keen competition tops brought from /11½ to /12. In consequence of heavy eastern inquiry eggs advanced a farthing, and were sold at /8.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Wheat was slightly easier, and the demand was less active. There were moderate sales in town at 4/1½, and direct country purchases at 4/1. New wheat, forward delivery, was quoted at farmers' lots 3/8. Fair-sized parcels 3/9; but some buyers are now inclined to hold off. Flour was quiet at £8/15/. Bran and pollard sold at 1/4. Butter was firm and active at from 1/0½ to 1/1. Eggs sold from /9 to /9½.

Tea shows a hardening tendency. 300 packages Ceylon were sold at improved prices; 100 packages Indians were placed up to /7½; 646 chests Indian, ex Hymettus, offered at auction, and 422 chests sold at from /5½ to /9½. 250 boxes ginger were sold. 100 half-cases of currants and 200 boxes dates were placed. Cornsacks on spot sold at 4/11; forward delivery up to 4/10½. Branbags sold from 4/2 to 4/3. 450 drums of B.S. and Company's linseed oil were sold. Fifteen tons of Champion's white lead was placed.

SUGAR.

The market for sugar is easy. German beet sugar, 88 per cent., is quoted 9/6, a fall of /2 during the week. First marks granulated are quoted at 11/11, a rise of /3 during the week.

BRADFORD TOPS.

The market for Bradford tops is firm. Prices are unchanged, as follows:—Super 64's, /23½; super 60's, /22½; common 60's, /21½; 46's, /11½; and 40's, /10½.

On May 22 values were:—Super 60's, /23; common 60's, /22; 46's, /11½; and 40's, /10.

BUTTER.

The market for butter is steady. Danish is selling at from 118/ to 120/ per cwt. Australian is not offering. New Zealand is selling at from 116/ to 118/ per cwt.

WHEAT.

The damp weather has hardened the wheat markets, especially for new English and readily-available foreign parcels. There is little inquiry for cargoes, which, however, are firmly held. Australian wheat afloat is quoted at 38/3 per quarter of 480lb, and for prompt delivery at 38/9. The new crop, January-February shipment, is quoted at 37/ per quarter. There is more inquiry on spot at 40/ to 41/ per quarter of 496lb.

FLOUR.

The flour market is quiet. Australian patents are quoted in London at 24/9 to 25/3 per sack, and at Glasgow at 26/9. These prices are about the same as a week ago.

FREIGHTS.

The grain freight market is more active; two fixtures with South Australia have been made at 21/3. The price at this time last year was 23/, with South Australia.

VISIBLE WHEAT SUPPLY.

The American visible supply of wheat and flour east of the Rockies is estimated by "Bradstreet's" as being equivalent to 29,211,000 bushels of wheat, against 25,657,000 bushels on September 2, and 60,185,000 bushels at the corresponding period of last year.

SHEEPSKINS.

At the periodical sale of sheepskins 7800 bales were offered, and the bulk of them were sold. There was an average attendance, including some Americans. There was good competition, everything being one-eighth to one farthing above the July sales.

Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Ltd., received the following:—"Sheepskins: At sales to-day prices for merinos and fine crossbreds show a par to 5 per cent. advance, and coarse crossbreds have advanced 5 per cent., as compared with prices ruling at last auctions."

Dalgety and Co., Ltd., are in receipt of the following cable from their head office, under date of 10th inst.:—"At to-day's sales the market was firm, and prices for combing skins advanced par to ¼d per lb, as compared with rates ruling at last auctions held on July 31. Pelts improved an ⅛d per lb, and half-woolled skins ⅛d per lb."

Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Co., Ltd., received the following:—"Sheepskins. Compared with the last series, prices at to-day's auction sales were for merino and crossbred ⅛d per lb higher."

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

The quiet conditions which existed throughout the week in the produce market were still evident, retailers still refusing to operate beyond actual requirements. The maize market continued to rule unsatisfactory. Very little business was transacted, and consequently prices ruled weaker. A few still held out for 4/4, but many were anxious to make a sale at a /1 less. White was dull of sale, and as no one was anxious to buy the price was lowered. A few inquiries were noted for seed maize, and for good grain some agents received satisfactory prices. A large shipment of New Zealand oaten chaff arrived, aggregating somewhere near 40,000 bags, 5000 of which were for Newcastle. The master carriers, who refused to operate on the market some time ago, had consigned to them close on 20,000 bags. The remaining 15,000 bags were for the Sydney market. A shortage was still noted of choice green Adelaide cuts. Medium qualities were very plentiful, but were not sought after. A small choice shipment from Western Australia, consisting of about 500 bags, was soon snapped up on arrival, as high as £8 being paid. Another small shipment of Melbourne onions came to hand, totalling 150 bags. As the market has been empty of this brand for the last few days, agents had no difficulty in securing as high as £13 for them. Lucerne was selling quietly at unaltered rates.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

The week-end market, as usual, met with a considerable improvement in the turnover in the dairy produce division. The butter market, if anything, showed a slightly firmer feeling. The shipments arriving increased very little, and consequently, with a strong demand from local buyers, practically all the available butter was consumed. A scarcity was again noted with seconds, and sales of this grade throughout the day ruled at very firm rates. There were about 100 cases of milled butter from Adelaide offering, which biscuit manufacturers bought readily at 112/. Local pastry butter was in many cases unprocurable. Owing to the quantity of new cheese offering, retailers were not inclined to operate to any extent on the market. A few agents found the market dull. There was considerable cutting of prices in the bacon market. Many of the agents were anxious to sell flitches, and were making large concessions in order to procure the hams for the Christmas trade. A large amount of business was put through with eggs. Close on 490 cases arrived by two northern river boats, while a fair shipment came to hand from the south coast. As soon as the market opened there was a big demand for case eggs, Clarence River brands ruling at /9. A few of the small Richmond eggs brought /0¼ less. South Coast at /9 supplied many of the retailers, who were unable to procure sufficient river eggs, while the better classes of South Coast made ready sales at /0¼ extra. A better tone was felt with suburban new-laid. The demand increased and agents had no difficulty in securing /0¼ more than Thursday. The inquiry for duck eggs was increased. The choice large ones again brought up to /10, while an occasional sale would bring perhaps a little more.

AUCTION SALES.

A small dull sale was held at the railway goods shed on Friday, when 19 truckloads of mixed produce were put up at auction, of which 14 were disposed of. A fairly large number of buyers were in attendance, but notwithstanding the fact that competition was exceedingly dull the market prices of the various commodities remained steady at Thursday's rates. The offerings were composed as follows:—Chaff 3, lucerne hay 4, wheat 2, maize 1, potatoes 5, Swede turnips 4. Chaff was in small supply, and sold very slowly. Prime cuts were disposed of at 6/6, and inferior at 2/1 per cwt. Lucerne hay met with a good demand, and three sales were effected. Extra prime large bales realised 5/6, prime 4/3, and extra prime small bales 6/11 per cwt. A truckload of prime chickwheat was sold at 4/2 per bushel. A small consignment of good yellow maize from Wyong brought 4/1¼, and a small consignment of good white maize, loaded in with a truckload of Swede turnips, was sold privately at 4/1 per bushel. FORTHCOMING SALE.

This afternoon at 3, Arthur Rickard and Co., Ltd., will hold a sale of 16 allotments on the ground at Campsie. The land is very well suited for working men's homes. It is in a good position, and will be sold on easy terms. In addition, two cottages will be offered on the time payment system.

MINING.

THE SHARE MARKET.

There was a decided mark-time step in the market yesterday morning. The "bear" movement started the previous day appears to have petered out. Why it is not easy to say. Was it owing to a disinclination on the part of buyers to take shares, even though offered at reduced rates? or was it fear on the part of the "bears" that a shortage of scrip would make it difficult for them to "cover," and thus place them at the mercy of a "squeeze?" Private cables showed that the London Stock Exchange on Thursday quoted Australian silver and copper stocks easier. This circumstance, together with the fact that the cables were silent as to any change in metal values, tended to make speculators hold off for the present.

The result was that only one copper and two silver stocks were dealt in. Broken Hill South (contg) sold at 66/, a drop of 1/. Buyers offered 1/ under late rates for the paid-up scrip, but sellers were undeclared. Other Barrier stocks showed a weak tendency. In copper shares Mount Morgan were unchanged at 73/.

Even gold stocks reflected the prevailing quietness, though they furnished considerably more business. Sandstone Development was in demand, and advanced /3, but Chaffers weakened from 5/2 to 4/9. New Brilliant Freehold held firm at the previous day's closing rate, with fair business on terms transacted in East Mexican, paid. Mount David, Harden Gold Mines, and Ovens Valley Dredging changed hands at fair rates. Tin shares were neglected.

Quietness reigned during the afternoon, with the few transactions recorded showing a weak tendency in all sections. Thus in copper stocks Chillagoe, contg., M'Gregor, O.K. Copper, and Mount Cuthbert sold on the down grade, the same being the case in regard to Mount David, New Hillgrove, Chaffers (gold), and Vulcan Tin.

WALLAROO AND MOONTA.

HALF-YEARLY REPORT.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The directors have issued the half-yearly report of the Wallaroo and Moonta Mining Company, which states that owing to the restricted operations rendered necessary by the fall in price of copper, the output of refined copper was 1248 tons less than for the corresponding half-year in 1907. The total output was 5238 tons of refined copper. The improved prices recently had warranted the resumption of development work on the Wallaroo mines on a more satisfactory scale than thought wise in the early part of the half-year. So far as the Moonta mines were concerned by the greatest economy ore raising had been made remunerative, though on a reduced scale. The report concludes:—"Generally the results of the operations during the six months under review may be considered as fairly satisfactory, and the board felt justified in declaring a small dividend for the half-year. The price of copper for August will give the men a bonus under the sliding scale of 10 per cent. on their October earnings."

MOUNT BISCHOFF MINE.

LAUNCESTON, Friday.

The output of the Mount Bischoff mine for August was 76 tons of tin. During the past fortnight 570 points of rain fell. Prospecting and development work continues to give satisfaction.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

This afternoon Tattersall's Club provides an outing for local racegoers at Randwick, Victorian sporting folk will assemble at Mentone, Port Adelaide Racing Club furnishes sport for South Australians, the September reunion of the Queensland Turf Club will be the attraction at Eagle Farm for sportsmen in the northern State, and at Boulder (W.A.) the annual round of goldfields meetings will be brought to a close.

The bill of fare framed for the spring meeting of the Hawkesbury Racing Club demands the attention of owners and trainers in the meantime, for at 4 p.m. on Monday entries close with the secretary, Mr. C. S. Guest, Richmond, while nominations can also be lodged with the secretary of the Rosehill Racing Club, city, up to the same hour.

Flavine was yesterday struck out of the A.J.C. Derby.

A race meeting to be held by the Lithgow Jockey Club, on October 24, has been granted registration by the A.J.C.

Entries for the Albion Park races on the 22nd inst. close on Tuesday with the secretary, Mr. G. Timbs. Already numerous nominations have been received, and the fixture promises to be the most successful yet held by the club.

Messrs. William Inglis and Son at noon on Monday will offer for sale several trotting horses, including Rebelwood, May M., John H., and Rebel Lady; as well as the racehorses Sentiment, Ketchup, and Coomealla.

Skoppera was yesterday withdrawn from the Tramway Handicap in connection with Tattersall's Club September Meeting.

At Messrs. Wm. Inglis and Son's bazaar yesterday the racing ponies Miss Moorefield (by Moorefield from a Preston mare), Lady Zion (by Benzoin from Kitty), and Hautile (by Fucile from Ella) were brought under the hammer. Lady Zion was purchased by Mr. A. Jurd for 68 guineas, Hautile by Mr. J. Duncan for 29 guineas, and Miss Moorefield was secured privately for export to India.

The programme for the reunion of the New South Wales Trotting Club, to be held at Epping on the 19th inst, is announced, and those interested should note that entries for the five events on the card, and which carry £100 prize money, must be lodged with the secretary, Mr. R. C. [illegible]ngerford, before 9 p.m. on Monday next. Entries for the Sires' Produce Stakes, 1911, also close at the same hour.

The two-year-old colt Lord Euston, by Grafton from Jean, who recently arrived at Adelaide, has joined G. Patterson's string at Morphettville. Lord Euston is engaged in the V.R.C. Maribyrnong Plate and Champagne Stakes.

TATTERSALL'S CLUB.

The gates at Randwick will be thrown open this afternoon, when Tattersall's Club holds its September reunion. The metropolitan convincing ground has greatly benefited by the late rainfall, and the going is first-class. Excellent arrangements have been made for the comfort and convenience of a large assemblage, and an enjoyable outing is assured. The customary means of transit by rail will be in vogue, special trams running direct to the course, from Circular Quay, via Oxford-street, and from the Central Railway Station, via Cleveland-street, while those who prefer to travel by road will be accommodated with cabs and 'buses. The sport commences at 1.45 p.m. with the Hurdle Race, which promises a good contest among Tyrone, Dinyah, Louise, and Peccavi, and the numbers may be hoisted for Dinyah, Louise, and Tyrone. An interesting battle for the Tramway Handicap should be fought out among Virtu, Master Foote, Soultline, Malt Rose, and Borodino, and the places may be occupied by Master Foote, Soultline, and Borodino. The Rawson Stakes, a w.f.a. event, with penalties and allowances, will bring about the first meeting of the cracks for the season, and the race should be well worth witnessing. The most likely to figure prominently at the business end of the trip are Poseidon, Mooltan, Legation, Monobel, and Golden Slipper, and the judge may declare for Mooltan, Poseidon, and Legation. A large field may be anticipated for the Novice Handicap, and at the weights the chances of Carl Zena, Lancaster Rose, Azurine, and Beau Vive seem the most attractive, while Beau Vive, Azurine, and Lancaster Rose may divide the honours. Karanaud, Similoquist, Blue Book, and Nicetus seem to have the settlement of the Spring Handicap among them, and Blue Book, Karanaud, and Nicetus may pass the post as named. The meeting will be brought to a close with the Welter Handicap, in which the prospects of Lady Wilde, Rhoebus, Claydon Common, H.C., and Orcus seem the brightest, and the situations may be filled by Rhoebus, H.C., and Claydon Common. The programme is subjoined:—

Speed up to 75 miles an hour is possible. It is not expected that either of the two cars will be capable of exceeding this pace.

AUSTRALASIAN AMATEUR ATHLETIC CONFERENCE.

A conference of representatives of the amateur athletic bodies of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, and Tasmania now in Sydney was held at the Sports' Club last night. Mr. R. Coombes was elected chairman, and alternative schemes were submitted to the delegates for future annual cross-country championships. It was suggested either that the event should take place at some central township, such as Albury or Wagga Wagga, or be held in each State in turn, and delegates decided to consider this matter from the financial point of view. It was further suggested that the prizes should be gold, silver, and bronze medals, and that a perpetual challenge cup should be competed for. The question of distance, division of profits, if any, and details of the annual races were merely submitted to the delegates, and the conference was adjourned till after the championship event.

THE DAVIS CUP.

It is strange that we have not yet heard the result of the preliminary tie between the United States of America and the British Isles. The Americans wished this to be played in conjunction with their national championships, which were to begin on August 18. There should, therefore, have been ample time for the championships and the Davis Cup tie to have been completed.

Dr. Dwight, who is the chairman of the committee which has the Davis Cup matter in hand, has been assured of the acceptance of places in the team for Australia (in the event of the United States defeating the British Isles) by men who are admittedly in the very first rank.

The opinion appears to prevail in some quarters that the American team, composed of Larned, Wright, Hackett, and Alexander, which has been selected to meet the British Isles representatives, will also be that chosen to play against Australasia. This may be so, but under the regulations, an entirely different team may represent a nation in each of the ties. This might have a peculiar effect on a competition. For instance, as the match is being played in America, the local team might consist of the nation's strongest side, and defeat the British Isles. But the latter team might be stronger than the one composed of those American players who could afford the time to make the voyage to Australia. It is, therefore, very pleasing to know that players of the highest class will be available for America against Australia, even though all of the four great players to do battle against the British Isles may not be available.

METROPOLITAN TEAM v UNANDERRA.

A team representing the New South Wales Lawn Tennis Association will meet the Unanderra Club at Unanderra to-day. The association team consists of A. W. Crane, T. H. Hicks, C. S. Royle, and H. S. Fox. The Unanderra Club will be represented by Evans, Tackender, Laverty, and Rose.

SYDNEY CLUB'S CAPTAINCY.

The Sydney Club's captaincy tournament will be continued to-day, when Pockley meets A. B. Jones in the semi-final. Doust and Parker will probably play off during the week.

ROWING.

SCULLING ON THE RICHMOND.

During the early part of October there will be a carnival week for scullers on the Richmond River, the head centre being at Coraki, where Mr. R. G. Benand and a strong committee have organised a day's sport for October 7. There will during the same week be regattas at Woodburn and Broadwater; also the sculling match between George Day and Sidney Kemp for £50 a side. The first-named is being trained by W. Fogwell, and is a greatly improved sculler. B. Green has the care of Kemp, who is rowing well, but has been rather under weight. They race over a course of two miles at Coraki, on regatta day, and much interest is taken in the event. Woodburn committee offers £50 for a handicap for all-comers, and £10 for novices. Broadwater will give £50 for a handicap, and may arrange for a novice handicap. Coraki handicap is for £70 prize money, and a novice handicap for £12. Entries for the chief event close on Wednesday, and may be made with R. G. Benand, Coraki, or with J. Blackman, Sydney. During the week the sum of £300 will be rowed for on the Richmond River. It is at Coraki that the backers of that brilliant young sculler W. Fogwell, are to be found, and they are determined to stick to him. They contemplate issuing another challenge to Thoroughgood if he succeeds in beating Whelch, the New Zealander, but not until Fogwell has had a thorough rest.

BILLIARDS.

CITY TATTERSALL'S NO. 2 TOURNAMENT.

TATTERSALL'S CLUB TOURNAMENT.

Last night, A. D. Robinson (rec. 50) beat J. Underhill (rec. 45) by 19, and won the consolation tournament.

BOWRAL, Friday.

CLEMENTS TONIC

VICTORY OVER DISEASE SURE BY TAKING CLEMENTS TONIC.

Sales of this Remarkable Restorative Top the Poll in Every Populous Centre, Clearly Proving its Popularity after Many Years' Trial.

As regularly as the Season comes the Influenza Epidemic, which leaves its victims in a wretched state of out-of-sorts, weakness, incapability, and, in many instances, despair. Every organ in the compound mechanism of the human system works at low pressure. The bodily functions lag in their work—they in turn exerting similar influence over the intellect. The nerves, which in health act as conveyers of the vital forces, become run down and out of unison with the body. The whole effect is weakness and languor, which leads to procrastination and the shirking of effort in work, concentration, or recreation.

The most efficacious of all Tonics for Restoring the whole System and bringing back Perfect and Robust Health is

CLEMENTS TONIC

The wonderful curative properties of this scientific phosphated Tonic have been proven thousands of times—tested and approved by the medical profession.

It cures the anaemic by enriching the blood, and the weak and despondent by strengthening the nervous system.

Any chemist will tell you of its regular popularity and constant sale, which alone endorses what we say—we have volumes of evidence from everywhere.

AN OVERTAXED SYSTEM.

EXTREME NERVOUSNESS COMPLETELY CURED.

An epoch-making achievement is here dealt with by Mr. Michael Somers, of 47 Camden-street, Newtown. His narrative takes the following form:—

"I was sitting down writing a letter, feeling as well as a man could wish to be, when I suddenly was seized with a dreadful sensation, and collapsed. Previous to this I had been leading a very strenuous life, and, presumably, I had overdone it."

"What happened?" asked our representative, "when you were thus attacked?"

"The case looked to be such a serious one that I was taken to a hospital in an ambulance, and there I received the very best attention they could devote to me. Medicine was ordered, and everything done they could think of. The doctors at the institution could not make head nor tail of the cause of my affliction."

"Can you describe to me the feelings you had, Mr. Somers?"

"Constantly recurring feelings of faintness were as troublesome as anything—and, besides, I was afflicted with most extreme nervousness. When everybody else was in bed was the time that my nerve troubles assumed the greatest dimensions, and I would have given all I possessed in the world to have been able to doze off and get rid of the harassing thoughts that disturbed my mind. I could think of nothing pleasant; I felt that I was hemmed in by hardships and trials of all kinds, and I think I was, too. It was a feeling as if my heart had momentarily stopped, and there I'd be dreading the same thing happening again, for fear of what might follow. That's the wretched way most nights went by, so imagine my despondent, worn-out condition during the day. Suffocating feelings badly affected my chest. Meanwhile, the sudden jumping sensations in the heart's region continued, accompanied with a terrible faintness, which made me often think that my time had come. Sometimes a feeling came as if I were actually dead in parts—a horrible kind of numbness, it was—in the stomach, chin, and back of the neck. Oh, how awful it was. The extreme weakness and constant twitching of my nerves could not be checked by anything the doctors prescribed for me, and I had long since despaired of ever being about in the world again, when I started, through reading a testimonial in the paper, taking the medicine called Clements Tonic."

"And can you conscientiously state that Clements Tonic made you as sound as you are now?" queried the writer, looking at Mr. Somers in amazement.

"I can, indeed; though it may seem incredible; but my wife and son here can vouch for what I say being the gospel truth. The symptoms I have described did not leave me for a long, long time, and then only through the wonderful agency of Clements Tonic. That is the truth, as God is my judge. It seems like a hideous dream that has passed and gone, for which I have nothing in the world to thank but Clements Tonic, so please publish the facts as you like."

DIGESTIVE ORGANS DISARRANGED.

SLEEPLESSNESS.

Mr. James Bell, bootmaker, of 16 Parramatta-road, Petersham, is not one of the fortunate ones who escaped the invasion of influenza, which was experienced in this country a few years ago. Speaking on the subject to our reporter, Mr. Bell said:—

"Influenza is a complaint that has singled me out for attention more than once. The heavy, burning pains in my head were something terrible, for they had the effect of making me so despondent that I could find no pleasure in life at all. My mouth was dry and parched, and there was a feverishness right through my body, which was most distressing. Not one of my limbs was free from aches that were positively painful, and when I stood upon my feet my legs felt as if they would collapse beneath me. Together with these discomforts was a feeling of restlessness."

"It would not take much exertion to tire you, and you'd be glad to get to bed at night?"

"Well, for all the sleep I got, I might just as well have been up and about, as although I felt so feeble and tired that I could have dropped anywhere, yet when I retired to rest I found so much difficulty in getting to sleep. And I had gone on in a very bad way for a considerable time, when I happened to be put on to a medicine that altered the whole aspect of my affairs. An old employer of mine explained how ill he had been from the same complaint as mine, and said that he had been quite fixed up by Clements Tonic, at the same time strongly urging me to get some."

"And you put his advice into effect?"

"I am pleased to say I did, and I consider it about the best step I ever took in my life. I don't think I said anything about the dizzy feelings I used to have; neither did I mention the unsettled state of my nerves, which had become quite unhinged, and my appetite had left me long ago. The lowness of spirits was something terrible, and I hadn't enough energy to try and shake it off. My digestive organs were altogether disarranged, too. Pains affected me about the shoulders and the loins, and in the chest there was an unusual heaviness that testified to the undigested condition of my food. But I came to the turn in the road when I began to employ Clements Tonic, which is easily the best medicine I have ever had any experience with. Clements Tonic is the thing. It added strength to my enfeebled system with each dose; it invigorated my nerves in a way that astonished me; it brought sleep to my hitherto restless nights; it provided the appetite that enabled me to eat; and, finally, it restored my internal organs to that state of healthfulness which enabled me to digest whatever food I did take. Report these facts for others' good."

IT'S not wise to Buy Land anywhere, be it a suburban Lot, Farm Block, Water Frontage, Seaside, or Mountain Section, without asking us for OUR price and our TERMS for something similar. Our prices are cut right down, until vendors' profits have almost reached vanishing point. Another thing, when we sell you something in Real Estate the money is not required right away. We are content to let you pay a little at a time, and in many cases are almost prepared to let YOU arrange the terms. Just as a test, ask us what we have to sell in YOUR district, and our price and terms for it.

FOR PRIVATE SALE.
HARDIE and GORMAN,
133 Pitt-street, Sydney. (31/544)

A ROSE BAY SECTION,

35s FOOT.

Thirty-five Shillings a foot is the price we ask for a piece of Land which is only five minutes' walk from the Electric tram at Rose Bay; a piece of land which is perfectly level, surrounded by houses of a superior type; a piece of land worth ever so much more money than the 35s a foot asked.

The Allotment is within a stone's throw of Old South Head-road, facing Liverpool-street, gas and water are on the spot, the Title is Torrens, and a building restriction of £200 prevents the erection of anything which is not in keeping with the surroundings.

There are but a few of these Lots, a few only; and our description of one applies to each. We have a plan showing the exact position of them, and if you ask you're welcome to one. You'll need to ask at once, though, for these Rose Bay sections at 35s foot will sell readily.

NEARLY FIVE ACRES AT MITTAGONG FOR £75.

Worth ever so much more money is this block, for it's not the ordinary kind of mountain land. It's something very different, something much better, of far greater value than mountain land usually is.

This section is situated on the corner of two 66ft roads, is only a few minutes' walk from the station, in a particularly well sheltered position, and is Torrens Title. Several very nice Cottage Homes are just about there.

Mittagong in itself is a most popular mountain resort, and certainly one of the best places to buy land in. Values are on the increase, therefore this block of nearly five acres at £75 is worthy of attention.

SPEAKS WELL FOR QUAKER'S HILL.

Messrs. ARTHUR RICKARD and CO., Ltd.

Gentlemen,—I am sending you a few potatoes and cob of maize as grown by myself, which will demonstrate the quality of the soil here better than any advertisement. The potatoes received no attention whatever from the time they were put in until dug up, and during that time it only rained once, which was all the water they got. The maize received no moisture beyond what the potatoes got, they had no manure or fertiliser, and barely got cultivated, as my time was occupied with more pressing work. I think the result speaks well for Quaker's Hill, and given a fair summer I should not hesitate in saying a most bountiful harvest would be the result.—Yours obediently,

R. J. STUART.

This land is suitable for almost anything in the way of winning money from the soil. The blocks are just a nice size for intense cultivation, as they average about 3½ acres each. This is quite large enough, you will admit, to make plenty of money on, and yet so small that each may be worked by the owner without help. This Yarrara Estate Pymble, presents an opportunity also to the man with a hobby, but who is also "something in the city," to get hold of an area of land on the northern highlands just the size, just suited to his requirements, and, withal, but a short journey from the metropolis.

LOWE'S TWO-GUINEA SUITS TO ORDER.

These are just the thing for business wear, and you save money every time you get one, because you practically get two suits for what you would pay for one elsewhere. And—don't forget that Lowe's Two-Guinea Suits are the only ones wholly produced under Merchant Tailoring rules—made by our own staff, on our own premises.

It's only the fact that we have such an enormous output that enables us to give such exceptional value—the very best in Australia.

The materials for our Two-Guinea Suits this Spring surpass anything we have ever had before, and include the New Browns, Greens, Silver Greys, and Purple effects. These are interwoven with some fancy designs of medium and wide stripes, and you may also have the new Zebra Stripes in Grey and Brown effects.

Better make up your mind to have one of these fine suits. Come in to-day and make your choice of patterns. They'll surprise you by their quality.

If you cannot call, write for patterns and a simple self-measurement form.

TORIC LENSES.

What are Toric Lenses?
The most scientific and natural lenses yet introduced. Not only do they give a far greater range of vision than the ordinary flat lenses, but by their shape—corresponding to the natural curve of the eye—they fit more comfortably and closer, without interfering with the lashes. No matter who made them, we can fit YOUR Glasses with Toric Lenses of the same power.

THE COST IS MODERATE.
Remember, the name "Jerdan's"—not "Osborn and Jerdan's" now—but the same premises, and exactly the same staff, as of OLD, under Mr. H. S. Jerdan, Member of the C.T.A.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR AND MOLES.

No matter whether a depilatory is called a "Hair-killer," a "Hair-remover," or any other trade name, you should avoid it just as carefully as you would a razor.

There is only one known method for the permanent removal of superfluous hair, and that is Electrolysis—a system I have been successfully practising for very many years.

By this method the root of the hair is absolutely killed, thus stopping all growth.

Let me take away a few hairs for you free of charge. It will prove that Electrolysis is an honest method, and leaves no scars or other ill-effects. It can be done painlessly, so call in at once, or arrange an appointment by telephoning No. 193. My new booklet tells the truth about depilatories, and will be sent free on application.

SUMMER TAILORING IN GREYS, GREENS, & BROWNS.

Greys, Greens, and Browns are fashionable colours just now for tailoring, and we have them in surprising variety. You would go a long way to find an assortment of fabrics like ours to choose from—if ever you found it. The large number of different patterns we import and their uncommon excellence accounts in a large measure for our success. Cash prices and the excellence of our tailoring do the rest.

HOWES AND HOWES' SUITS, TO ORDER, 63/- TO 90/-.

Yes; they're the usual prices for Suits to order, but unusual Suits if you get them made at Howes and Howes'. Common business sense will tell you that the man who buys his Suit on credit pays more (without getting more) than the man who pays the solid cash. At Howes and Howes' our steadfast and inflexible policy is cash, and it has attracted hard-headed business and professional men, who appreciate how much cash can do for them. Try it, and you won't be long finding out where the benefits are—remember, 63/ to 90/; but better qualities right through than you could possibly buy on the credit plan.

HAIR ON THE FACE.

There is no greater disfigurement incident to a woman's appearance than misplaced hair. Many women hesitate to avail themselves of a remedy for fear of scars or some injurious after-effects which are as bad as the hairs.

There is no PAIN attached to
which is the only SURE REMEDY for Superfluous Hair. No SCARS or holes in the skin result from this treatment, as so often happens from Electrical processes. It is not a costly treatment, and by consulting Miss Phillips either personally or by letter you can ascertain the exact cost for the permanent removal of any number of hairs. If unable to call, send 4d for booklet. All other blemishes, such as moles, warts, wrinkles, open pores, red noses, sallow or red skins, freckles, etc., are successfully treated by Miss Phillips. GREY AND FALLING HAIR, dandruff, etc. speedily remedied. Electric and Vibratory Massage.

MARK FOY'S,
SATURDAY—PAY DAY.
OPEN TILL 10 P.M.

When you were at school you wrote in your copybook—quite often, no doubt—

The period of transition—changing from lingering winter to bright and happy spring—will end on Monday, when every department will have shed the winter chrysalis, and on TUESDAY NEXT

SPRING READY-TO-WEAR HATS, for Harbour and Seaside wear, may be seen to-day in one of Foy's Windows. Be sure and have a look at these to-day. All are very lowly priced.

NEW CORSETS.

This chiefest of underwear necessities—The Corset—is always represented at Foy's in pleasing styles. And now that New Arrivals are announced Foy's Corset Counters will be a great attraction.

THE "FITRIGHT" is introduced to Sydney's discriminating shoppers in Grey Coutille. It has straight front, and carries suspenders. The "Fitright" suits slim figures, and may be had in sizes 19 to 28 .... 3/3

THE "NEWFIT" comes in Grey Coutille, is straight-fronted, and has embroidery trimmings top and bottom, as well as suspenders. Sizes 19 to 23 .... 4/6

THE "CATHERINE" suits small and medium figures. Comes in a good firm White Coutille, long over hips, and with suspenders hips and front. Sizes 19 to 24 .... 9/6

THE "PETRONILLE"—a smart short Corset, in White Broche, low bust, extended hips, side and front suspenders—suits medium figures, 19 to 26 .... 15/11
DO NOT MISS SEEING THESE.

TULLE RUFFLES will be shown to-day at Foy's Lace Counters. They may be had in various styles, trimmed with dainty laces, ribbons, etc., and the colours are happily chosen.

COLOURED CHENILLE VEILINGS may be seen in a broad diversity of colourings, such as Paon, Saxe, Canary, Brown, Cinnamon, Marine, Olive, Grey, Smoke, etc., etc. The assortment offered is excellent.

A SPECIAL SHOWING OF COLOURED SILK LACES can also be seen at the Lace Counters. They consist of Allovers, with insertions to match, in all new Eastern designs—widths from 2 to 42 inches, Guipure, Art Silk, and Fancy Cotton Effects are shown. These will be favoured this season for Lace Coats, Blouses, Full Costumes, and Millinery Purposes.

To save money on Pay Day's Shopping, Ladies, you should visit

A WOMAN'S HANDICAP.

There are certain peculiarities that make for personality, and are the essential elements of charm. These are the oddities that spell distinction and success. There are other oddities that disfigure, that annoy, that irritate and mar, that kill your proper chance of successful life. If you are a woman, a muddy complexion, skin defects, premature wrinkles, ungracious eyes—all these are oddities that combine to kill your opportunities. The thing to do, if success is worth anything to you, is obviously to kill the oddities. That is what Mlle. Rubinstein enables you to do. All over the world she is making sweet women glad. Her Valaze is incomparable, and working with Valaze are other Valaze specifics of proved utility and sovereign excellence. If you would make assurance doubly sure, the Valaze Massage Institute is open to you. The skilled specialists at the Institute cannot alter the shape of your head or the colour of your eyes, but they can remedy all sorts of other disfiguring defects. They can clear and nourish your complexion and make it permanently beautiful; they can remove wrinkles and restore natural harmony of curves. They can put far from you the oddities that kill. Send for Mlle. Rubinstein's new Booklet. It tells the wonderful story of the complexion in all its many interesting ramifications. It is a mine of valuable suggestions, and tells how to treat the complexion, scientifically and hygienically. It will be sent to any address if 3d is sent for enclosure. Ladies should note that appointments can be made at the Valaze Institute any day, at any hour. The Valaze Massage Institute, 158 Pitt-street, Sydney.
